s-z-n-ti-ti-us en id he ed he ger, ited

; a пgvill-lam

:crìırch

гее-car-em-port

re-

n, flor e living 9613 iHED

17 squa dirang. 101207

efvery 27,9% craseffe 120,975 cwspsc sunsof isSeats 127,997 orbogs $19,200 ($29,911 $39,301 $30,301 $3

Ilinois

octors'

As Black Men Rally, Clinton Appeals for an End to Racism

President Praises Goals of the March, But Condemns the Organizer's 'Malice'

By Brian Knowlton nternational Herald Tribune

WASHINGTON - As a huge crowd of black men filled the heart of the capital Monday in an ebullient show of unity, President Bill Clinton went to another part of the country to implore Americans to overcome the aching racial divisions that are "tearing at the heart of America."

"We must clean our house of racism," he said in a major address on race relations before a Texas audience. Urging Americans to talk about racial understanding, he also called on police departments to root out internal racism. And in an apparent reference to the debate over affirmative action programs, he said the nation must "defend and enhance real opportunity" for all.

Noting that race relations have rarely, in recent years, been at so sensitive a point in the United States, Mr. Clinton welcomed the Washington march as an outpouring of "pride and dignity and re-spect" by black men "taking renewed responsibility for themselves, their families and their communities."

But in a clear allusion to the controversial organizer of the march, Louis Farrakhan, leader of the Nation of Islam, Mr. Clinton warned against the influence of those who preach "hatred and division."

The president's deputy chief of staff, Harold Ickes, had said the day before that Mr. Clinton "certainly does not endorse the bigoted, hateful, anti-Semitic, sexist comments of Louis Farrakhan." In his speech Monday at the University mention Mr. Farrakhan by name. But he made a clear call for blacks to turn their backs on the minister's messag

"One million men are right to be standing up for personal responsibility," he said. "But one million men do not make right one man's message of malice and

Elsewhere, Mr. Farrakhan's role in the event - and his recent depiction of Jews, Arabs, Koreans and others as "bloodsuckers" who drew unfair profit from the black community - brought an even more incisive response.

Newt Gingrich, the House speaker, called Mr. Farrakhan an "unrepentant

Colin Powell, the retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and a possible candidate for the presidency, said he would not have joined Mr. Farrakhan on the platform in Washington for fear that his presence would give him a level of credibility I would not like to have seen."

As a start to unifying the nation, Mr. Clinton urged Americans to work for racial understanding. He urged community and political leaders to initiate discussions about racial problems.

The president appeared to use his speech in part to bolster his political case for affirmative action, and to shore up arguments against budget cuts that would mean drastic change in the nation's welfare and social programs. But his comments were given particular

See CLINTON, Page 10

Black youths assembling in Washington on Monday in shirts specially made for the "Million Man March."

Multitude — if Not Million — Throngs Washington for Self-Esteem

WASHINGTON - In a mood of celebration and revival, hundreds of thousands of black men rallied Monday at the U.S. Capitol to affirm their self-respect and protest the conditions besetting much of black America.

in entru

The demonstration, a "Million Man March" called by Louis Farrakhan, the leader of the Nation of Islam movement, was the largest assemblage of black Americans in the capital since the 1963 March reference to Mr. Farrakhan, a fiery orator rally as a "a day of atonement" in which tin Luther King Jr., in one of the most anti-Semitism. remarkable speeches in American history, spoke of his dream of racial harmony. But that march drew blacks and whites;

Monday's was virtually all black. President Bill Clinton, far away in Tex-as, led a wary U.S. establishment in lauding the inspirational goals of the rally while rejecting "one man's message of malice and division" --- an unmistakable on Washington, when the Reverend Mar- accused by critics of race-baiting and black men - women were not invited -

But those who poured into Washington by bus, car and train shrugged off such warnings as they massed shoulder-toshoulder in a festive mood on Washington's vast, sunlit central Mall, cheering and applauding as early speakers urged them to "March on, black men!" and shoused, "God bless the black men!"

Mr. Farrakhan, 62, conceived of the would repudiate the crime, drug addiction and family abuse that have crippled American black communities and dedicate themselves to a self-started economic and spiritual resurgence.

With the Million Man March slogan, he had set out to achieve the biggest public demonstration in Washington history.

Although U.S. Park Police said they would offer no official crowd estimate until later, it was apparent from the sea of humanity stretching from the slopes of Capitol Hill down the long open grassy Mall more than a mile to the Washington Monument that the count would run at least into the several hundreds of thou-

But government officials said 1 million people would take more space, filling the two mile stretch from the foot of the Capitol to the Lincoln Memorial.

In a long day of oratory, speakers var-See MARCH, Page 10

Kohl Renews Demand for Integration Of Europe

Chancellor Says Failure Might Cause the 'Ship Of Europe to Go Adrift'

By Alan Cowell
New York Times Service

KARLSRUHE, Germany - Nothing seems to enthuse Helmut Kohl so much as the thought that, with Germany united under his tutelage, Europe should be bound together according to his vision.

And so, at a time of growing concern among Germans about their future wellbeing in an integrated Europe, the German leader set out his stall again Monday, tell-ing his compatriots and other Europeans in increasingly apocalyptic tones that their economic and monetary integration was a matter of "war and peace in the 21st century" and that, if they did not act now, "the ship of Europe will go adrift."

His remarks — in an otherwise unremarkable address to a congress of his dominant Christian Democrats in this southern city — might have been taken as just more of the same from a figure for whom Europe's future has become the overriding preoccupation and who is seen as the region's driving force for integration.

But its timing, after weeks of orchestrated warnings by other German officials that the pan-European vision may be threatened, reflected two interwoven concerns: that German voters will turn against Europe's integration if it does not guarantee them continued economic strength; and that other European nations will not share Germany's commitment to the fiscal management required to provide that guaran-

The chancellor's concern is driven by various factors. One is that other European nations are not doing enough to meet their own deadline for currency union by 1999 as the basis for a single European currency. Indeed, the very idea of a single currency is challenged by some other Europeans and has caused mounting apprehension among many Germans that the power of their Dentsche mark will be greatly diluted by association with weak pounds or lire or

"The citizens' mistrust could very quickturn against the European idea," Mr. Kohl said in a rare acknowledgment of the domestic political problems confronting his pan-European dream.

The currency union is to be built on a series of key economic performance criteria — debt, inflation and other indicators that few European countries apart from Germany and Luxembourg can currently

In recent weeks, moreover, German officials have begun talking up the idea that those same standards of fiscal management, enshrined in the Maastricht treaty on European integration, must be main-See KOHL, Page 10

Taipei Positive On China Bid to Exchange Visits

TAIPEI - The Taiwan government gave a guarded but positive response Mon-day to a reported offer by President Jiang Zemin of China for an exchange of visits by the presidents of the two countries. Such an exchange would be the first in the 46-year rivalry between the two Chinas, and could do much to ease tension. Mr. Jiang was reported to have broached the idea in an interview in Beijing with a news magazine, U.S. News and World Report. "I welcome Lee Teng-hui to come to Beijing," he was quoted as saying. "If he invites me to Taipei, I am ready to go." Responding in Parliament, Prime Min-ister Lien Chan said he saw "positive sig-nificance" in Mr. Jiang's offer, which treated Mr. Lee as "a counterpart for negotiations" and "one to be respected." Mr. Lee was noncommittal, instructing authorities to handle the matter "in a sober way," his office said.

Newspapers here gave the news banner headlines. "Jiang Wants to Visit Taiwan, Welcomes President Lee to Beijing," said the Liberal Times. The China Times urged the government to weigh its response carefully, "so that we do not miss the opportunity for a policy dialogue.'

Taiwan is the headquarters of the Nationalists who fied China after losing a civil war to the Communists in 1949. China claims Taiwan as its own, while Taiwan views itself as a sovereign state.

The idea of high-level visits has been floated before, but has come to nothing because China would not undertake to treat Mr. Lee as a head of state. Mr. Lien alluded to this when he said the latest apparent overture would be studied to see whether it comes with the same provisos that undercut previous offers of But the tone of detente in Mr. Jiang's remarks is bound to come as a relief to a See RIVALS, Page 10 _

NATO Successors Lining Up While Claes Tries to Save Job Speculation Is Focusing on Lubbers

By Tom Buerkle International Herald Tribune

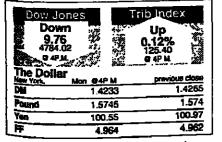

BRUSSELS - As leadership uncertainty at NATO deepened Monday, Willy Claes made a late attempt to retain his job, and speculation on a successor as secretary-general focused on former Prime Minister Rund Lubbers of the Netherlands and Uffe Ellemann-Jensen, a Danish Mr. Lubbers and Mr. Ellemann-Jensen have been strong defenders of the Atlantic alliance, and Mr. Lubbers would be a familiar face in NATO capitals since he served as prime minister for 12 years.

But both would be likely to meet opposition from key alliance members.

A Lubbers candidacy could face the same hurdle that torpedoed his bid for the presidency of the European Commission a year ago — the hostility of Chancellor Helmut Kohl of Germany because of Mr. Lubbers's initial resistance to German unification, sources said.

Other sources questioned whether President Jacques Chirac of France would accept Mr. Ellemann-Jensen after Denmark's vigorous protests against France's resumption of nuclear testing.
Potential outsiders include Hans van den Brock, the European commissioner for foreign affairs, and Thorvald Stoltenberg, the Norwegian diplomat and former Yugoslav mediator, sources said.

he would appear Thursday before a closeddoor session of the Chamber of Represen-liament, to appeal personally to members not to indict him on charges of corruption in a defense scandal. The four parties in the governing coalition announced that their members would tatives, the lower house of Belgium's Par-be free to vote their consciences. The developments left open the possibility that the chamber could vote to continue the investigation into Mr. Claes without sending him to the country's high court for

"Nobody knows," said an official of the Flemish Socialist Party, to which Mr. Claes belonged. "It will be very close."

The uncertainty caused growing concern at NATO because the alliance faces several urgent challenges and remains unsettled by serious disputes between the United States and its European allies about the pace of enlargement into Eastern Europe and policy in the former Yugoslavia.

Underlining those challenges, Mr. Claes and NATO ambassadors met with seven U.S. senators at alliance headquarters Monday to urge congressional support for as many as 25,000 American soldiers in a NATO force to police a peace agreement in the former Yugoslavia.

"It's the worst time to spend weeks in debate about who would be the best secretary-general," said Jonathan Eyal, director of the Royal United Services Institute in London. "Everybody knows that now the credibility of the alliance is at stake."

Most NATO officials predict a quick appointment if Mr. Claes does step down at the end of the week. Officials said that

See NATO, Page 10

AGENDA

Hurricane Sinks Mexican Oil Barge

CAMPECHE, Mexico (Reuters) -The hurricane designated Roxanne sank a Mexican oil barge off the eastern coast, killing at least 3 persons and leaving 23 missing, U.S. and Mexican officials said

More than 220 people were rescued, a spokeswoman for the New Orleans Coast Guard said.

Officials at the state oil company, Petroleos Mexicanos, and the Mexican Navy confirmed that a barge had sunk but had few details.

A spokeswoman for the oil company said that the vessel was owned by a private firm, CCC, and had been serving oil production platforms off Campeche. Television reports said the barge sank while trying to return to port late Sun-

PAGE TWO The Missing Files in Spain

2 Brothers Go to Washington

A New French Party Scandal

INTERNATIONAL Page 6. Serbs Dismiss 4 Generals

Sports Pages 26, 27. Page 7. Crossword Page 27. International Classified

END OF A PARISIAN ERA — Hubert de Givenchy being applauded by his models on Monday at his valedictory fashion show in Paris. Page 16.

Russia's Winter Nearing, Draft Dodging Heats Up

Newsstand Prices Behrain......1.000 Din Malta. Cyprus.......C. £ 1.00 Nigeria....110,00 Neira Denmark....14.00 D.Kr. Oman1,250 Riels Finland...... 12.00 F.M. Qatar 1.000 Rials Gibraltar £ 0.85 Rep. ireland ... IR £ 1.00 SyptE.P. 5000 S. Africa.....R10 + VAT10.00 DirhK. SH. 150 U.S. Mil. (Eur.)$ 1.20

By David Hoffman Washington Past Service

MOSCOW - Braving the cold rain and early darkness, hundreds of mothers gathered under an archway in central Moscow recently, clutching notebooks or pamphlets. A few had lanky teenage boys in tow, agony and anxiety shadowed in their faces.

Alexander Galperin, 17, stood stone-quiet next to his mother, Tatiana.

"Russia doesn't need an army like this!" she said, her voice muffled but emotional. "The war is terrible. Our troops must be pulled out of Chechnya. Russian troops don't belong there. There is no way to go. My son has been ill - he's allergic to everything."

Alexander Galperin nodded and said simply, "I just don't want to go."

The fall draft is underway in Russia and this is a time of fear and loathing. The war in the breakaway southern region of Chechnya has dragged on for nearly a year, conditions in the army have grown even more grave and winter hardships are approaching.

The trickle of young men who once tried to dodge the draft has turned into a steady stream, while thousands more are desperately trying to get medical or student deferments to avoid military service.

The phenomenon of draft evasion is not only a reaction to the unpopular war in the Caucasus. It also mirrors the troubles rippling through Russian society nearly four years after the Soviet Union collapsed: contempt for institutions, absence of any motivating national pride or patriotism, rampant bribery and cheating and, finally, the desperate straits of the Russian armed forces.

Soldiers have not been paid for months. Shortages of food plague remote garrisons. Cruel hazing of younger conscripts is commonplace. Soldiers often sell their weapons. And the army faces a crippling manpower shortage.

The situation is so dire that last week the upper house of Parliament extended the service of current soldiers from 18 to 24 months, stunning short-timers, who now have to serve through the winter. Colonel Vladimir Uvatenko, a spokesman for the Defense Ministry, said that instead of discharging 230,000 men as planned this winter, the army will discharge only 19,000. According to General Alexander Galkin, a member of the army's general staff, military manpower is at 63 percent of the approved level while any unit that falls below 75 percent "is not combat ready." Overall, he said, the strategic forces have 90 percent of their authorized

See ARMY, Page 10

Questions Swirl Around Spain's Scandal

By Barry James

n the scandals swirling around the government of Prime Minister Fe-lipe González of Spain, one man has never been far from the eye of the storm: Mario Conde, the 1980s golden boy who many once thought could become prime minister himself.

Mr. Conde, the former president of Banesto, Spain's largest private bank, which collapsed, was back in the news last week in a case that jurists, politicians and newspaper opinion writers described as bizarre, scandalous and, at the least, puzzling.

A judge, Miguel Moreiras, head of a section dealing with economic crimes, ordered Mr. Conde to prison on Wednesday on a prosecutor's allegation that Mr. Conde had personally profited from a transfer of 600 million pesetas ($4.8 million) from Banesto to a little-known company in the Dutch Antilles.

But a few hours later, Mr. Moreiras released the former banker without charge and without conditions.

The judge's action was widely criticized. Clemente Auger, president of the Audiencia National, or high court, called it a tragedy. José Mara Aznar, head of the opposition Popular Party, said it had brought the judicial system into disre-

Banesto was taken over by the Bank of Spain in December 1993 after 7 billion pesetas was discovered missing on its balance sheet. A year later, Mr. Conde was sent to prison for five weeks while awaiting trial on charges of misappro-priation of funds and forgery. He was released in January on bail of 2 billion

The development last week raised several questions:

• Why did Mr. Moreiras insert himself into an affair that is being investigated by one of his subordinates, Judge Manuel García-Castellón? Why did be decide that Mr. Condeshould be imprisoned when he was al-ready free on a huge bail and facing more serious charges?

• Why did he then turn around and throw out the new allegation against Mr. Conde — the accusation that he was the final beneficiary of the 600-million-peseta transfer - without a public hearing

Finally, Spaniards are asking where the Banesto investigation will go next. Is Mr. Moreiras trying to take it over? Or will it remain in the hands of Mr. García-

A bizarre negotiation earlier this year between one of Mr. Conde's lawyers and the prime minister has further confused the Banesto affair. Mr. González has confirmed that the meeting took place, saying he was concerned that Spain's security peculation among Spanish politicians and the press was that intelligence documents had come into Mr. Conde's possession, and that the negotiation was concerned with their return.

The interior and justice minister, Juan Alberto Belloch, appeared to confirm this hypothesis. He said the negotiation concerned the return of 1,200 files taken from the headquarters of the national intelligence service. But he denied that there had been an attempt to put pressure on the government.

Mr. Conde wants a dignified way out and wants to be indemnified for the shares he lost in the Banesto intervention, the cover story about the former banker. The article suggested that Mr. Conde was using the documents as a bargaining chip. Mr. Conde is under legal restraint not to give interviews while the Banesto invesrigation is continuing.

One person who might know where the documents are is the man who is said to have taken them, Colonel Alberto Perote, the dismissed head of special operations at the intelligence service.

Colonel Perote has acknowledged that he took the microfilms inadvertently, but he says that he returned them. He was sent to prison on Sept. 29, however, for refusing to hand over files that the govemment believes he still has.

Colonel Perote's former boss, General Emilio Alonso Manglano, has said that the documents ended up under the control of Mr. Conde, although Mr. Peroze has denied he gave them to the former banker.

Mr. Conde has no connection with the purported content of the missing files the so-called dirty war against separatist Basque terrorists in the 1980s, in which several innocent victims were killed by inept assassins paid out of a secret govemment slush fund.

KINGLY VISIT — Juan Carlos I greeting Mapuche Indians in Argentina. The tribe is seeking his support for its territorial claims in the south.

Madrid Refuses to Divulge Papers on 'Dirty War'

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatche MADRID — The Defense Ministry refused on Monday to divulge intelligence documents on the activities of antipected Basque separatists in the 1980s.

Judge Baltasar Garzón, who is leading the investigation into the so-called dirty war, had demanded that the government hand over the documents by Monday But the Defense Ministry said in a statement, "This request is inconsistent with the official secrets law."

Mr. Garzón requested the documents after the defense minister, Gustavo Suárez Pertierra, reported to Parliament on the leak of documents from the national intelligence service.

The minister of justice and the interior, Juan Alberto Belloch, said the documents included information on "the funding, technology and front compa-nies used to mount operations within and outside Spain' against the Basque terrorist organization.

The allegations by former police and security officials that the government was involved in setting up the hit squads have seriously damaged the political credibility of Prime Minister Felipe González.

Meanwhile, the newspaper El País said Monday that Basque guerrillas had King Juan Carlos I in their sights for two weeks before the police found their hideout in Palma de Majorca and arrested them in August. Officials have said that the king was never in danger because the would-be assassins had been watched at all times by sharpshooters. (AFP, AP, Reuters)

COMING UP

A Honduran prosecutor's decision has marked an extraordinary departure from the general Latin American rule of military impunity.

Nigerians Despair as Politician Remains in Jail

By Stephen Buckley Washington Post Service

LAGOS — Jemiriye Olufemi, a Lagos mechanic, was disappointed in General Sani Abacha's independence day would be a wrong and poor other political detainees cast ria gained independence from this transition program without speech Oct. 1, in which he pro- precedent for a nation laying the doubt on its stated commitment. Britain 35 years ago, only three releasing Abiola. claimed another transition to groundwork for democracy. democracy for Nigeria, black Africa's most populous nation. stance on Mr. Abiola last week.

been in prison since June 1994, regime would remain in power ident on the first anniversary of annulled elections that he is thought to have won.

General Abacha announced General Abacha stiffened his the return of civilian rule.

Moshood K.O. Abiola has Abacha said that his 2-year-old presidential elections, a central question burns within Nigerians: What about Mr. Abiola?

Abiola because it "would prequickly, said the government's After the vote, southern science Party. "Abacha will empt the judicial process, which refusal to release Mr. Abiola and Nigerians exulted. Since Nigenot get southerners to support

For Nigeria, with about 100 "I can only intervene when million people from more than nounce the release of Abiola, and be did not live up to that he said. "Then I will see if I ethnic issues were central in the > southern Nigerians. Mr. Abiola, whose power base is in the southwest, won majorities in 19 The issue is critical for foreign of Nigeria's 30 states, including in 3 Weeks

> > German

crisis in Nigeria," Mr. Oluferni governments as well. The Unit- his opponent's state in the ed States, leader of an interna- north. International observers means no transition." said Gani tional effort to pressure General called the election the most free Fawehinmi, a Lagos lawyer Abacha to restore democracy and fair in Nigeria's history. Who leads the National Conthat he would not release Mr. Abacha to restore democracy and fair in Nigeria's history.

to create a climate conducive to of its 10 rulers have come from the south. Northerners, mostly from the Hausa-Fulani ethnic group, have held power for 30 expectation," Mr. Olufemi have any powers of intervening – June -12, 1993, election, and tion, General Ibrahim Babangi knows that once -Abiola is resaid. "I was totally disappoint or granting him clemency." they remain so for Mr. Abiola. da, then the military head of leased, Abacha will be gone."

So, two weeks after General The purported victory of Mr. state, canceled its results. Riots Some southerners say that man, in that contest was a sin- and human-rights groups con- ends in October 1998, as turnout of 99.47 percent. when he declared himself pres- until 1998 and guide Nigeria to gular political breakthrough for demned the annulment, and the United States halted aid.

A year later, after declaring himself president, Mr. Abiola was arrested and charged with treason. General Abacha had seized power in November 1993, after overthrowing an interim government that had replaced General Babangida.

The events of 1993 and 1994, coupled with General Abacha's refusal to free Mr. Abiola, have embittered southerners anew.

Mr. Fawehimmi accused General Abacha, a northerner, of using Mr. Abiola to fan regional tensions. "He clearly wants to grip on national politics. create a north-south dichoto-But 11 days after the elec- my," he said, "because he > promised, a civilian regime would be harnstrung by the percent of the total. specter of Mr. Abiola, who many believe should be installed as president upon his eventual release.

"The problem is that in the public's mind there would be two presidents: the new president and Abiola," said Femi Falana, a pro-democracy advocate. "I am not an Abiola supporter, but the fact is that this country cannot move forward until June 12 is resolved. Abiola was elected in a fairly contested election. Abacha was not elected into power by anyone.'

Saddam Gathers 99% Approval In Referendum

BAGHDAD - Saddam Hussein won an overwhelming victory in a referendum on his presidency, and officials said it showed that despite his people's impoverishment under United Nations sanctions, he retains a

Izzat Ibrahim, Mr. Saddam's deputy in the ruling Revolutionary Command Council, "Yes" votes made up 99.89

Foreign observers saw thousands of Iraqis voting "yes" on Sunday, many of them in full view of election officers.

After the announcement of the results, security agents and Mr. Saddam's supporters fired weapons in the air but the victory was no surprise. Supporters said they did not expect the Iraqi government's opponents abroad would take the one-candidate referendum seriously. "We know what the American reaction will be," one official

TRAVEL UPDATE

Paris Denies Report on Asbestos

PARIS - The Paris transport authority RATP denied a report Monday that the capital's Metro underground rail system contained dangerous levels of asbestos.

"You can take the Métro in total security," Jean Stablo, joint managing director of the RATP, told TF1 television. An RATP official said all blue asbestos, the fibers of which are associated with the incurable lung cancer mesothelioma, had already been removed from the Metro system in accordance with European

The daily Infomatin had reported that 500,000 passengers traveling daily on two of the Métro system's lines were exposed to fibers from asbestos plates fixed to guidance rails. Work to replace the plates began two weeks ago, and the RATP plans to have the ased, Abacha will be gone." said Monday that the president job finished by the end of this year. However, Infomutin said Some southerners say that won 99.96 percent of more than dangerous levels of asbestos fibers were being released by the Abiola, a millionaire business- ensued. Foreign governments even if General Abacha's rule 8 million valid votes cast on a work and were thrown into the air again every time a train pulled into a station.

More Flights Are Canceled in Italy

ROME - Air travelers in Italy experienced flight cancellations and lengthy delays Monday as industrial action by air traffic control staff brought fresh chaos.

Poor weather in the north of Italy and maintenance work at Rome's main Fiumicino airport added to the problems on the third consecutive day of nationwide flight disruption. Alitalia said in a statement that it had canceled 97 flights Monday, following the scrapping of more than 40 flights Sunday.

Western tourists concerned about their safety are deserting Kenya's safari parks in growing numbers and are turning instead to post-apartheid South Africa, where prices are lower and horizons are new, a report here said Monday. The weekly magazine East African said 1995 could be "one of the worst" years on record for tourism in Kenya, which depends heavily on tourists for foreign exchange.

A toll bridge connecting Scotland's island of Skye with the mainland opened but was immediately attacked by critics who said that the toll was too high at £5.20 ($8) and that the extra traffic threatened their tranquility.

International Health Insurance with a Scandinavian touch!

on live abroad many things differ from what you are used to at home. Our health insurance, based on the Scandinavian health care model, is a safe choice . state away from home. Fill in the coupon, and we will send you further nation on how our international Health Insurance Card can be of help to you. 24 hours a day, all over the world.

Please send me the prospectus on HEALTH INSURANCE ABRUAD 17.10

RI

Individual Condensed Crash Course in Cologne/Germany Tel. & Fax 0049 2204 55382

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED MARKETPLACE

- Monday International Recruitment
- Tuesday Education Directory
- Wednesday
- Thursday
- Saturday Arts and Antiques

Plus over 300 headings in International Classified Monday through Saturday

For further information, contact Fred Ronan in Paris: Tel: (33-1) 41 43 93 70,

Herald Eribune THE WORLD'S DAILY NEWSPAPER

Ciller Cites Tentative Deal On Center-Left Coalition

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches
ANKARA — Prime Minister Tansu Ciller said Monday that she had reached a tentative agreement to restore a coalition government with former social democratic partners. "We have arrived at a certain agreement in principle on form-ing a coalition," Mrs. Ciller said after a meeting with the on her way to the presidential leader of the Republican Peoplace to meet with Mr.

Party and the social democrats form a new government. To collapsed Sept. 20.

in Parliament on Sunday.

or the country you're visitin

ACCESS NUMBERS COUNTRIES

A rightist minority govern- mate, Mr. Demirel canceled an

However, it was unclear whether the new coalition would be accepted by President

Suleyman Demirel. "We decided to form a coalition to not leave the country without a government," Mrs. Ciller said after meeting with Mr. Baykal.

She made the announcement palace to meet with Mr. ple's Party, Deniz Baykal.

The left-right coalition between Mrs. Ciller's True Path him to designate a someone to deal with the political stalement formed later by Mrs. official visit to Washington that Ciller lost a vote of confidence had been scheduled this week.

ACCESS NUMBERS COUNTRIES

Arts & Antiques

Every Saturday

Contact Kimberly Guerrand-Betrancourt Tel.: (33 1) 41 43 94 76 Fax: (33 1) 41 43 93 70 or your nearest IHT office or representative

THE EASIEST WAY TO GET BACK HOME WITHOUT RUBY SLIPPERS.

COUNTRIES ACCESS NUMBERS COUNTRIES 8-10-155 1-200-5511-10 022-703-014 1-800-877-8000 1-800-623-0877 1-800-877-800 1-800-877-8000 1-800-366-4663 00 0317

999-171 256-4777 950-1366

99.385.017

1166+77

Jongico (hotek

0039-13 0800.0115 001-800-745-1111

172-1877

1-800-877-8000

Sandî Arabia Singapore + Slovek Republic +√

90104-800-ns 05017-1-877 1-800-877-80 DI-800-0677 $095-155-6133 1-275-0233 1800-15 6000-177-177 0042-087-187 00-99-0013

nd you'll reach an English-speaking Sprint Operator, It's that easy,

102-611 U.S.A. United Arab End

ACCESS NUMBERS COUNTRIES

800-131 United Kingdom (81) 0500-29-0677 177-1677

201-000-13-877

1-800-877-8000

To order a free FONCARD CALL COLLECT TO THE U.S.

212-248-0295

on ons of-

es. Sti-

hen grid the tied

the

this ash-

iger, ated iing-is. will-slam

arch

ree-

Arizona Governor Is in Deep Hole

POLITICALNOTES

PHOENIX, Arizona — Despite his name, J. Fife Symington 3d, and his social pedigree as a great-grandson of the millionaire industrialist Henry Clay Frick, the saga of Arizona's governor grows ever more proleterian. In September, after celebrating his 50th birthday in London and Paris, Mr. Symington came home to his desert capital to declare that he was unable to pay more than $24 million in debts.

The legendary optimism and bounce of this Republican politician may falter Oct. 31, the day lawyers for creditors are to grill him in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Phoenix. In applying for personal bankruptcy, Mr. Symington, a former real estate developer, listed only $61,795 in assets that could be used to liquidate debts of $24,788,325.

Filing for bankruptcy is not denting the governor's upper-class lifestyle. Creditors are not expected to be able to attach the roughly 530,000 a year he earns from trusts set up for descendants of Mr. Frick. Contributing to that lifestyle, and equally untouchable, is the wealth of the governor's wife, Ann Olin Pritzlaff Symington, a granddaughter of the founder of a chemical conglomerate now known as Olin Corp. A prenuptial agreement negotiated 20 years ago kept the Symingtons' money separate.

But, while Mr. Symington may absolve himself of all responsibilities for his debts in the court of law, he may not fare so well in the court of public opinion. "Symington can stiff-upper-lip this one all he wants," said Earl de Berge, a veteran Arizona pollster. "Politicians can recover from blun-ders, from stupidity. But the one thing that is extremely difficult to recover from is breach of trust." (NYT).

Buchanan Sticks With Republicans

WASHINGTON - It's a rare instance when Patrick J. Buchanan leaves an audience confused about where he stands, but it happened when the conservative presidential candidate seemed to open the door to running as an independent if he does not win the Republican nomination next year.

Since then, Mr. Buchanan has been trying to set the record straight. "My intent and expectation is I'm going to be endorsing and supporting the Republican nominee in 1996 because I always have," he said in an interview.

Mr. Buchanan said the confusion might have occurred because he talked about seeking the endorsement of Ross Peror's new Independence Party and other splinter parties that exist around the country. But he said he was trying to describe a situation under which he, as the Republican nominee, would seek to bring those voters into his party. (WP)

Perot's New Party Not Yet Stillborn

SACRAMENTO, California - Despite a slow start, Mr. Perot's campaign to organize a party for the election still has a shot at winning a spot on California's ballot.

Perot aides confidently predict victory, and even critics of the Texas billionaire warn against underestimating him in the dash to next week's deadline.

Mr. Perot launched his drive to create a national political party in California because it has both the nation's earliest deadline to qualify for the ballot, Oct. 24, and the toughest requirement — registering 89,007 voters.

By last week, the organization drive had registered just 448 voters for his party, known as the Reform Party in California. But Perot aides say there are thousands of registrations waiting to be processed in election offices throughout the

Ouote / Unquote

Bob Dole on Bob Dole: "It's because people have confidence in Bob Dole. They know I'm not going to take you over the edge. I'm a stabilizing force. I'm not a polarizer. You have to work with people in this business. Yes, with Democrats, yes, with independents and, yes, with Republicans. The American people want us to get things done; get things done." (NYT)

Away From Politics

ent families has risen since 1990 reversing a 20-year trend, according to a Census Bureau report. But the percentage of families headed by a single parent is continuing to rise. In 1994, 30.8 percent of all families had a single parent, compared with 13 percent in 1970, 22 percent in 1980, and 28 percent in 1990. (AP)

 NASA will try for the seventh time, on Thursday at the earliest, to send the space shuttle Columbia on a science mission now tied for the most shuttle launching scrubs. Delay No. 6 was caused by weather Sunday over the Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral, Florida; the rest were equipment-

• A Roman Catholic priest suspended 18 months ago for molesting two boys asked for forgiveness from parishioners in Chicago, who greeted his return as pastor with applause. The Reverend John Calicott, 48, signed a covenant with the congregation, agreeing to be monitored by an adult whenever he is with children.

• A smoldering marijuana cigarette belonging to a mother of four children apparently started an apartment fire that killed the children, the police in Oakland, California, said. Rena Raybon, 35, told police she passed out after a night of drinking wine and smoking marijuana. The Oakland Tribune reported. No charges had been filed.

• An 18-month-old boy survived an 80-foot fall over a cliff and into the Pacific. Grant Taylor-Huff, who was playing with a six-year-old cousin before he crawled over a fence and fell. He was being tossed about by the surf when a couple noticed him and plucked him from the water. He was hospitalized in fair condition in Leucadia, California.

LIVING IN THE US.?

Now printed in New York for same day delivery in key cities.

To subscribe, call 1-800-882 2884 (in New York, call 212-752-3890)

Herald Eribune

THE WORLD'S DAILY NEWSPAPER

For 2 Brothers, Million Man March Echoes King

By David Maraniss Washington Past Service

WASHINGTON -- When the Watkins brothers of Chicago reached the Reflecting Pool and walked toward the Lincoln Memorial, Bobby, the more Islam leader — and his detractors, but emotional of the two middle-aged professional men, turned to his older brother, James, and said he was feeling

Some geese ruffled in the pool and water lapped gently over the edge, but other than those soft sounds the Mall was silent Sunday, the day before the Million Man March — so quiet that Bobby Watkins thought he heard the voice of the Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. from the summer of 1963.

"You know, James, I can hear the sound of his voice," Bobby Watkins said. 'I have a dream.' I can hear it. I can hear the echoes."

He knew parts of Mr. King's "I Have a Dream" speech by heart. He kept a copy of it on a computer disk back home. Now here he was, at age 45 visiting Washington to attend the first mass demonstration of his life, looking up to where Mr. King delivered his

The world around him seemed consumed by the vituperations and denunciations of the march's originator - Louis Farrakhan, the Nation of distant promise of Martin Luther

James Watkins said he felt the same way. He cherished Mr. King's speech, too, and as the elder statesman - one year older than his brother — he felt obliged to point out that he knew more of it than Bobby. His favorite line, he said, was about the children: "That one day ... little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers."

In the debate over what the Million Man March represents, one point often lost amid the racial politics of the event is that a million men are different in a million ordinary ways. James and Bobby Watkins are two of the many.

They came from Mr. Farrakhan's city, but they did not come because of ous experiences with big crowds, and him. For the most part, they said, they these were not good experiences."

want nothing to do with him, especially not with his expressions of hate. "We had to be here," James Watkins

Bobby Watkins, a data processing supervisor for the Chicago public schools, was somewhat fearful about making the trip. When he considered the prospect of a million African-American men in one place at one

You know, James, I can hear the sound of his voice: I have a time, he said, his first thought was that "something might happen." This concern, it turns out, had as much to do with his own personality and history as anything else. On the drive east, as James Watkins, an investigator of child-abuse charges, was steering his 1995 car through Indiana, Bobby told him that he had an intense fear of crowds.

"We got to talking about my previ-things get ugly." He recalled the night that he attended a Sly and the Family Stone concert and there were some nasty flareups in the audience. James brought up another incident, when they went to Grant Park in Chicago to see what was going on during the 1968 Democratic National Convention and watched Mayor Richard J. Daley's policemen introduce nightsticks to the skulls of young demonstrators. The Watkins brothers had plenty of time to talk during their drive east, 14 hours of nonstop conversation. Mr. Farrakhan came up only fleetingly, they said. He was a presence in Chicago, but not in their lives.

James said he would "pick and choose" carefully from the Farrakhan message. "Some of the ideas, the hate stuff, that is not me," he said. "Life is too short for that kind of stuff. But the se17-responsibility message is me." res, said Bobby, but self-responsibility is not just a message from Mr. Farrakhan for black men - "that applies to everybody.

All during their trip to Washington, they encountered the contradictions of race in America. At rest stops, they the O. J. Simpson verdict in disparaging terms. The animosity apparent in those comments made them think that something deeper must be involved than one murder case.

"Would white Americans be so angry if the verdict was guilty?" James

When they reached their motel in Washington on Saturday night, they got on an elevator with four other black men who were in town for the march and two white businessmen. Bobby sensed that the two white men "seemed intimidated" during the elevator ride. "That depressed me." he said. "Maybe I understood it a little bit, but that should not happen."

And when they arrived on the Mall on Sunday and walked toward the Lin-coln Memorial, as Bobby was overcome by the echoes of Martin Luther King's voice, James reflected on how things would be if Mr. King were still alive.

"Would there be a Million Man March?" James Watkins asked.
"Would King be leading the march instead of Farrakhan? I sure would

Latin Leaders Drop Plan to Aid Cuba

Plea to U.S. on Trade Dies

BARILOCHE, Argentina -Leaders from Spain, Portugal and Latin America have abandoned plans to press the United States to lift its trade embargo on Cuba, the foreign ministers of Chile and Argentina said. Despite several assurances that an explicit call would be issued at the end of the 21nation Iberian-American meeting in this Patagonian ski resort, the leaders are expected only to issue a call for an end to all moves hampering interna-tional trade, which is what they did last year.

"The declaration has been written in generic terms, and we have accepted it in generic terms," said Foreign Minister José Miguel Insulza of Chile.

Diplomatic sources said Cuba had asked for the watered-down wording in the final statement, fearing that any clear-cut demand for an end to the embargo would simply be met with strident calls for democratization in the Communist island.

President Fidel Castro said in Bariloche on Sunday that he was "deeply satisfied" with attempts to issue a call for a lifting of the embargo.

Earlier, in Uruguay, where he paid an official visit on his way to Bariloche, Mr. Castro said he would continue to open up the Cuban economy in a effort to attract foreign capital.

But he also harshly criticized the U.S. Congress's attempts to match President Bill Clinton's easing of some restrictions in the 34-year-old embargo with proposals to penalize overseas companies that trade with Ha-

Both Cuba and the European Union reacted angrily at the Congress's move, which comes at a time when Europe is trying to reconcile with Havana.

Prime Minister Felipe González of Spain, who currently chairs the Union, is attending the Bariloche meeting.
On Saturday night, the Argentine foreign minister, Guido Di Tella, said at a news conference that the group was seeking a consensus to call on Washington to put an end to the cripoling trade ban. When first announcing the consensus-seeking moves, Mr. Di Tella said Argentina expected Mr. Castro to match progress toward a more open economic system with moves toward democratic rule.

He said it was "crystal clear"

SHOW OF SUPPORT — Vice President Al Gore demonstrating U.S. backing for President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, second from left, by visiting Haiti to mark the first anniversary of his return to power, aided by U.S. troops.

Supreme Court Refuses to Hear Appeal by Abortion Pickets

ed the appeal of 16 people ar-rested in San Jose, California, rejected an appeal that said for picketing within 300 feet of an abortion doctor's home.

The court, without comment, rejected arguments that the city ordinance that was used to prosecute the anti-abortion pickets unlawfully violated their free-speech rights.

The court took these other

WASHINGTON - The Su- tinue banning the sale of alcopreme Court on Monday reject- holic beverages on Christmas. rejected an appeal that said Clay County's ban violated the businesses that sell alcoholic Florida, ordinance allowing the 'ty required notice of plant clos beverages, by the bottle, can or glass, challenged the county ordinance just before Christmas city to regulate the appearance ings or mass layoffs.

• It agreed to use to decide whether the appearance ings or mass layoffs.

• It agreed to use an Illinois case to decide whether doctors' • It agreed to decide whether privilege against testifying labor unions, on behalf of their about patients in court can be constitutionally required separation of church and state. Ten challenge to a Coral Gables, members, may sue those commembers, may sue those commembe

TO OUR READERS HOLLAND

You can receive the IHT hand-delivered to your home or office every morning. Just call us toll-free at 06 022 5158

Take a piece of Europe when you leave - a brand-new Volvo with a US specification and with a substantial saving. We will help you to complete the necessary paperwork. We will ship your car at no extra cost direct from our factory to one of our nine ports in North America.

Back home your car will be covered by our Support Programs, such as Volvo's new-car warranty, that provides comprehensive coverage for 4 years or 50,000 miles, including the Road Assistance Program, On Call. Please contact your nearest Volvo dealer or Volvo Tourist & Diplomat Sales. Tel. +46 31 59 59 59 or Fax. +46 31 59 53 50. e-mail: vci.mail@memo.volvo.se

> VOLVO Tourist & Diplomat Sales

You'll fit into our seat as easily as this headline fits into this space.

CLUB EUROPE

BRITISH AIRWAYS

Jelvery $20,59% cosselse $20,775 everpec sucroof dicSents $36,428 $27,997 barbogs $ 19,206 $ 229,911 $ 37,48 $ 229,911 $ 37,722 $ 27,722

. Short .m. flort le living i 9613 SHED

The world's favourite airline

Tokyo to Ask U.S. If CIA Is Spying

Officials Say They Suspect Eavesdropping Over Trade

By Mary Jordan and Sandra Sugawara
Washington Past Service

TOKYO - Japanese officials said Monday that they would ask the U.S. government for an investigation of reported spying by the CIA during trade talks and that they do not exchange vital information over the telephone because they have long believed that spies cavesdrop on their conversations.

Following reports that the Central Intelligence Agency had tapped private conversa-tions of Japanese officials involved in recent auto negotiations, officials appeared surprisingly unconcerned.

The spokesman for the government, Koken Nosaka, said Japan would formally ask if such spying does in fact take that ended in June.

stakes talks, the United States tried to get Japan to agree to economic espionage.

"This kind of rumor was American auto parts.

In the end, Japanese companies agreed to a "voluntary plan" to buy more U.S. parts for North American operations and to increase imports of for-and parts trade accord," said changed, prompting jokes that Mr. Nosaka, explaining why it was felt that any spying that might have occurred had not hurt.

ed Sunday that during the talks, "Maybe for us, it was better the U.S. trade representative, that they listened," said a top Mickey Kantor, got a daily CIA official. "Then they knew we between top government, Nis- a top official.

san and Toyota officials. In July, the Los Angeles ficial with the Ministry of For-Times reported that Mr. Kantor eign Affairs, said, "My reaction had been pleased with the is, why are they making such a CIA's ability to provide accu- fuss over it." He said that for ordered the CIA to make economic espionage a top priority. The official response was muted. The Japanese deputy minister for foreign affairs, Sadayuki Hayashi, said, "We think the CIA is not wiretapping. But because of this, we would like to confirm it."

A deputy chief cabinet secre-tary called the report a matter of "grave concern," and the for-eign minister, Yohei Kono, was quoted as saying Tokyo should lodge a formal protest against Washington Officials said they were particularly concerned about knowing if the wiretaps had occurred in Japan, where such activities are strictly regulated.

But privately, bureaucrats and politicians almost chuckled about the matter. Prime Minister Tomiichi Murayama said place, but he added that, even if that even if there were Amerit did, Japan still got what it can spies at the auto talks, Jawanted out of the auto talks pan got what it wanted. The reaction is in contrast to the During these strained, high-akes talks, the United States expel CIA agents accused of floating around for a long time," Yoshibiro Sakamoto, the chief trade negotiator for the international trade and industry minister, Ryutaro Hashimoto, said in an interview. During the auto talks in Ge-Our insistence on scrapping neva, ministry officials noticed numerical targets was suffithat the tone of a telephone in

The New York Times report-hand," said another top official. briefing on private discussions were firm in our position," said

Yukio Okamoto, a former ofrate reports on the bargaining position of rivals in the talks. It has also been widely reported devices are generally used.

Mr. Wang holding up a new Hong Kong passport, which will be issued on July 1, 1997.

The '97 Hong Kong Passport Only Permanent Chinese Residents Eligible

BELJING — China unveiled a new, dark blue passport on Monday that will be issued to permanent Chinese residents of Hong Kong after the territory returns to Chinese rule in 1997.

The emblem of the Communist state is stamped in gold on the front, along with English and Chinese for "Hong Kong, Special Administrative Region, People's Republic of

The passport was devised over the last two years under the terms of the Basic Law, the constitution China has drawn up for post-1997 Hong Kong, said Wang Fengchao, deputy director of the Hong Kong-Macao Affairs Office under the governing State Council.

China expects to issue 5.5 million Hong Kong passports. Longtime residents of Hong Kong who are not Chinese will not be able to apply for them, Mr. Wang said at a news conference.

He apparently was referring to some 7,000 members of ethnic principles who will hold.

members of ethnic minorities who will hold British passports that serve as travel documents but do not grant right of abode in China will go through diplomatic channels to try to persuade governments of countries with close ties to Hong Kong to exempt Hong Kong residents from visa requirements, Mr.

China has visa exemptions from 40 countries, but only for diplomatic and service passports and not for private ones, he said.

The government hopes Britain will agree to visa exemptions because such a move would increase the confidence of other countries in the Hong Kong passport, Mr. Wang said.

China and Britain cooperated in designing the new passport. Chinese officials asked for advice from their British counterparts and used some of their suggestions, he said.

The central government will authorize the Hong Kong government's immigration authorities to issue the passports beginning July 1, 1997, the day Hong Kong reverts to Chinese control.

To prevent forgeries, the passport will be printed with advanced technology, including secret codes and watermarks, and the bearer's picture will be sealed under plastic to prevent removal and substitution.

In a nod to the concept of "one country, two systems" that is to assure Hong Kong a capitalist future and autonomy after 1997, the passport will have a few distinctive Hong Kong characteristics.

It will be bilingual, in English and Chinese, and use the older, more complex version of Chinese characters commonly used in Hong Kong, Simplified versions of Chinese characters are commonly used on the mainland.

BRIEFLY ASIA

Indian Film Star Freed on Bail

NEW DELHI - Sanjay Dutt, an Indian film star jailed for two years in connection with a series of explosions in Bombay in 1993 that killed 317 people, was ordered released on bail Monday. He was to be released on a bond of $00,000 rupees ($16,000).

Mr. Dutt is among 192 suspects linked to 13 bombings in Bombay's office buildings and luxury hotels in March 1993. Some 45 of the accused remain fugitives.

Mr. Dutt, a superstar in the huge Hindi film industry, was detained when the police raided his home and found three assault rifles, grenades and ammunition allegedly supplied by those who planned the bombings. Mr. Dutt was accused of conspiracy and illegal possession of weapons. He has denied conspiracy and illegal possession of weapons. He has denied any connection with the bomb plot, and said he had the weapons because his family had been threatened. (AP)

Sanjay Dutt, left, was ordered freed Monday from prison. He is shown with his father, Sunil, in March.

Korean Lawmaker Held in Bribery

SEOUL - In a move expected to chill the government's relations with the largest opposition group, prosecutors ar-rested a legislator Monday on charges of extortion and

The arrest of Park Eun Tae of the main opposition National Congress for New Politics came hours after the governing Democratic Liberal Party, amid bitter protests, pushed through a bill in the National Assembly supporting the arrest.

Hanoi Won't Prosecute Buddhist

HANOI - The authorities have decided against prosecuting Thich Huyen Quang, 77, head of a dissident branch of the country's Buddhist church, an official said Monday.

He had been officially accused of involvement in an affair in which six members of his organization, the Unified Buddhist Church of Vietnam, were jailed in August in Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, for up to five years for "sabotag-ing the policy of national solidarity." (AFP)

150 Arrested in Timor Rioting

DILI, Indonesia - The police have arrested at least 150 young people in a crackdown following four days of rioting over demands for independence for East Timor, officials said

"We have arrested them because we don't want them to create disorder and disturb the 150,000 people in the city." Colonel Andreas Sugianto, police chief of East Timor, said of the crackdown in Dili, the region's capital. (AP)

Bomb Kills 3 in South Philippines

COTABATO, Philippines - A bomb hidden in a desk drawer killed three people Monday and seriously wounded seven more, including the deputy mayor of Kabacan, a southern Philippines town.

The bomb exploded as Deputy Mayor Karutin Macalipat opened his desk drawer, tearing off his right arm, said Mayor Tomas Baga. The police in Kubacan, 930 kilometers (575 miles) southeast of Manila, made no arrests, and offered no

VOICES From Asia

Bing-Cheung Lo, vice president of Coca-Cola Holdings in Hong Kong, as the company announced it had restructured its marketing operation for Hong Kong, China, Taiwan and Macau: "Four years ago the Hong Kong market was very very different from China's. But now, the differences are less very location that then the circularities." important than the similarities."

Tomichi Murayama, prime minister of Japan, on the feud over U.S. military bases on Okinawa: "I want to resolve this issue before the U.S.-Japan summit in November. That is my Pra Kru Udom Pawana-Pirat, a Buddhist abbot in Thailand who chained an elephant to a tree for almost 20 years so that worshipers would buy food for it in his shop: "I have raised him for over 19 years. I never torture him.

Chinese Issuing Macao Currency

Violence

Marks Start

Of Strike in Bangladesh

DHAKA, Bangladesh — Rival political activists fought with guns and bombs in Bangladesh at the start of a nationwide anti-government strike ex-

At least one person was killed and more than 100 injured, the police said.

The strike is part of an 18-month campaign by opposition parties who say the government of Prime Minister Khalida Zia is corrupt. They want new elections and a neutral interim government to oversee them.

Begum Zia has said the strikes are illegal and that she will stay in office until her term

In Brahmanbaria, 80 kilometers (50 miles) northeast of Dhaka, assailants shot and killed a local leader of the oppo-

The police said several of the injuries occurred in Dhaka as

About 5,000 policemen and paramilitary troops fanned out Monday across Dhaka when thousands of activists of the Bangladesh Awami League, the largest opposition party, and its resign?" the protesters chanted

Government offices opened, but many workers arrived late for lack of transportation. At least one-third of Dhaka's 8 million residents left town during the strike, news reports said.

continuous stoppage since Begum Zia took power after the 1991 elections, which were billed as Bangladesh's first free vote to restore democracy after years of military rule.

"But Khaleda is making a mockery of the democracy," declared an opposition leader, Hasina Wazed. She said the prime minister had "set a new record of corruption" and that no election under her would be Almost all opposition legislators resigned in December after a long boycott of Parliament.

They asked the government to dissolve the 330-member assembly because they considered it had lost legitimacy following the mass resignations. Begum Zia has refused to dissolve Parliament and has turned aside other opposition demands.

free and fair.

The strike will be the longest

"When are you are going to the first waves of demonstrations hit the capital.

allies, began the strike.

to Begum Zia.

expires next year.

pected to last four days.

MACAO - The Bank of ward reversion of this Portu-guese colony to Chinese rule in

Under an agreement between Beijing and Lisbon, the bank is issuing banknotes worth up $300 million, half the currency in Macao, More than 1,000 people lined up at bank counters to get the new denominations of 10, 50, 100, 500 and 1,000 pata-praising the fairness of the Gulf nation's justice system. An Emirates court sentenced Almas Mohammed al Baloushi, whom she stabbed 34 times. It rejected her claim that she tried to defend her honor Mr. Baloushi's family said

Sheikh Zayed intervened to persuade the family to forgive and accept $41,000 in "blood tence on the young Muslim Fili-pino, Sarah Balabagan," Mr. Ramos said in a statement.

For Kabul's 750,000 people, the offensive raises the prospect of a return to the 15 months of judicial system of the United eas of the city to rubble.

Arab Emirates under the guid President Burhanuddin Rab-

tions" between the two coun-capture of the western city of said he was donating 10,000 pe-sos ($400) to a fund to pay the with a traditional interest in Af-"blood money" due the Balou- ghanistan: India, Iran and Rus-

Taleban Pushes Government Troops to Capital's Edge Western intelligence officials munist government left behind in Kabul after the 10-year Sovi-helping to arm and finance the et occupation collapsed in April NEW DELHI - Seven months after they were routed by government troops in their bid to take the capital of Af-Herat.

ital, Kabul. of a return to the 15 months of

By John F. Burns New York Times Service

ance and inspiration of His bani's Islamic government, con-Highness, Sheikh Zayed ibn sidered moderate by the stan-dards of Afghanistan's warring dards of Afghanistan's warring Islamic groups, has counterat-Kabul at all costs.

Herat in early September, has The chairman of the House set off a diplomatic confronta-of Representatives foreign af-fairs committee, Jaime Lopez, believed to be backing the Tale-

Afghan government and that 1992. Iran, disturbed by the rebels' control of areas of western Afghanistan on its borders, has stepped up its hostility toward the Taleban since the capture of

Islamist Rebels Press Kabul

As the Taleban advanced on Kabul last week, Indian offi-cials suggested that the three countries develop a strategy to prevent the Taleban's sweeping to power in Kabul and estab-lishing an Islamic fundamentalist state.

The elements who are at tacking Kabul have been raised. trained, armed and led by Pakistani intelligence agencies," India's Foreign Ministry said in a statement issued in New Delhi

Pakistan has denied being the power behind the Taleban and ridiculed accusations by India and Iran that Pakistani military officers have been involved in the offensives at Herat and Kabul, to the extent of flying fighter-bombers and commanding

Since they appeared on the scene suddenly a year ago, the Taleban rebels have been the wildcard in the Afghan turmoil that developed after the Com-

Previously unknown among the country's fractions Islamic groups, the Taleban is led by Muslim clerics who emerged from religious schools that sprung up on both sides of the Afghan-Pakistan border during the Soviet occupation.

to our READERS BELGIUM

It's never been easier to subscribe and save. Just call toll-free: 0 800 1 7538 where business is going.

how it's getting there.

Emerging Economies 23:15 CET

On EBN: European Business News, the 24 hour European business channel, you'll see countries that are taking off (Emerging Economies), and companies that are going places You'll learn who moves money

So an executive travel show like Directions is avite in keeping.

In fact, if it's about how business affects your life or how life affects your business, you'll find it on EBN. Ask your cable operator or hotel for EBN or tune into 11.265 MHz on Hotbird at 13º East and fasten

Directions

20:30 CET

Business as you've never seen it before.

On cable and satellite television

Ramos Hails Sparing of Maid's Life

MANILA - President Fidel V. Ramos hailed the United Arab Emirates on Monday for sparing the life of the Filipina maid Sarah Balabagan, and Congress launched a fund drive to pay the "blood money" she owes the family of the man she

This fractious southeast Asian country, which closed ranks around Miss Balabagan China began issuing Macao while squabbling about almost currency Monday in a step toeverything else, gave a huge sigh of relief on news that the maid would be saved from execution. Manila newspapers screamed with the headlines "Sarah Lives," "Death Sentence on Sarah Revoked" and "UAE Chief Saved Sarah." Members of Congress also began drawing up a resolution hailing the United Arab Emir-ates president, Sheikh Zayed ibn Sultan an Nahayan, and Miss Balabagan to death last month for killing her employer, last weekend that they were dropping their demand that she should die.

money."

ghanistan, fighters for the Is"The government and the lamic fundamentalist force people of the Republic of the known as the Taleban have Philippines express their appreciation and gratitude" to the ing all their lost ground and family of Mr. Baloushi, "for pushing government fighters dropping the demand for the back to the outskirts of the capimposition of the death sen-

"The Philippine government siege warfare beginning in Jan-reiterates its confidence in the uary 1994 that reduced wide ar-Arab Emirates under the guid-

Mr. Ramos said his government "looks forward to a satis- tacked and vowed to hang onto factory final resolution" of the case, "taking into account the The surging fortunes of the friendly and fraternal rela-rebels, beginning with their

nin 1il-

QΠ

ar-in ere ons of-

niz-

ım-

es. :sti-ore-ials

hen grid the sied the uch chi-grid

and well

OLD

't go

ister

PARIS - Finance Minister Jean Arthuis has been implicated in an investigation into a politi-cal financing scandal, the daily Le Monde reported Monday.

Mr. Arthuis vehemently denied the report, which said two former cabinet ministers also had been implicated in France's latest corruption

The newspaper said Mr. Arthuis had been implicated by François Froment-Meurice, the former deputy secretary-general of the Social Democrats, as having knowledge of an illegal party-financing operation. Mr. Froment-Meurice was placed under for-mal investigation June 23 on charges of misuse of public funds, fraud, forgery and the used of forged documents. He said he gave Mr. Arthuis the name of the Geneva banker who managed the party's illegal financing many years ago.

Mr. Arthuis, who is vice president of the party, denied having any such knowledge.

2 Austrians

Are Injured

By Bombs

In the Mail

VIENNA - Two letter

bombs apparently timed to coincide with a neo-Nazi trial injured two persons on Monday, iolting Austria at the outset of campaigning for a snap election that could see the rise of the far

The police said that a doctor.

identified by the Austria Press

Agency as Mahmoud Abou-

Roumie, 47, seriously injured his right hand when he opened one of the letter bombs Monday morning in his office in the community of Stronsdorf. Dr.

Abou-Roumie, who was born in Svria, has lived in Austria since 1979 and has Austrian citizen-to aid refugees. Maria Loley,

71, was wounded in both hands and in the face by a letter bomb

Both victims were hospital-

Austria has been plagued by periodic letter-bomb cam-laigns for almost two years. In December 1993, Helmut Zilk,

then mayor of Vienna, lost part of his left hand to a letter bomb.

and three others persons were also injured.

in the town of Poysdorf.

The leader of an organization ship, the press agency said.

"I do not know Mr. Froment-Meurice's Swiss banker," he told Le Monde, "and I am profoundly shocked to learn that my name has been mentioned in a case of which I am totally

The investigation into the financing of the party began last March after the discovery of a secret Swiss bank account set up to finance the

Le Monde said the investigation had also implicated former Justice Minister Pierre Méhaignerie and former Transportation Minister Bernard Bosson.

Le Monde said that the chief investigator, who seized the party's financial records last September, had proof that the system Mr. Froment-Meurice set up in 1986 remained in operation after Parliament approved a law governing party financing in January 1990.

Le Monde said that if illegal financing continued after the law took effect, party officials would not be covered by an amnesty passed by emergency 24-hour interest rate, from 7.25 per-Parliament. emergency 24-hour interest rate, from 7.25 per-cent to 7 percent. The central bank raised the Parliament.

The news that Mr. Arthuis could be investigated came just days after prosecutors dropped a separate investigation into a housing scandal involving Prime Minister Alain Juppé. Through the Union for French Democracy, the Social Democrats are part of the ruling coalition.

■ Franc Weakens on Report

The report linking Mr. Arthuis to the scandal caused the franc to weaken Monday against the mard said the government was prepared to go by Deutsche mark, which rose to 3.4898 francs from year-end beyond the already announced freezing Deutsche mark, which rose to 3.4898 francs from 3.4788 francs on Friday, Alan Friedman of the International Herald Tribune reported from Analysts also attributed the franc's weakness to the lowering by the Bank of France of its single European currency in 1999.

fer of illegal party funds after the political financing law had been approved in 1990.

The name that it is a proved in 1990.

Meanwhile, the secretary of state for finance, Herve Gaymard, pledged Monday that Paris would meet its 1995 budget delicit target of 322 billion francs ($64.9 billion) despite a shortfall in tax revenue forecast at between 30 billion and 40

Speaking at a conference organized by the International Herald Tribune and the French Institute for International Relations, Mr. Gayof around 10 billion francs of public spending.

Sir Leon Brittan, a European Commission vice president, told the conference that he was certain France would be "a founding member" of a

Berlusconi Declares He'll Run Again

ROME - The Italian media magnate Silvio Berlusconi, raising the stakes in a fight for political survival, was quoted again despite being indicted on corruption charges.

Brushing aside doubts about his future expressed by members of his center-right Free-dom Alliance, Mr. Berlusconi said any allies who were unhappy could go their own way.

"I am the leader of the alliance," Mr. Berlusconi said Sunday as he watched his soccer team, AC Milan, beat Juventus. "I am the candidate for prime

"I shall tell my allies, 'Gentlemen, that's the way things are.' And if they don't like it, they can do what they please."

Mr. Berlusconi, who resigned as prime minister last December, was ordered Saturday to stand trial in January on charges of complicity in the payment of alleged bribes to the tax police by four companies in his Fininvest business empire.

The indictment set off a new round in a bitter institutional clash between conservative politicians and graft-busting magistrates whose inquiries toppled Italy's old governing class.

WINDS WILL BLOW IT AV

That war moves to Parliament on Wednesday when center-left parties in the Senate are due to present a no-confidence motion in Justice Minister Fion Monday as saying he would lippo Mancuso, whom they ac-seek the office of prime minister cuse of trying to throttle the anti-corruption drive.

The vote could put Prime Minister Lamberto Dini's government at risk. Mr. Mancuso has refused to resign and can-not be forced to, posing a con-stitutional dilerana.

Mr. Dini, whose support comes from the center-left, has been eager to avoid the Mancuso issue in order to protect his government and the passage of the 1996 budget. But he appeared Monday to have given up attempts to have the debate postponed.

A Senate statement said that meeting later Monday between Mr. Dini and party leaders to discuss the matter had been canceled because the government was ready for the debate Wednesday.

Mr. Berlusconi has been a strong supporter of Mr. Mancuso, a former magistrate who ordered several Justice Ministry inspections into the work of anti-corruption magistrates in Milan and anti-Mafia investigators in Sicily.

TIDES WILL WASH IT

OUT TO SEA...

NATO Is Urged to Reassure Russia

VILNIUS, Lithuania - NATO must work harder to assure Moscow that its eastward enlargement plans pose no threat to Russia, a senior alliance official said Monday.

"We should strive to overcome the antagonistic feelings which remain." Gebardt von Moltke, deputy secretary for political issues, said during a one-day visit to Lithuania. "The alliance is in the first place a defensive organization and does not threaten anyone."

Russia has strongly opposed NATO plans to admit new members from Eastern Europe.

Racists Set Fire to Dutch Complex

AMSTERDAM — Firebombers daubed racist graffiti on an Amsterdam apartment building before setting it ablaze with a gasoline bomb, the police said Monday.

Anti-Turkish and Moroccan slogans were written across the walls before the firebombing, which took fire fighters two hours to control. No one was hurt,

Gas Can Sets Off Paris Bomb Alert

PARIS -A man sparked a bomb alert Monday by leaving an empty gas canister outside a foreign embassy here, apparently simply to get rid of it, the police said,

The man was detained and bomb disposal squad officers called in after he was spotted walking away from the Mexican Embassy, having left the canister on a window ledge. (AFP)

Kohl Calls for Aiding Environment

KARLSRUHE, Germany — Chancellor Helmut Kohl expressed deep concern Monday over degradation of the global environment and said he and presidents Nelson Mandela of South Africa and Fernando Henrique Cardoso of Brazil were launching a worldwide initiative.

"Know-how must be put at the service of environmental protection everywhere in the world," Mr. Kohl told a conference of his Christian Democratic Union. Developing countries in particular must be helped to combat poverty in an environmentally friendly manner, he added.

Leftist Terrorist Freed in Germany

HAMBURG - German authorities released a former Red Army Faction urban guerrilla, Knut Folkerts, from prison Monday after he had served more than 18 years of a life sentence for the murder of a federal prosecutor.

Mr. Folkerts, 43, had been convicted in the 1977 shooting of Siegfried Buback and two people riding with the prosecutor in his car, as well as for being in a banned group. (Reuters)

European Union events scheduled for Tuesday:

BRUSSELS: The commissioner for economic and monetary union, Thibault de Silguy, addresses the European Parliament's development committee.

BRUSSELS: The commissioner for fishing, Emma Bonino, meets with the minister of state for agriculture in Scotland, Tony Baldry.

NICOSIA: The commissioner for internal market, finance and tax, Mario Monti, meets with Finance Minister Christo-doulos Christodoulou of Cyprus. Sources: Agence Europe, AFP.

Helmut Zik adjusting the glove over his injured hand before testifying in Vienna.

Binder and Alexander Radl, went on trial on Sept. 11 on charges of involvement in that bombing campaign. The trial is continuing. Mr. Zilk and the head of Austria's Greens party, Madeleine

Two 28-year-old men, Peter day that they had received wing violence that has contin-

Binder, an electrician, built the the 1993 attacks.

threats in anonymous phone ued since the two were arrested calls that more letter bombs is proof that their clients were would be sent if they testified. not responsible. Two more se-Prosecutors charge that Mr. ries of letter bombs followed 1993 letter bombs and that Mr. Mr. Schüssel, leader of the Radi, a student, encouraged People's Party, called for an Petrovic, the target of a 1993 him. They charge that the two election last week after the colletter bomb that was intercept- men participated in Austria's lapse of budget talks with his ed, were to testify this week in most active neo-Nazi group, coalition partners, the Social the trial. Both reported Mon-Their lawyers say that right- Democrats. (Reuters, AP) (Reuters, AP)

OBSERVING THE BREATHTAKING BEAUTY

OF THE BRIDGE ACROSS SAN FRANCISCO

HARBOUR TODAY, IT'S HARD TO IMAGINE THE

FEAR AND LOATHING CAUSED BY PROPOSALS

FOR ITS CONSTRUCTION.

THE SIMPLE REASON WAS THAT, BECAUSE

NOTHING QUITE LIKE IT HAD EVER BEEN

ATTEMPTED BEFORE, IT WAS FAR BEYOND

PEOPLE'S IMAGINATION.

PROPOSALS IN THE LATE 608 FOR

AN AERONAUTICAL VENTURE SPANNING

A SIMILAR REACTION, YET, ONLY 25 YEARS

GERMANY, FRANCE, THE UK AND SPAIN MET

LATER, IT'S NOW POSSIBLE TO STAND BACK

AND MARVEL AT THE EXCEPTIONAL PROGRESS

AND ACHIEVEMENTS OF AIRBUS INDUSTRIE. THE COMPANY WHICH STARTED FROM

NOTHING NOW SUPPLIES 80% OF THE WORLD'S LEADING AIRLINES WITH A FAMILY OF STATE-OF-THE-ART CIVIL AIRLINERS. THIS

WHICH GOES TO PROVE WHAT EXTRAORDINARY THUNGS CAN BE ACHIEVED WHEN

THE FOUR EUROPEAN PARTNERS HAS BECOME A MODEL FOR ALL SIMILAR VENTURES.

INCLUDES THE FOUR-ENGINED A340 WITH THE LONGEST RANGE OF ANY PASSENGER AIRCRAFT.

MOST SIGNIFICANT OF ALL, THE UNPRECEDENTED COMMERCIAL CO-OPERATION BETWEEN

YOU BUILD BRIDGES THAT STAND THE TEST OF TIME.

AIRBUS INDUSTRIE

arch

January S20,975 awspac S20,975 awspac S20,975 descend S20,977 descend S20,977 descend S20,977 descend S20,978 descend S20,978

INTERNATIONAL

Serbs Dismiss 4 Generals

Move Follows Losses to Croatian-Muslim Force leaders dismissed four generals Monday, hoping to deflect mer patron.

General G government and Croatian

Tolimir were forces in northwestern Bosnia.

United Nations officials said a countrywide truce, which began Thursday, was mostly holding throughout Bosnia, including in the northwest where fighting continued through the weekend as Muslim-led government and allied Croatian troops pursued an offensive against rebel Serbs.

In neighboring Croatia, meanwhile, U.S. and UN diplomats were to meet with leaders of rebel Serbs there in an effort to defuse tensions as Croatian Army troops and tanks were reported moving toward the last Serbian-held swath of land in eastern Croatia.

Bosnian Serbian political and military leaders met Monday for a third day, struggling to resolve deep divisions in their ranks. Four generals were dismissed, and Dusan Kozic, the prime minister of the Bosnian Serbs' self-styled government, resigned.

In comments after the meeting, the Serbian leader, Radovan Karadzic, appeared satisfied and in a conciliatory mood toward the generals.

"Those generals certainly have contributed to our defense," he said, "but we needed some refreshment and some young people with new energy." But Moncilo Krajisnik, leader of the Bosnian Serbs' assembly, said the generals were dismissed "because of bad defense" and a "passive" attitude. The Serbs lost substantial territory in northwestern Bosnia to Muslim-led government and Croatian forces in recent weeks, leading to speculation that Serbian soldiers were ordered to withdraw. About 50,000 Serbian refugees have fled the latest fighting.

The deputy Serbian commander, General Milan Gvero, and the military intelligence chief, General Zdravko Tolimir, were dismissed, as were two local commanders responsible for the northwestern region, Serbian media reported.

dan Milosevic of Serbia, his for- said.

strong support from Belgrade.

Mr. Milosevic last year said he would work for peace in Bosnia in hopes of having punishing international sanctions against Belgrade lifted. He now negotiates on behalf of the Bosnian Serbs.

But some of the Bosnian Scrbs felt they had been aban-doned by Mr. Milosevic, and their leadership is split between those who support him and those who are loyal to Mr. Kar-

Five UN military observers, sent to the northwest Saturday, reported that the front lines there had stabilized.

Amid reports that Serbia had to threatened to send in its army, the Muslim-led Bosnian government said Saturday that it was halting its offensive.

Sarajevo, the Bosnian capital, late Saturday and sent a senior officer to the bitterly contested

The Associated Press

BANJA LUKA, Bosnia-Herzegovina — Bosnian Serbian is at odds with President Sloboserved the truce, army sources

General Gvero and General cluding 22 tanks, that was seen Tolimir were believed to have crossing from Bosnia back into Croatia on Sunday had moved to within 20 kilometers (12 miles) of Serbian-held eastern Croatia, a UN spokeswoman, Kirsten Haupt, reported Mon-

> More than 2,500 Croatian troops moved away from positions along Bosnia's northern border with Croatia on Saturday, but there was no immediate word Monday on where they were headed.

> The United States, which brokered the cease-fire in Bosnia as a prelude to peace talks, has said the reintegration of the Serbian-held land in eastern Croatia should be a part of any final settlement.

But the Croatian government, bolstered by a successful August offensive to recapture Government army com-manders met for five hours in Sarajevo, the Receive constant atian territory. Elections are scheduled in Croatia for the end

Richard C. Holbrooke, center, with aides following a meeting Monday in Paris on the Bosnian crisis.

500 Civilian Men Held by Serbs Reported Dead or Missing

By Mike O'Connor New York Times Service

SANSKI MOST, Bosnia-Herzegovina — As many as 500 civilian men were killed or taken away as prisoners by Serbian forces in the days before the Bosnian Army captured this town last week, Muslim and Croatian residents say.

The reported deaths or disappearances of the men came after more than three years of brutality and forced labor at the hands of the Bosnian Serbs, civilians here say.

Bosnian government forces backed by the Croatian Army recaptured the town, in northwest Bosnia, during an offensive that appears for now to have ended. Bosnian officers said Saturday -- four days after the cease-fire brokered by the United States was to take effect -- that they had finally been given orders to halt their advance,

Sporadic, outgoing artillery fire continued Sunday, but most Bosnian government soldiers appeared to be resting or picking over what was left after others looted many Serbian homes and farms.

Bosnian government officials are just now returning to the town and are beginning to investigate the disappearances. The mayor said the bodies of 86 men had been found, with residents reporting more bodies found every day.

The bodies of 11 men were lying on Sunday behind a ceramics factory where residents said Bosnian Serbian forces had held and beaten more than 300 civilians for three weeks before being loading their captives onto buses as the Bosnian Army reached outlying villages.

The whereabouts of those 300 men and of about 200 others from the town are not known, said the local authorities, who fear that all the men have been killed.

In a village outside of town, the bodies of 11 other men, dressed in civilian clothes, were piled in a small room of a house. Some appeared to have been beaten to death. Nearby, another body, also in civilian clothing, lay alongside a small lane. Vil-lagers report additional groups of 20 and 12 bodies in outlying areas.

The most telling account of what happened in the ceramics factory, where most of the men were last seen, came from Sead Hadjametovic, a Muslim, who officials say is the only man to have escaped

He returned on Sunday to show the floor of the factory's cafeteria and two small hallways cluttered with hundreds of blankers, boots and other personal belongings of the men he said he spent more than three weeks with there.

Mr. Hadjametovic squatted to demonstrate how he and his fellow captives slept because there was no room to lay down. The room stank of sweat. The first week, he said, they were given no food, after that just a little.

There were men of all ages, the old ones suffered the most," he said. "After we were here for a couple of weeks they came in every night with a list of names, usually 10. They took those men away and we never saw them again."

As about 2,000 Muslim and Croatian women, children and elderly men were being expelled from the town, officials say, the younger men were held in several locations, the ceramics factory being the largest. The officials say they believe several hundred men were taken almost immediately to a camp nearby, in territory still held by the Bosnian Serbs.

In all, 13 men were interviewed who said they were interned in the last weeks that the Bosnian Serbs controlled the area. All had similar stories. Some said they had been held at another factory, some in the local jail, others at a nearby coal mine.

All said their ordeal began when the area was overrun by Bosnian Serb forces in April 1992. Those Croats and Muslims who had not left were subjected to daily harassment and beatings by Serbian authorities. and even by their Serbian neighbors, they said.

"Overnight, this valley became our torture cell," recalled Mujo Kuljanin. 'Any Serb could do anything he wanted to one of us, even our children's playmates would turn against

Israeli Aide Sees Limit To Military Retaliation

The Associated Press

METULLAH, Israel - Israel will step up military pressure on the Islamic militant group Hezbollah, but will be reluctant to open a major offensive for fear of getting bogged down again in Lebanon, an Israeli cabinet minister said Monday.

Tension has been running high in southern Lebanon since Hezbollah killed nine Israeli soldiers there in two attacks since Oct. 11.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin toured southern Lebanon on Monday. He has called a special session of the cabinet for Tuesday to decide on a response to the attacks.

Sporadic shelling was heard Monday in southern Lebanon, but there were no signs of a troop buildup. The army said that Hezbollah had shelled an outpost of the South Lebanon Army, and that two members of that Israeli-backed militia had been wounded.

Environment Minister Yossi Sarid predicted that the Israeli response would be limited.

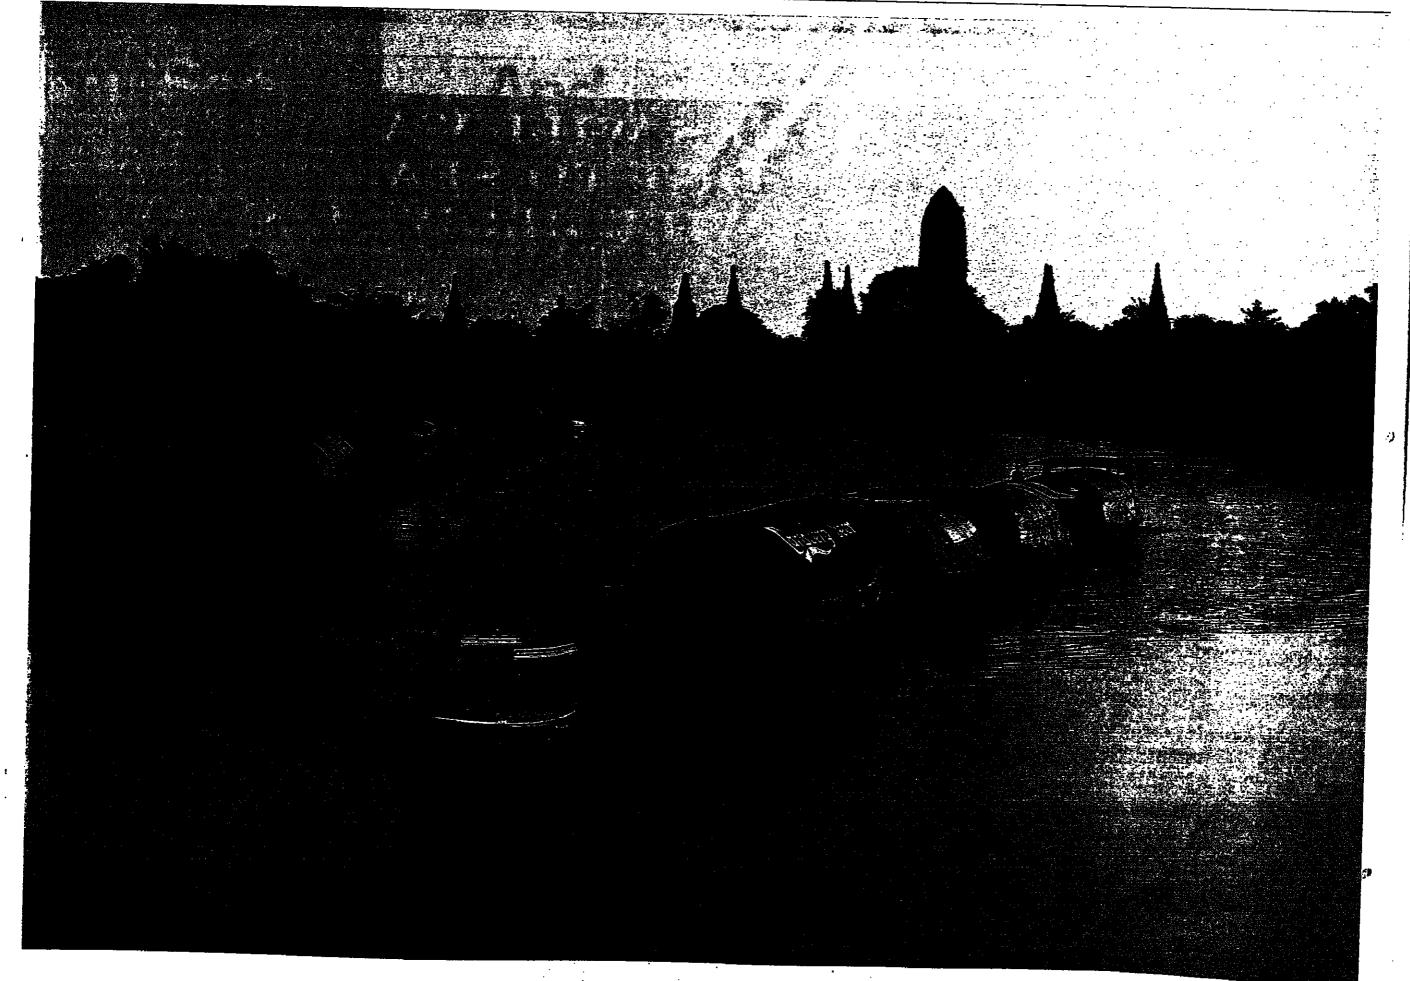

He said that Israel had learned a painful lesson from its 1982-1985 occupation of Lebanon. "In Lebanon, so we have learned, you know how you are going in, but you don't know how you're going to get out." Mr. Sarid is one of the most dovish members of the cabinet, and it was not clear whether other ministers shared his view. An Israeli military source said that after the second attack, in which six Israelis were killed Sunday, Mr. Rabin had considered a major punitive strike. But the plan was later dropped, the source said. ■ Detainee Wins New Delay

A hearing on Israel's request for extradition of Mussa Abu Marzuk, a leader of the militant Palestinian group Hamas, was postponed until Thursday so he could undergo medical tests, Agence-France Presse reported a

The hearing had been scheduled to continue Monday. Judge Kevin Duffy halted the proceedings once before at the request of Mr. Marzuk's lawyer.

nin -lir

on ar-in ere wo

ice.

ons

niz-

ım-

es. :sti-

ore-ials hen

irid the

ried

the

i to uch

grid

ning at a aph 1gle

any and well

well

onn

y as eles

nan.

this

i go

ism.

arch : the hers

they port sup-e re-

ne flor le iving i 9613 SHDED

Jelivery $29,9% costate $29,9% costate $20,9% costate $20,000 costate $36,428 $39,240 $29,931 vehicles $27,822

Cubans Pay a Price to Curb AIDS

By Tim Golden New York Times Service

SANTA CLARA, Cuba --- The doctor knocked at Raidel Burgos's home early lunch. He said there was a problem at the lab where Mr. Burgos had gone for a own. Mostly, though, it seems a futile blood test after one of his friends was one. found to have AIDS.

When the doctor returned a few days northern coast, it was to take him away for the rest of his life.

Almost a decade after Cuba became the first country in the world to quarantine people infected with HIV, the measure of control it has gained over the outbreak is the envy of many other country in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Yet as an inevitable rise in the number inside one of the special sanatoriums that now dot the island reveals the largely hidden human costs of its success.

Four years after his forced admission to the sanatorium outside the city of Santa Clara in central Cuba, Mr. Burgos, now 22, tries to be fair about what has hap-were it not for the isolation of those infected, he reasons, more lives would be at risk. The food and medicine he receives are better than what he would get at home. Sometimes, he says, he is even grateful for the company of other young gay men roughly 900 Cubans who are infected who know what it is to see death so close.

gos's life that besiege his spirit as surely unchaperoned for several days or more. as disease will ravage his body: the metal For the first time, the officials also fence just beyond the trees; the minders allowed a reporter to make several visits who must go with him when he leaves the to a provincial sanatorium and to ingrounds; the harsh smile of the head of terview patients away from the doctors internal order, the man charged with dis- and administrators who normally monitor ciplining patients who fail to observe the such conversations.

We have lost our freedom; that is the however, is to revise publicly their judg most important thing there is," Mr. Burment that the need to protect healthy gos said. "That is why people fight citizens from the human immunodefi-

Beneath a surface of resignation, some one summer afternoon, interrupting of the young residents of the sanitarium wage a low-intensity struggle of their

Sitting by the sanatorium's empty basketball court one late-summer afternoon, later to Mr. Burgos's small town near the a young man pulled back the bandages on one of his arms to show grotesquely blackened fingers. He injected the hand with some motor oil, he said, in the hope that he might be transferred to a regular

Another day, a young woman broke statistics, Cuba's AIDS rate, at 0.8 redown in tears as she told of her long effort ported cases per 100,000 people, is one of to persuade Health Ministry officials to the lowest in Latin America and the let her pursue her dream of becoming a of patients forces Cuban health officials teacher. Only after completing her studto rethink their approach to AIDS, a look ies, said the woman, Arelis Rodriguez, was she informed that she would never be assigned a classroom. 'It is very difficult to be just sitting here, waiting to die," said Alexander Tribalta, Mrs. Rodriguez's husband. 'Even if you try not to think about it all the time, you do." Health officials who once shied from public discussion of their AIDS policy are now more open about acknowledging its

Under regulations in place since last year, they emphasize, nearly 200 of the with HIV or have already developed AIDS have moved back home. Many But there are other facts of Mr. Bur- more are allowed to leave the sanatoriums

For the first time, the officials also

What the authorities have not done, rosy and tuberculosis.

ON KILLING: The Psychological Cost of Learning to Kill in War and Society

By Lieutenant Colonel Dave Grossman. 367 pages. $24.95. Little, Brown.

Reviewed by Richard Bernstein

IEUTENANT Colonel Dave Grossman, a former army psychologist and profes-sor at West Point, has never killed in battle. But he has interviewed many men who have, and he has examined the writings of others who have studied the grim psychology of the au-thorized taking of human life.

His research has resulted in "On Killing," a book that is both disturbing and oddly reassuring in its description of the torment that accompanies the act by which one person deprives another of life. Grossman's book is marred by repetitiveness and frequent recourse to the wooden jargon of behaviorist psycholo-gy.Nonetheless, it is a valuable the air, getting busy contribution, full of arresting plies, running away. observations and insights of the sort that make you alter the way you have thought about certain subjects, most notably the nature of battle.

Grossman's thesis is that there is a powerful natural disinclination, a taboo, even among soldiers, to the taking of human life. But the taboo has been breaking down both in battle and in society, with results that any reader of the newspaper or viewer of the latenight local news understands all too well, "On Killing" is a powerfully argued military psychologist's explanation for this sad fact.

"We are reaching that stage of desensitization at which the inflicting of pain and suffering bring himself to kill the man has become a source of enterstanding before him." tainment: vicarious pleasure rather than revulsion," Grossman writes. "We are learning to kill, and we are learning to like

It was not, he argues, always like that. Citing studies of pre- a soldier's time was spent loadvious wars, he concludes that as ing his weapon and only 5 permany as 85 percent of ordinary cent firing it, "the obvious conto kill, firing their weapons into not trying to kill the enemy."

One satisfaction of "On the air, getting busy with sup-"At the decisive moment," Grossman writes, "each man facts that would seem to conbecame, in his heart, a consci-tradict his theory. How, for ex-

CHESS

Lawrence J.

by Ayn Rand.

foreign language."

chairman of Oracle Corp., is

"It wasn't quite as preachy

rereading "The Fountainhead" as 'Atlas Shrugged.' She's a remarkable writer, and English is her second language, she's a Russian, and she's writing in a

(Mitchell Martin, IHT)

Ellison,

In the Civil War, after the Battle of Genysburg, about 90 duration of battles, in which the percent of the 27,574 muskets minority of soldiers who were recovered from the battlefield were loaded. Since 95 percent of Killing" is Grossman's methodical way of accounting for

Qg6 Kd2 38 Qd6 Kc2 39 Qc5 is disastrous for Black. In this line, if 27...Ki8. then 28 Qh8 Ke7 29

Qa8! Kd6 30 h4! Qh4 31 gf Qg5

So DeFirmian tried 22...Ng7,

Qh4! wins either the f6 knight

32 Kf1 wins.

entious objector who could not ample, to explain the enormous casualties of most wars? He argues that heavy casualties have been brought about by the long shooting to kill slowly took their toll.

Among Grossman's most incisive passages are those in which he describes the conditions under which the willingness to kill becomes greater. This happens, for example, when killing has been turned by advanced training techniques into a conditioned reflex; when the enemy can be demonized by political or racial propaganda; when group pressure is especially intense, or when a leader who orders the killing is respected or feared.

During the Vietnam War, firing rates increased from the 15 to 20 percent of World War II to more than 90 percent, largely. Grossman writes, because of radical changes in the way soldiers were trained. The American soldier in Vietnam was 'desensitized'' and 'conditioned" to overcome the normal resistance to killing.

That was done intentionally, with devastating results for Vietnam veterans, who found themselves condemned and excluded when they returned home. Grossman, turning to the increased acceptance of killing in society, writes that a similar sort of unintentional conditioning explains how "an epidemic, a virus of violence" has been unleashed now in America.

His theory is that video games and violence on television and in the movies have had some of the same effect on young people in America as the new training techniques had on soldiers sent to Vietnam.

staff of The New York Times.

By Robert Byrne

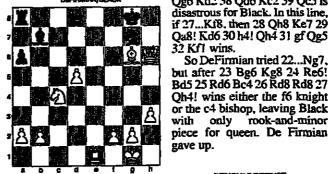

A LEXEI Dreyev beat Nick DeFirmian in Round 6 in the Schweizerische Kredi-tanstalt International Tourna-

The Benoni Defense is one of the most combative of the queenside openings because it unbalances the pawn position, creating a kingside pawn majority for White and one on the opposite wing for Black. After 7...Bg7. White's main objective will be a breakthrough with a timely e5, whereas Black aims for an advance en masse with .b5, ...c4 and ...b4.

The slow-going 8 h3 prevents a pin with ... Bg4, but it lets the white king tarry in the center a move longer than usual. Thus, DeFirmian adopted the currentb. ly popular gambit with 8...O-O Mr. Carlsson plans to step down for 9 Bd3 b5!? After 10 Nb5, the wild 10...Ne4 can lead to unclear complications, like those in a P. Almaquer-L/ Perez en-Be4 Qa5 12 Nc3 Bc3 13 bc Ba6 14 Kd2.

De Firmian diverged with

10...Re8, but then in place of 11 Nf6 26 Qg6 Ra7 27 Rf6 Rf7 28 Nd2 Nd5, also with murky com-plexities, Dreyev chose the po-hypothetical line, 23...Ng7 24 sitional 11 O-O Ne4 12 Re1 a6 Re4 Bc8 25 Rf4 Bf5 26 g4 Qg5 13 Na3 Nf6 14 Re8 Re8 15 Bg5 27 Nd6 Ke7 28 Nf5 gf 29 Rf5 Bf6 16 Qd2 Nd7 17 Nc4 Bb7 18 Qc1 30 Kg2 Qb2 31 Qb4 Kd7 32 Be4. After 18...Bg5 19 Ng5 Rf7 Kd6 33 Qe7 Kd5 34 qd7 Kc4 35 Rf4 Kc3 36 Qg7 Kc2 37

Position after 23 . . . Kg8

Ndf6 20 Rel, DeFirmian's aggresive 20...h6 provoked Dreyev to start a terrific, unexpected onslaught with 21 Nf7!
After 21...Kf7 22 Qh6, defense by 22...Ne4 could be defeated by 23 Qh7! Kf8 24 Re4 8d5 25 Rf4 RENONI DEFENSE 14 Re8 15 Bg5 16 Qd2 17 Nc4 18 Bc4 19 Ng5 20 Rei 21 Nf7 22 Qh6 23 Bg6 24 Re6 25 Rd8 27 Qh4

Richard Bernstein is on the Scandal Clouds Outlook for Sweden's No. 2

STOCKHOLM — Deputy Prime Min-Carlsson, only after the completion of an leader of the governing Social Democratic job. investigation into her admitted misuse of Party an official credit card

I don't know if I have that," she said at a ister after party leaders picked her as the news conference. "I don't know if I want to be party leader."

to withdraw her name despite the uproar. welcome an investigation." She said that it "I have been sloppy with my life, but I would be up to the party to decide if it still ister Mona Sahlin said Monday that she am not a dishonest person. I am not a would decide her future as a candidate to cheat," said Mrs. Sahlin, who in addition succeed outgoing Prime Minister Ingvar to being deputy prime minister is the No. 2

Mrs. Sahlin has been expected to be-To be party leader I must have trust and come Sweden's first woman prime minsole candidate to succeed Mr. Carlsson.

runner for prime minister refused Monday said, "I am ready to fight," and added, "I apers for her children.

personal reasons in March, two years before his term ends. Last week, a newspaper obtained re-wanted her to become its leader and thus prime minister. Even if it does, she added, she has not yet decided whether to take the ciency virus outweighs the harm done in "People are beginning to see that what we did works," said Reinaldo G. Gil, the epidemiologist in charge of the Health

Ministry's AIDS programs. "At the start of the epidemic, putting people in the sanatoriums played a critical role in lim-

The statistics seem to support his assertion. Through August, 1,159 Cubans had been found to be infected with HIV.

including 248 who had died of AIDS

According to World Health Organization

Caribbean. By contrast, the Bahamas had

131.4 cases per 100,000 people in 1994; Bermuda, 77.2 per 100,000; Brazil, 4.7

The Cubans' effort has included what health experts say is probably the most extensive program of HIV screening anywhere in the world. In a country of about 11 million citizens, more than 17 million tests for the virus have been carried out since the diagnosis in 1986 of Cuba's first

Tests are now required for pregnant women, blood donors, people with sexually transmitted diseases and all Cubans who have lived abroad. Family practitioners in the vast community- medicine network are instructed to try to identify homosexual men and others at potentially greater risk of infection and encourage to be infected was made, officials say, by

The decision to quarantine those found

Officials defend the approach as being no different from the sort taken elsewhere to control such infectious diseases as lep-them to be tested as well.

President Fidel Castro himself.

iting the extent of infection."

cases, and Honduras. 13.6.

AIDS patient.

confining people.

ceipts showing that Mrs. Sahlin had been counter, which proceeded 11 Sitting alone at a rostrum before a mass using government credits cards for such Declaring "I'm not a cheater," the front- of reporters and TV cameras, Mrs. Sahlin personal purchases as chocolate and di-(Reuters, AP)

HISTORY IS NOT MADE BY KINGS AND PRESIDENTS, BUT BY ORDINARY PEOPLE DOING EXTRAORDINARY THINGS.

Ask any news reporter who has spent years in the field which, of all the things they have witnessed in their long careers, was the most impressive. We predict that they will not start telling you about the coronation of a king, or the inauguration of a president. Instead they will recall a face, remember a person, perhaps from long ago, in a faraway place, who did something that stunned them.

Maybe it was an old woman who gave up her place on a refugee boat so that a mother and child could escape certain death. Or the dignity with which an ordinary endured famine, flood, disease or war. It might have been an act of insane courage, by someone whose name will never find a place in history books.

The history books are wrong. The real history of the world is being enacted by International to do just this. If you are a student of history, turn on your TV set as it turns into history report it as it happens. We set up CNN before your eyes. ENTERNATIONAL

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ABOUT CAN INTERNATIONAL PLEASE CALL (LONDOM)+42 171 290 8000. (PARIS) +33 1 44 95 15 30 OR INEW YORK) +2 212 852 6956

France's Challenge

Jacques Chirac's presidency of France France cut its budget deficit almost in half began last spring with a burst of energy hand high public expectations. But the initial mood was deflated when the new government could not deliver on its beguiling campaign promises of swift and painless economic revival. Mr. Chirac, whose term runs until 2002, still has plenty of time to turn things around. But he needs to begin making the tough eco-nomic policy decisions he evaded as a candidate and in his first few months.

Nobody, least of all someone with Mr. Chirac's long experience in government, should have believed it would be possible to slash unemployment, reduce taxes and sharply lower budget deficits all at the same time. The new government tried to pursue these conflicting objectives, but the result has been a frustrating stalemate.

So the solid majority support that Mr. Chirac enjoyed in May has evaporated. Prime Minister Alain Juppé has sunk even lower after barely escaping pro-secution for providing his family with city-owned apartments at below-market rents in his former job as deputy mayor of Paris. The Juppés must vacate their apartments by the end of the year to avoid formal charges.

As Americans well know, politicians everywhere love to court voters with promises of tax cuts and balanced budgets. But when the same voters protest reductions in services and entitlements. politicians tend to back off, leaving deficit reduction for another day.

In France, however, such procrastination is no longer possible because of strict European Union requirements that of French European policy. But the deficit target cannot be met without unpopular cuts, unpopular tax increases or both.

government could strengthen its hand by pushing ahead with public sector deregulation. But it hesitates, fearing a political backlash.

its main European partners.

Mr. Chirac has a deserved reputation for obstinacy in day-to-day battles. But in his long career he has also demonstrated that he can learn from past mistakes and sharply change course when necessary.

-THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Racism and Euphemism

As we write, the march and speeches planned for Monday in Washington have yet to take place. They will be their own story. But there is a particular aspect of the way many people seem to be writing and speaking and thinking about the proceedings that is already very clear and deserving of notice — especially because it represents a kind of evasion and avoidance of hard truths, a kind of dainty stepping around them, that could continue in the aftermath of Monday's events. We are thinking of the distancing language that has appeared in newspa-pers (including The Washington Post) and also in much of the reporting and commentary elsewhere, on television and in political forums.

The operative language comes in two principal forms. The first involves the use of the word "critics." "Critics." it will be said (or even more marginally "some critics"), consider the vicious epithets that Louis Farrakhan has been hurling at various groups of other Americans over the years to be insulting or demeaning — or something. The implication, of course, is that only these "critics" so find, that the characterization is really open to question. Which it is not. To take the raw, offensive things that Minister Farrakhan has said about white people in general, gays. Jews and others, and pronounce that me critics" have found them raw and offensive is tantamount to giving, say, 'critics' found Mark Fuhrman's commentary racist or insulting or whatever. It some anonymous, sorehead "critic's" was all that and worse, pure garbage.

The second principal form of this dis-by 1997 to qualify for entry into the planned European Monetary Union, Joining the monetary union is the centerpiece

Two months ago. Finance Minister Alain Madelin proposed cutting civil ser-vice pensions and was forced to resign. More recently, Mr. Juppé announced a public sector pay freeze, which was greeted last week by a national work stoppage. Unions also fiercely oppose any reduction in France's traditional five- to six-week annual vacation. The

Similarly, unemployment, the most potent issue in French politics, cannot be greatly reduced without sacrifices by those now employed. In an integrated global economy, it is not possible to sustain uncompetitive wage and benefit levels without paying a huge price in deficits or jobs. Like his predecessor, François Mitterrand, Mr. Chirac is learning that France's ability to indulge in populist economics is sharply constrained by the more orthodox policies of tancing combines the idea of these sensitive critics, whoever they may be, with the bland notion of "controversy" and, above all, "controversial statements." 'Controversial," as it is habitually used on this particular subject, tends to signal someone else's controversy. It strongly implies that there is some element of doubt as to whether what is being argued about merits the fuss. It is merely "controversial." Maybe what one side in the controversy thinks is bad really isn't; that is the only logical inference that can be drawn from such phrasing. The effect of the usage throughout commentary on Louis Farrakhan's pronouncements over the years has equally been to minimize the outrageousness of those pronouncements and make taking offense at them seem a rather parochial. self-interested reaction, confined to his particular targets. Again we call Mark Fuhrman to the stand. The way all this is being used in relation to Minister Farrakhan is the equivalent of what would be a shocking and disgusting lapse in re-lation to Detective Fuhrman, comparable to designating his remarks as "controversial" and offensive "to African-

That is what he needs to do now.

Detective Fuhrman's brutal, racist blather was offensive to all Americans who have even a minimal sense of justice should be true of comparable brutal, ver-Mark Fuhrman the benefit of the same bal assaults on other groups as groups in qualification. One would never say that our public debate. This is not just a question of someone else's "controversy," or complaint -THE WASHINGTON POST.

DNA Evidence

an identification tool in criminal cases has been clear for a decade. A person's highly individual genetic code is carried in the DNA of every cell. But the bumbling of the scientific evidence in the O. J. Simpson case highlighted glaring deficiencies in how DNA evidence gets collected and tested — a problem, unfortunately, that is not isolated to the astonishingly inept police lab in Los Angeles.

There was no shortage of DNA evidence in the Simpson case. But mistakes by the police laboratory in handling the blood samples made it possible to challenge the evidence. Police collected some blood evidence weeks after the murders had been committed, raising suspicion that the blood might have been planted. Technicians spilled Mr. Simpson's blood in the same lab where, shortly after, other samples would be tested, opening the possibility of inadvertent contamination. Jurors, who were also weighing evidence of Detective Mark Fuhrman's perjury and racism, questioned how the DNA got in the incriminating samples.

As Gina Kolata reported in The New York Times, many experts believe that the poor performance of the police lab in the Simpson case may typify what hap-

The potential value of DNA evidence as pens in lower-profile cases nationally. The severe blow dealt the prosecution by the sloppy handling of the forensic evidence should serve as a warning not just to the Los Angeles Police Department but to other police agencies around America that rely on similarly substandard labs. - THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Other Comment

Procrastinating in Austria

The fundamental problem of Austrian politics is the budget deficit and the reluctance of the two center parties to take unpopular measures to correct it, especially in view of the coming elections. The December elections will show what the Austrian people really want: the reformed People's Party, which has re-turned to its principles and divorced itself from the "watercan socialism" of the Social Democrats, or a shift to the right in favor of Jörg Haider's populist Liberals. Of course, the vote may be inconclusive. But putting problems off indefinitely will only make them more difficult to confront later.

Neue Zürcher Zeitung (Zurich).

ESTABLISHED 1887 KATHARINE GRAHAM, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER

RICHARD McCLEAN, Publisher & Chief Executive JOHN VINOCUR, Executive Editor & Vice President WALTER WELLS, Noves Editor
 PAUL HORVITZ, KATHERINE KNORR and

CHARLES MITCHELMORE, Deputy Editors . SAMUEL ABT and CARL GEWIRTZ, Associate Editor. ROBERT J. DONAHUE. Editor of the Editoral Pages. SONATHAN GAGE, Business and Finance Editor. • RENÉ BONDY, Deputy Publisher • JAMES McLEOD, Advertising Director JUANITA L CASPARI, International Development Director DiDIER BRUN, Circulation Director

Directeur de la Publication: Richard D. Simmons Directeur Adjoint de la Publication: Kathorine P. Dornw

International Heald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de Gaulle, 92521 Neutly-sur-Seine, France. Tel.:(1) 41-43.93.00. Fax: Circ. (1) 41-43.92.10; Adv. (1) 41-43.92.12. Internet; IHT @estackom.ic Editor for Asia: Michael Richardson, 5 Consenbuty Rd., Suprapore 0511, Tel. (65) 472-7768, Fax: (65) 274-2334 Editor for Rela: Michael Inclination 3. Conservates Na. Suppose 1011. 12. (0.0142-1-104. 11) 20-23-34.
Ming, Dir, Asia, Rolf D., Kronepukl, 30 Glouvester Rd., Hong Kong, Tel. 852-2922-1188. Fax: 857-2922-1190.
Gen. Mgr. Germany. T. Schläter, Friedrichter. 15. 6023 Franzifuerdd. Tel. (1009) 72-67-55. Fax: (1007) 77-73-10.
Pres. U.S. Michael Controy, 850 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022-Tel. (212) 752-3860. Fax: (212) 755-8785.
U.K. Advertising Office: 63 Long Acre, London WC2. Tel. (171) 836-4802. Fax. (1011) 240-2254.
S.A. au capital de 1.200.000 F. RCS Naturerre B 732021126. Commusium Partitaire No. 61337.
G. 1995. International Herold Tribune. All rights reserved. ISSN: 0294-8052.

What Yitzhak and Yasser Say to Mona and Maya

WASHINGTON — After Israeli and Palestinian negotiators in Oslo finished their first draft peace accords and initialed them, Palestinian negotiator Abu Alaa wrote a note at the bottom of Israeli negotiator Uri Savir's official copy. It was directed at Mr. Savir's daughter, Maya, and said: "Dear Maya, I have a daughter your age, I hope you will meet her one day ... Abu Alaa." Mr. Savir wrote a similar note at the bottom of Abu Alaa's copy,

The good news is that Maya and Mona have met and today are friends. The bad news is that they are still pretty unusual among Israelis and Palestinians.

directed at his daughter Mona.

Israeli and Palestinian negotiators have become real partners in this peace process, "I know all of his quirks and he knows all of mine," Yitzhak Rabin says of Yasser Arafat. But that is not true of their respective populations.

This is a peace treaty between the tops of two pyramids, but the bases, while they have gone along with it, have not em-braced it the way their leaders have. During Phase I this gap didn't matter much, because the peace was implemented. By Thomas L. Friedman populations were not intertwined. But that is not true in Phase II. which just began. It involves taking two populations living together in the West Bank (the most sensitive territory in this conflict) and getting them to separate from each other, while simultaneously cooperating so that their sep-aration remains peaceful. Such a complex arrangement will work only if the two peoples — not just the two leaders — see themselves to some degree as partners.

For Mr. Arafat and Mr. Rabin to transform their personal peace into a peace between peoples will require them to do business differently.

Israelis will judge Mr. Arafat on one issue: whether he delivers for them physical and psychological security. He has to use every means, and appear to use every means, to prevent attacks on Israelis. There is no time (or room) for excuses or learning curve.

More important, he has to start speaking differently in Arabic. Israelis are not much interested in what Mr. Arafat says what he says to his own people about Israel, about his goals and about those who oppose this process.

Israeli negotiators might be ready to shrug it off when they hear that Mr. Arafat is still using terms like "jihad," or holy war. But the Israeli public will not. Mr. Arafat can foster parmership with the Israeli people only if he talks to his own "Arafat cannot achieve a parmership with Israelis while talking to Palestinians with the traditional language of Palestinian rejectionism," said the Middle East expert Stephen Cohen. "Terms like 'refugees,' 'Jerusalem,' 'the Covenant' were seen historically as code words for the destruction of Israel. Mr. Arafat can use these symbols only if he reinterprets them as goals to be achieved within the framework of the part-people differently.

nership with Israel."

For Palestinians, the test of whether Mr. Rabin is being a real partner is whether he delivers to them control over their own lives. Israel has to find the right balance between protecting its legitimate security interests and not strangling Palestinians' efforts to create their own largely in the Gaza Strip, where the two to them, but they are keenly interested in political and economic institutions.

Israel's restriction on the movement of Palestinian goods and workers between Gaza and the West Bank is one such constraint on Palestinian development.

Palestinians will also be listening to how Mr. Rabin talks to Israelis, and whether he can redefine some of the symbols of Zionism, like "Judaea and Samaria," the biblical terms for the West Bank, which for Palestinians were code words for occupation. Mr. Rabin has to (and is trying to) distinguish between Israel's historical attachment to these places and its political ownership. Israelis will always remain emotionally attached to areas of the West Bank, and their access to them must never be denied. But they do not have to have military control over every place to which they are emotionally attached.

Only when Mr. Arafat and Mr. Rabin take the myths of the conflict and do for them what they have done for each other - normalize them, pragmatize them and de demonize them - will partnership be possible on the people level. Only then will there be enough Monas and Mayas to sustain this peace.

The New York Tunes.

Expose the Blood-Money Supply Lines to Saddam's Baghdad

WASHINGTON — Sunday was election day in Iraq. The result was not too close to call. On the basis of early returns, exit polls and long-range prescience, I was able to project the winner. Saddam Hussein. His opponent, who is nobody, got zero percent. Because the ballot was not secret, the dictator's campaign theme was sure to work wonders on the electorate. Political gurus everywhere imagine a bumper sticker that's a real grabber: "Vote for Saddam or die."

We may laugh at his need for a new mandate, but the "re-elecis part of his plan to rebuild both internal and external power. He is uncontained, getting more dangerous every day.

The man the world put in charge of monitoring Saddam Hussein's development of weapons of mass destruction reports that the Iraqi dictator is at it again. Rolf Ekeus is a Swedish diplomat who could give the United mission what they had long denied Nations a good name. He listens: — that germs had been produced he and his investigating team follow up; and he reports what he is able to find, even when members of the Security Council want a wholly different story from him. Early this year, I went to see Mr. Ekeus at UN headquarters in New York to check out information about germ warfare facilities that Iraqi sources had told me Saddam was hiding from international inspectors. Mr. Ekeus did not bluster that press interest was unhelpful, as many bureaucrats do. He had most of the data about biological sites, and checked out the rest, which then appeared in this space (Feb. 17) in a piece about "Dr. Germs."

Caught red-handed, and with additional facts about to be spilled by a defecting thug, Saddam's tox-icologists admitted to the UN com-missed with "not for five to 10 in Iraq to be put in missile warheads to attack enemy cities.

Because Saddam had been lying about his secret germ production, nations eager to lift the sanctions on Iraq were frustrated in their desire to begin business as usual. France, China and Russia on the Security Council, as well as Germany and Ukraine, Bulgaria and North Korea, want Iraq pumping and selling oil again, providing the money to buy their nuclear and missile technology.

For a decade, these countries and a few others have denigrated reports of Saddam's acquisition of mass-destruction armaments as alarmist. So did the CIA for too long; reports in this space, before the Gulf war, of impending Iraqi missed with "not for five to 10 years." Now we know that Saddam was just three months away from his Hiroshima-size device.

Experience has shown that alarmism is impossible when it comes to the Iraqi dictator. Last week, as R. Jeffrey Smith reported in The Washington Post, Mr. Ekens revealed that Iraq — even today — has "a very advanced procurement system" for importing missile parts, high-tech furnaces and guidance systems. Not only has Saddam been concealing his nuclear, chemical and biological capacity from UN eyes, he is now buying copyable components for a delivery system. His scientists and engineers are in place, and have not forgotten how to fill a warhead with the potential to kill a city.

It may be, before a critical point is reached, that some nation thathas taken hits from his Scud missiles before will have to take out another chorus of world tut-tutting Before then, however, can we not know the specific identities of Saddam's suppliers? I do my bit from time to time, but Mr. Ekeus, protective of sources and unwilling to upset specific UN members, refuses to name names.

Where is Der Spiegel's Fingerspitzengefühl on the German firms helping Saddam? Can Le Monde, with its intelligence contacts, be afflicted with ennui at the dirty dealings of French companies? Is the newly free Russian press fearful of upsetting the mafiya supply line to Baghdad? Is the vast press corps at UN head-quarters incapable of digging out a few corrupt corporate names? Public exposure of illicit blood-money contracts would dry up some of Saddam's best sources. No story is more important than the rearmament of a

Next for NATO, a New Top Man Who Could Well Be a Woman of

 $B^{ ext{RUSSELS}}$ — The ax is raised. On Thursday when Parliament accepts the recommendation of its commission to allow Belgium's highest court to examine Willy Claes, the ax will fall. NATO will have to find a new secretary-general.

Mr. Claes has not been accused of any personal gain from an alleged gift to his party by the Italian aerospace firm which obtained the contract to supply helicopters to the Belgia when he was economy minister. But he is under investigation for prior knowledge of this offer.

be led by a public figure under a cloud. Nor can it afford, at this critical moment, to have its main administrator occupied with or- and Russia to create a solid Euganizing his personal defense on a serious charge. For the alliance is The nature of NATO and the now faced with decisions that job of its most senior civilian of-

By Frederick Bonnart

on matters so important that they will determine its very existence. Its peace implementation force for Bosnia is being set up, but problems of financing, cooperation with participating non-NATO nations (particularly Russia) and the relationship with the United Nations still have to be resolved. Progress toward democracy and in the Central and East European countries must not be undermined by the need to strike a balance Regardless of his guilt or in-nocence, NATO cannot be seen to NATO's ability to absorb them. between their pressure to join and Above all, the momentum must be maintained in the budding relationship between the alliance have to be made and then applied ficial have undergone change. on matters so important that they The alliance is a unique organization, not only in its latent overwhelming military power but in its democratic structure, Although leadership from the larger countries, particularly America, is essential, it can function only with the consensus of all member governments and their publics.

This was obtained more easily viet attack. It is much harder in the present less threatening but more unstable international environment. Today's secretary-general must have personal qualities that are not only superior but unusual. He or she must be able to coordinate and, if necessary, convince reluctant ministers to overcome national impediments in the wider interest; must help engender and maintain public confidence in the aims and capabilities of the organization; must be able to guide from inside while leaving the limelight to the national leaders who are NATO's real masters.

Any candidate would have lovally to subordinate his or her personal views to those of NATO's members in council. He or she is their chief executive rather than their leader. The post has lost much of its former glamour. The selection process has albeen complicated by national obstacles which automatically eliminated candidates from certain countries. A Greek or Turkish candidate was excluded due to mutual national antagonisms; a Luxembourger or an Icelander because of the small size or lack of military forces. Also, no Frenchman was acceptable, as France does not participate in the integrated military structure. No American could be considered, as the two main military positions, Supreme Allied Com-mander Atlantic and Supreme Allied Commander Europe, are held by Americans.

The need for speed will prevent any immediate structural changes. It would not be possible to relieve General George A. Joulwan from his post as Supreme Allied Commander Europe while he is raising his Bosnia peace implementation force, merely to accommodate an American secretary-general. Nor could France, regardless of its recently more cooperative attitude toward NATO, rejoin the integrated military structure overnight.

Of those previously considered, Britain's former Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd now has an important appointment in the private sector and is unlikely to want to change. Similarly his re-placement. Malcolm Rifkind. will not wish to abandon a post he interested, but he has a reputation for independence and has committed himself to rapid NATO enlargement, which may not suit the other nations. Among many Italian names, no clear candidate emerges.

Among the smaller allies, senior public figures are more prenational politics. From Denmark, former Foreign Minister Uffe Elleman-Jensen; from Norway, former UN negotiator Thorwald Stoltenberg; from the Netherlands, Rund Lubbers and Hans van den Broek have been previously considered. None of these men appear an evident choice. One name has scarcely been mentioned. Although all former secretaries-general have been men, women are by no means excluded, and a highly able one is in the category of possibles. Admittedly, her command of French, one of NATO's two official languages, is weak, but this should not be an insuperable obstacle. A bigger one may be her wish not to leave her present task. But Norway's Prime Minister Gro Harlem Brundtland could be the very individual to bring the alliance successfully into the next century.

nal Herald Tribune.

Letters intended for publication should be addressed "Letters to the Editor" and contain the writer's signature. name and full address. Letters should be brief and are subject to editing. We cannot be responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts.

IN OUR PAGES: 100, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1895: Fare Control

compteur kilométrique for measur-ing the distance traversed by cabs were completed on Saturday last [Oct. 12]. It appears to have been no easy matter to find some system for measuring the distance covered by cabs in Paris which would satisfy all the conditions imposed by the Prefecture. Certainly to force 10,000 cabs to adopt an invention which had not previously stood very stringent tests would very likely entail no end of trouble and annoyance to the public and a very considerable expense to the cab proprietors.

1920: Dry Diplomats

NEW YORK - Immunity priv-

violation of the Prohibition Law. The order is aimed at the prevention PARIS - The trials of M. Joudet's of violation by railroads of the regulation which forbids them to transport liquor. Considerable dissarisfaction in diplomatic circles has been expressed concerning the order, which entails a great amount of inconvenience and expense.

> 1945: Tokio Hunger TOKIO — A ragged crowd of 2,000 Japanese staged today Tokio's first "hunger march."

Some of them tramped to Premier Kijuro Shidehara's official residence, shouting, "We want food while others stood outside General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters cheering every American who entered or left. A Japanese named ileges beretofore enjoyed by for-eign diplomatic representatives seition at General MacArthur's have been curtailed by an order of the Treasury Department, which directs Customs officials to examine with sincerity and in tears of diplomatic beggage on its arrival blood" to keep "imocent people for the purpose of preventing any from starving to death."

Government Intervention Matters

WASHINGTON — Here is a theory that once enjoyed the status of economic holy writ: When an economy goes sour, businesses cut prices and workers accept lower wages. As costs and prices fall, demand rises to meet supply, and the sluggish economy automatically perks up at a new "equilibrium." In other words, depressed economies contain a built-in self-cure. Students of economics will recognize here the dim outlines of the "classical" market theory that prevailed well into the Great Depression, when real-world conditions belied it spectacularly. Indeed, it was not until John

Maynard Keynes published

"The General Theory of Employment. Interest, and Monin 1936 that economists began to see why depressions were not necessarily self-correcting. Keynes's recommendations der that their merit was very slowly conceded. Governments, he said, should if necessary borrow to stimulate demand; and it would be better to hire people to dig holes or build pyramids (policies still dismissed by smart-aleck ignoramuses as "leaf-raking") than to wait for grotesque levels of unemployment to correct themselves. What is my point? A random thought or two inspired by the cation of "the market," presum-

University of Chicago has received the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Science. My learned friends tell me that it is richly deserved. About stupid ones; and that they do have economy become so canny through experience that they know all the government's moves and anticipate and dis-count their results, ultimately nullifying their intended effect. No doubt there is truth here, as there is in Mr. Lucas's skepticism of the wisdom of his own guild. "As an advice-giving profession." he once declared, we are way over our heads." It is said that Mr. Lucas and his disciples have dealt a death blow to the "myth" of "fine-tuning," the idea that government fiscal and monetary policies can chart the course of a sophisticated United States and the other major industrial powers. Let us concede, as many economists now seem to do, that 'rational expectations" will were so shocking to the old or- trump "fine-tuning" in most instances. But if economies cannot be fine-tuned, does that mean that economics cannot be mixed economy like that of the tuned at all? That seems a pessimistic, if not nihilistic, assumption, certainly in contradiction with the hopes of the great Employment Act of 1946, which mandates government attention to price stability and full employment.

By Edwin M. Yoder Jr.

Amid all the current glorifinews that Robert Lucas Jr. of the ably reinforced by Mr. Lucas's skepticism of the efficacy of government policies, we need to remember that there are good policies and bad ones, smart ones and a quarter-century ago, Mr. Lu-cas devised "rational expecta-having no policy does. They are tions" theory, which says in still capable of inflicting signif-essence that major actors in the icant and often pointless misery.

I have yet to be persuaded that the basic insights of Keynes have been supplanted — espe-cially his demolition of the idea that an industrial economy, like the human body, is homeostatic and will heal itself if given time. Yes, of course. But how much time? As Keynes said, "In the long run we are all dead."

When I had my encounter as a student with Keynesian theory 40 years ago, we were required to read and absorb "The General Theory" itself, not just pale spinoffs and paraphrases. Any-one who studied Keynes in the original could see that he was a great explorer with a skeptical mind who would have resisted the transformation of his or anyone else's analysis of the maladies of the modern industrial economy into cast-iron dogma. Indeed, he came to deliver us from thralldom to "defunct

What Keynes never doubted, however, was that governments have great power in the industrial age to inflict or prolong misery, and that it makes a great difference whose ideas they think they are following.

It may be that economists under the influence of Robert Lucas have been stricken with modesty about their advice, and that may be good. It may be also that government economic planning must be either spectacularly wise or spectacularly terrible to have a real effect. What cannot be doubted is that economic advice still has a role to play, whether or not you think that an economy can be fine-tuned. Thanks to Keynes, the old way -- no tuning at all --is now unthinkable.

Washington Post Writers Group.

the eles nan.

this

t go ism.

OPINION/LETTERS

Two U.S. Gatherings: Celebrating and Rejecting the Music in All Human Hearts

NEW YORK — Martin Luther King's dream was on television last week and was to be on again Monday night.

and Walk

The trumpet virtuoso Wynton Marsalis opened his fourpart series last Monday with the words: "I'm Wynton Marsalis and this is my jazz orchestra. We're in the Berkshires of Massachusetts visiting the maestro, Seiji Ozawa, and the Tanglewood Music Center artists. We've brought these two ensembles together to hear how fundamental elements are shared by different musical styles.

The series, a gem, is called "Marsalis on Music." It is designed to give young people an appreciation of both jazz and classical music. The set was a rehearsal barn at Tanglewood. Filled with the music of Tchaikovsky and Ellington, and an enchanted audience of children 9 to 12 years old, the By Bob Herbert alized, if only for a moment.

Some of these children's parents were not yet born when Dr. King, in the simmering heat of August 1963, stood on the speaker's platform at the Lincoln Memorial and told us of his dream and his faith.

"With this faith." he said, "we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood." I could hear Dr. King as the television cameras scanned the faces of the children listening to Wynton Marsalis. The kids laughed and cheered and looked at one another in astonishment as Mr. Marsalis barn became a place where solved mystery after mystery Americans' most difficult and and offered them one delightful elusive of dreams could be re- musical insight after another. We dance, hop, skip, fly and tickle rhythms through the meter," Mr. Marsalis said. "And the measures are our points of reference. Boys in baseball caps and girls with long blond hair and children with a million braids, their faces light and dark and in between, their heads and shoulders moving with the music, their knees and feet keeping time, stayed with Mr. Marsalis throughout.

On that long-ago August af-ternoon, Dr. King dreamed that some day children of all races could play together, learn together, live together. A nation listened as he said, "I have a dream today!"

This Monday, there was another gathering in Washington.

Unlike the television series, it was not an attempt to bring was the opposite of that, It was Mr., Farrakhan Monday. They seemingly disparate elements together — to explore, for example, the sameness of the rhythms that run through music and the human heart. And unlike the effort by Dr. King and his colleagues in 1963, it was not an attempt 'to transform the jangling discords of our nation" by celebrating, in blatant and brave defiance of all the odds, the ideal of brotherhood.

the theme of inclusiveness turned upside down. Whites needed not apply, nor women of any hue. Instead of unity, it promoted divisiveness many fronts. And as if whites vs. blacks provided not conflict enough, Louis Farrakhan has successful in pitting blacks against blacks.

It takes no effort to understand why legions of Africanencounter precious few welcoming arms elsewhere in society, and Mr. Farrakhan is more than happy to receive them.

He understands what A. Philip Randolph told President John F. Kennedy in 1963 about young people in the inner city. According to Taylor Branch. in his book "Parting the Waters." Mr. Randolph - who directed the 1963 march — said: "They leadership. They have no faith in God. They have no faith in the government. In other words, they believe the hand of the society is against them." That absence of faith has grown a hundredfold in the last 30 years, and Mr. Farrakhan is a master at exploiting it. There is an epidemic of grief and a shortage of hope among black Americans. But those af have no faith in anybody white.

AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE COMPOSITE TRANSACTIONS

They have no faith in the Negro

They have no faith in the Negro marching in the footsteps of a flamethrower who has always wanted to be a big shot and now is getting his wish.

It is extremely moving to see black men and boys turning out by the hundreds of thousands in a bold demonstration of strength and resolve. But the taint of Mr. Fartakhan remains. Hate does not come in acceptable doses. New York Times Service

Images of the Romanovs' Idyll

NEW YORK — The photographs of the girls in their summer dresses, flitting like white butterflies across a broad lawn, or sitting with their parents and little brother for a family portrait, are haunting. But then, all the photos of the Romanov family are haunting, especially those of the children.

Four pretty girls, a sickly boy - even if we did not know their pictures. They all look so rich, so grand and so impossibly innocent.

MEANWHILE

But we do know their fate, and we read of it again and again because it is only human to be fascinated by the ghastly (the bullets ricocheted off the diamonds sewn into the girls' corsets) and by the toppling of the mighty. Shakespeare's "Let us sit upon the ground and tell sad stories of the death of kings" is never far from my mind when I read about the execution of Russia's royal family in Yekaterinburg 77 years ago, during the Russian Revolution. Lately it has become close to impossible not to read about the Romanovs In 1991, their bones, along with those of the doctor and three servants who died with them, were excavated from the pit in which the geBy Mary Cantwell

Bits and pieces of the Romanovs have since been to Engtheir fate, we would pause at land and the United States for evidence has confirmed the existing remains are indeed those of the Russian royal family, they are to be buried.

In February, they will join their ancestors in the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul in St. Petersburg.

never to St. Petersburg. So, curious about the imperial vault, I turned to the Marquis de Custine and his "Empire of the Czar." Actually, whenever I want to know something about Russia I turn to Custine, a French aristocrat whose father and grandfather were guillotined during the Terror, and whose book is a monument to perception.

During his visit in 1839, Custine visited the tombs in the Fortress of St. Petersburg. which also contains the tombs of state prisoners. He was chilled by them. Reading his tombs while I was yet searching Emperor Alexander....

monarchs against whom they conspired - I should respect it; but I see in it nothing more than the cynicism of absolute power - the brutal security of a despotism which feels itself safe."

"My eyes were on these ologist and filmmaker who had located them 12 years before had reburied them. (Two of them - the tsarevitch and either the elusive Anastasia or the 19-year-old Marie - are miss-

I have traveled in Russia, but account, so was I.

for them, so difficult was it to imagine that a square stone, of about the length and breadth of a bed, newly covered with a green cloth embroidered with the imperial arms, could be the cemetery of the Empress Catherine L. ing and presumed incinerated.) of Peter I, Catherine II and of so many other princes, down to the

> In this funereal citadel, the ared to me more than the living. If it had been a philosophical idea which suggested the inclosing in the same tomb the prisoners of the emperor and the prisoners of death the conspirators and the

It seems a strange place for those five innocents, who must surely have been disabused of their illusions during their months of captivity. Even so, when one reads of their meek descent of the cellar stairs, of how the girls were carrying their pet spaniel and pillows for their mother and brother, one doubts they knew what it truly meant to be a Romanov until their executioners aimed their revolvers.

New York Times Service

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Powell's Prospects

William Safire ("Too Bad. General, but You're Wrong About the Balkans, Too." Opinion, Sept. 22) appears to confirm your '50 Years Ago' excerpt of a few days earlier, where General Douglas MacArthur is quoted as saying that Japan will never again become a world power.

It may well be that army generals are not the best of prophets, but they are certainly leaders, and that is what is desperately needed in the Western world. They may even learn in office, which the present incumbent finds difficult. Dwight Eisenhower managed it well enough, and I sincerely hope that I will have the chance to vote for Colin Powell in November. The present field is somewhat less than dismal.

RICHARD L. ROCKSTROH. Chelles, France.

The Republican Party has a very basic decision to make: tract With America 'ideology and face certain defeat. It is interesting to note the positions that political columnists take on General Powell. Those closest to Washington are coming out against him; those who are for a Powell candidacy realize that the denizens

JEFFERSON WRIGHT. Anthony Lewis ("Powell

are profoundly out of touch with mainstream America.

Has a Real Chance of Success.' Opinion, Sept. 26) should have advised Colin Powell to run for vice president under Senator Bob Dole. That way, he could learn the job before applying UN Scenarios

P. C. HOLZBERGER. Logrian, France.

Wrong on Drugs

Regarding "No, Drugs Can Leave You Dead" (A. M. Rosenthal, Opinion, Sept. 23): To say that the tolerant at-titude in the Netherlands has failed is incorrect. It has not led to a huge increase in addiction. Furthermore, because much of the cannabis is grown within the country, the price remains an adequate job to continue in resort to theft to fund it. Con- house retains the confidence of trast this with Britain, where it its partners to keep the opereither draft Colin Powell as its is estimated that as much as 90 candidate in 1996 and return to percent of the $4.5 billion spent power, or continue in its "Con- on drugs each year is funded by crime. The clean needle program in the Netherlands means that only 8 percent of AIDS devoting resources to its opervictims in Holland are addicts, compared with 26 percent in the United States. To suggest that legalization would increase drug use is in- not win support in the current sulting and patronizing. The atmosphere, are considered. of Washington in all their mul- fact is that those who do not licolored ideological plumage want drugs will not take them, regardless of how easily acces sible they are, and those who do want them will get them whatever the consequences. We need to go to the root of the problem and reduce demand through education. Attempts at halting supply have failed. PATRICIA GREER.

Stonehaven, Scotland.

Regarding "A Struggling UN Must Now Appreciate the Art of the Possible" (Opinion. Oct. 7):

I enjoyed the article by Australia's foreign minister, Gareth Evans. However, I believe he misses the point with his comparisons, as interesting as they are. The point is that McDonald's commands the loyalty of many millions of customers to enable it to maintain its operations; the New York fire department is deemed fit to do low and users rarely have to existence, and Price Water-

> The issue for the United Nations is whether, given the current circumstances, its shareholders want to continue ations as presently structured. This question needs addressing before ambitious, external fundraising schemes, which would

> > JOHN MILLS.

"We sell the most valuable commodity. Time. Our core business is selling tv, radio and cable airtime. We're creating new businesses at home and expanding abroad," says Tom Olson, President/CEO of Katz Media Group Inc., an AMEX IPO in April 1995. "Since listing, the AMEX has worked with us every day. They initiate our participation in AMEX industry conferences, analyst seminars and institutional meetings to give us visibility. That's Tom Olson is big on the Amex. the commodity a $290 million company needs."

AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE. To learn about the advantages the AMEX can bring to your company, contact Chairman Dick Syron. Phone 212-306-5353. E-mail rsyron@amex.com. Web site http://www.amex.com.

Anti-Nuke Shirts Get Under Paris's Skin

By Craig R. Whitney
New York Times Service

PARIS — President Jacques Chirac was surprised and baffled by worldwide protests against his decision to resume French underground nuclear testing in the Pacific last month, his aides say; what really hurt was the feeling that France's partners in the European Union didn't like the tests.

Just how much some French officials take offense at being pilloried became abundantly clear recently to a group of 25 Danish high school students who arrived by train at the Gare du Nord wearing anti-nuclear "Chirac, non!" T-shirts and found their way barred by a phalanx of crack French police.

News of their unusual experience trickled out in Danish newspapers last week and were confirmed by French and Danish officials Monday after appearing in the French daily Le Monde. French authorities acknowledged that the facts were more or less as the newspapers reported them, and they promised a more detailed explanation by the Ministry of the Interior.

It would be "Paris, non!" for them, the ban-the-bomb Danish students from Tamby were told, unless they stripped off the offending T-shirts. After negotiation got them nowhere, they took them

This still did not satisfy the police, who warned that subversive vestments could provoke anti-French feelings and be taken as an insult to the chief of state. The forces of order took the offending young Danes under escort to their hotel near the Place de la République.

"They were sported by French border police in the train on the way down to Paris and were told then to cover up before they arrived," a high-ranking Danish diplomat said. "They settled it themselves with the police, and the embassy never heard about it until after they got back home."

France has shown itself skeptical about dropping border controls as part of European unit; French authorities are not satisfied that their neighbors are tough enough about keeping out illegal immigrants, criminals and troublemak-

Denmark is also part of the European Union, and it is as skeptical as France about surrendering vital attributes of national sovereignty. The Danish students from Tarnby set out to learn something about France, and they know now what can happen when freedom of speech and lèse-majesté conflict here.

"France is a very different country." said one of the adults involved, who preferred not to be identified in print.

Catherine Colonna, Mr. Chirac's spokeswoman, said he had known nothing of the affair, and she referred ques-tions to the national police headquarters, which referred them back to the Interior year. The diplomats also won-Mr. Kohl and friend at the annual Christian Democratic Union congress on Monday.

NATO: Claes Fights to Save His Job as Possible Successors Start to Line Up contacts were being made be lemma since preferred canditiveen capitals at senior levels dates to fill a vacancy have efbut that there had been no open

"Nobody wants to be the first to break ranks" of solidarity with Mr. Claes, an alliance offi-

"We must await the outcome" of the Belgian parliamentary vote, a NATO diplo-mat said.

Continued from Page 1

Taiwanese public unnerved by four months of tension following Mr. Lee's visit to Cornell

University, his U.S. alma mater.

it, viewing it as part of an attempt by Mr. Lee to win inter-

Mubarak Meets U.S. Aide

The Associated Press

secretary, John Dalton, met

President Hosni Mubarak on Monday to prepare for military games Nov. 11-17 in Egypt involving five countries: Egypt,

the United States, Britain,

France and the United Arab

CAIRO — The U.S. Navy

national status

China was enraged by the visfectively ruled themselves out of contention.

Douglas Hurd, for one, rebuffed overtures about the post a year ago, and since then has resigned as Britain's foreign minister to pursue a more comfortable life as a parttime board

Beijing called Mr. Lee a schemer" and "double-dealer" who should be tossed into the "dustbin of history." It conducted two rounds of missile tests near Taiwanese waters that sent jitters through Tai-

Chiao Jen-ho, vice chairman of the semiofficial Straits Exchange Foundation, which handles contacts with China in the ranged if the two leaders were

It could help dissipate Chinese suspicions that Taiwan is wavering in its commitment to eventual reunification with the

Shao Chung-hai, a National-ist legislator, said Mr. Jiang given equal status.

mainland, he said.

wan's financial markets.

The organization faces a di- ster Bank and a writer of fic- Yugoslavia proportional to its tion.

Defense Minister Volker Ruhe of Germany, for another, told the magazine Der Spiegel on Monday that he was deter-mined to stay in German poli-

Mr. Lubbers figured high on most lists because of his availability after a long political career and because the Nethermember at National Westmin- lands has more troops in ex-

But he said Taiwan should seize the chance to ease tensions inviting Mr. Jiang not as president but in the guise of a cultural exchange.

Bill Clinton.

from China.

inspection tour.

absence of official ties, said he vehemently opposed by the believed a meeting could be ar- Democratic Progressive Party, dered whether Mr. Kohl would RIVALS: Taipei Positive on China Bid to Swap Visits find him more acceptable to-As a Dane, Mr. Ellemannmade a goodwill gesture to Tai-Jensen's appointment would be wan to loster a good atmoa gesture to NATO's northern sphere for his summit meeting and southern flanks, which are later this month with President preoccupied with Russian opposition to NATO expansion, size than any other NATO member. He also would represent a smaller NATO country, which is a factor because Britain and Germany held the top post for a decade before Mr. Claes's appointment last year.

But diplomats wondered whether Mr. Lubbers was a willing candidate after the embarrassment of losing out in the race for the presidency of the European Commission last

Mr. Eyal said. But his candidacy appears to with China, even if it meant make more sense for Danish political reasons, since Mr. Ellemann-Jensen is the leading opexchange.

But an exchange of visits is left government.

the main opposition group, which advocates independence 30 Are Killed in Truck Fire

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone

— Thirty people were burned alive in a fireball after a gas Its officials said a visit by Mr. Lee would be an act of obeisance to Beijing, while a Jiang visit would become a provincial truck traveling in an army road convoy collided with a military (AP, Reuters) truck, the police said Monday.

MARCH: A Multitude of Black Men Fills Washington

Continued from Page 1

ied from Rosa Parks, heroine of the civil rights movement, to a disgraced black congressman, Gus Savage, who lost his seat after a woman in the Peace Corps accused him of taking sexual liberties with her.

Their universal theme was self-help and self-respect.

"I see history in the making," said a participant, Ray Clemons of Flint, Michigan. "Black-on-black violence is terrible. I hope some of our brothers will see what we're trying to do here and take heed of it."

In bright, chilly sunshine, stranger embraced stranger. The crowd was relaxed. Scores of members of the Nation of Islam, in suits and their trademark bow ties, lent an air of solemnity.

Mrs. Parks, whose refusal to day." give up her bus seat in Montgomery, Alabama, made her an icon of the civil rights movement three decades ago, said that she prayed "that my multi-racial and international friends," but especially black men, would seize the moment "to make changes in their lives for the better."

Daylong, the message was that blacks must lift themselves by their own show of will. Typical was Damu Smith, who represented Greenpeace USA: "We've come to say we are going to lay down our Uzis and Tech-9s and not kill each other алу тоге."

ployed. It is said you can learn more black history in jail than you can in public schools." From its opening chant in Arabic, reminiscent of the calls to prayer from minarets in the Muslim world, the meeting had a strong religious undertone.

"The vision for the Million Man March came directly from God himself." Mayor Marion S. Barry of Washington told the rally. "It was God-inspired." Yet a tinge of anger was evident. "The powers here have not wished us well," the Reverend Robert Smith called out in a morning sermon. "They took our wives, took our children, enslaved us to the point we adopted a slave mentality. In spite of what they've done to us over the years, we are here to-

"Chicago Police," read one banner, "Natural Born Killers." Another, in white, red and green and stretching 10 feet, carried portraits of O.J. Simpson and Mumia Abu-Jamal, the inmate on death row in Philadelphia who has become a rallying figure for people who say his conviction of killing a police officer was railroaded.

Heeding Mr. Farrakhan's call for withholding black economic power, some participants carried lunch bags or a bag of apples and bottles of water so they would not have to spend

CLINTON: Appeal to End Racism

Continued from Page 1

force coming so soon after the verdict in the O. I. Simpson tri-al, which highlighted racial divisions in America by the sharply different way whites and blacks reacted.

Mr. Clinton referred to tapes disclosed at the trial in which a Los Angeles police detective, Mark Fuhrman, used harsh rac-ist language and seemed to speak approvingly of police brutality.
Urging whites to denounce such rhetoric, the president said: Too many destructive one policeman should fill you with outrage."

"So I say we must clean the house of white America of rac-The same must be done by black America, he added.

"There are too many today, white and black, on the left and the right, on the street corners and the radio waves, who seek to sow division for their own purposes."

Mr. Clinton said black pain was understandable given a history of oppression, economic disparity, police brutality and a justice system that "in too many cases has been less than just." But he said that white fears of urban violence also are understandable.

"It isn't racist," he said, "for

Quake Hits Southern Iran

Agence France-Presse TEHRAN — An earthquake measuring 4.7 on the Richter scale hit a large part of southern Iran on Monday, the official Iran and Monday Iran and Iran a IRNA news agency reported. It gave no report of any casualties

a parent to pull his or her child close when walking through a high crime neighborhood." It's not racist for whites to assert that the culture of welfare dependency, out of wedlock pregnancy and absent fatherhood cannot be broken by social programs, unless there is first more personal responsibil-

Mr. Clinton said America's racial divide presents an oppor-tunity to face the truth, under-stand each other, and try to become a better people. "Today we face a choice," he way, the path of courage and offices. "Dor ciliation and a rich opportunity for all to make the most of the lives God has given them.

man that probably can't be em- families on this "holy day." But a handful of women came any-

'I'm here as a single, professional black woman to show my said one, Phillippa Braxton of Laurel, Maryland. They have it harder than a lot of black cent days that the most basic support for our black men," women do in terms of job op-portunities and education."

toting, drug-selling stereotype that's portrayed in the media,"

Call for Unity Continued from Page 1

KOHL:

tained even after currency union is achieved. It is an idea that has upset other Europeans who fear that it will mean they will lose control over their own budgets.

Mr. Kohl went some way to confirming those apprehen-sions Monday by declaring: Together with the people, we will build the future of Germany and the future of Europe."

The party congress, more over, is set to approve a resolution Monday urging that tight fiscal controls be made a permanent feature of European economic management. For Germans of Mr. Kohl's generation, the pressures for tight fiscal controls are as much historic as economic, for it was the rampant inflation of the prewar Weimar Republic that paved the way for Hitler's rise. Mr. Kohl's vision is fueled by the apparent conviction that, without unity, Europe's history of war and destruction will repeat itself.

To anyone who says this is inadmissible histrionics. I ask this question: Who among us five years ago would have be-lieved that the Balkans would have fallen so rapidly into fraucidal war, to ethnic hounding, to rape, murder and death?" he

In making his pitch, Mr. Kohl seemed to be staking out lonesome ground. His finance minister, Theo Waigel, recently upset the currency markets and the Italian government by saying that Italy, a founder member of the European Union, would not make the criteria for currency union.

Michael Portillo, Britain's defense secretary, upset the pan-European Germans the other day by saying British sol-diers would fight for Britain, but never for Brussels, where the European Union bureaucracy is based.

political alliance driving Eurortunities and education."

pean integration — between

This will show America that France and Germany — had the black man isn't some gun-faltered with the replacement of the pro-European François Mitterrand with the Gaullis (AP, Reuters) Jacques Chirac.

ARMY: Russians Dodging Draft

Continued from Page 1

manpower and the air defense commands 80 percent, but infantry levels are falling below

40 percent. One man simply cannot perform several functions in battle," General Galkin said.

The military hoped the fall recruitment campaign would bolster its ranks to 77 percent of the authorized level by adding 224,000 soldiers, but there are signs that draft evasion is be-coming even more widespread. In 1989, the Soviet Union listed 2,800 draft evaders. By this spring's call-up, outright draft-dodging had mushroomed to 10 times that number, the Defense Ministry said.

mood that draft-dodging, or at least finding a way to wangle more money from parents. Parents of the control of From the black writer Jawanza Kanufu: "A black men only — asking women to man that can't read is a black stay at home and care for their of discussion today. In Moscow's subway stations, women often sell literature, including

> It is also possible to purchase openly, for less than the equivalent of $2, a copy of the military's detailed instructions to doctors listing every possible ment. ailment that qualifies youths for deferment.

Peddlers sell the documents every Monday evening outside the offices of the Russian Committee of Soldiers' Mothers, a group established in 1989 to expose human rights violations in the army and help youths and mothers resist the draft.

The group's weekly "counselideas are gaining currency in said. "One way leads to further ing" must be held on the street our midst. The taped voice of separation and bitterness and or in the alley because there is more lost futures. The other not enough room in its cramped

"Don't panic — and don't send your sons!" shouted Valentina Melnikova, press secre-tary of the mothers' group,

Britain Bars Front Door At No. 10 to Journalists

LONDON - Britain's political journalists will no longer pass through the country's most famous front door — at No. 10 Downing Street, the prime minister's residence and office — for off-the-record briefings.

A new briefing room was opened in the basement of Prime Minister John Major's office on Monday and correspondents will reach it by a side entrance.

Journalists formerly gathered in the hall at No. 10 before being ushered into the crowded office of the prime minister's press secretary for unattributable insights into the workings There is some consolation to being barred from the front door. For one, the new room is equipped with the previously unimagined luxury of individual desks and chairs. "Welcome to the Pleasuredome," an official told arriving journalists on Monday. "You'll no longer have to rest your notebooks on one another's backs." standing in a doorway under a bare light bulb. "If your son is now being documents," she said. "Make a list of the documents. Be very careful: They lose important medical certificates and all kinds of things that might be vital. Don't send your sons until you know all the procedures. While outright draft evasion carries the risk of penalties, thousands of young men and their parents try to find other ways to get deferments and exemptions, often illegally.

Registration is carried out by local authorities and has become rife with corruption. Mrs. Melnikova said local committees often misplaced It is a reflection of the public critical documents or refused to more money from parents. Parents are willing to pay.

According to one Moscow mother, who did not want to be identified, it is simply a matter copies of the military code, de-tailing the complex regulations of finding the right doctor who, perhaps for $800, will sign paper scriffying to some child-hood illness on the deferment list. For a larger sum, about $5,000, it is possible to bribe local officials to grant a defer-

For those who are more desperate, there are clinics in Moscow that will "create" disqualifying health problems, such as a gastric ulcer, for a fee.

TO OUR READERS IN FRANCE

It's never been easier to subscribe and save with our new toll free service. Just call us today at 05-437 437

14, RUE DE LA PAIX-PARIS 1º

International Education

Oxford Displays Degree of Anger

By Barry James

ROM its appearance, replete with an official- for entry into Oxford Univerlooking lion crest and sity, nor are they recognized by pictures of Oxford's U.S. universities. But Warmbordreaming spires, the "home page" on the Internet by Warn-borough College looks as though it comes from Oxford University itself.
Under a headline, "The Traditions of Oxford University and Warnborough College, the school invites overseas students to join the epicenter of learning." The text goes on to say that Oxford University is a federation of 36 colleges - but what the potential student might miss is the fact that Wamborough College is not one

If they read on carefully, they will discover that Warnborough College "maintains independence from the University" and has "a legal and administrative independence in order to afford this great learning experience to students from around the world."

The real Oxford University is furious. It considers that Warnborough College's Internet presentation misleads potential students into believing they will be getting a proper English univer-

In fact, Warnborough has no charter to issue degrees in Mike Skibo wanted to strike out Britain. It is recognized merely on their own and start a highas "an established college for tech company in San Diego, adult education" by the local making metal matrix composite council. The publicity says the components. Both men had college is "a major gateway for overseas students into Oxford."

'Traditionally from the University, U.S. and and they hold several patents other international students at between them. But going into the undergraduate level may now receive the same high level of education formerly reserved for a continuing-education for British students," it says.

International Students...

Let Kaplan

Help You!

undergraduates at Oxford.
One thing is certain. The qualifications issued by Warnborough college do not qualify ough College is in Oxford albeit several miles away from the university. The university has not taken legal action, and is seeking to resolve the issue by persuasion, a spokesman said. Officials at Warnborough College refused to comment, referring inquiries to a lawyer the school has a office. Mr. Adler admitted that the Washington state attorney general's office had filed a lawsuit against Warnborough, accusing it of engaging in "unfair and deceptive acts and practices."

BARRY JAMES is on the staff of the International Herald Tri-

The spires of Oxford: A local school's advertising has set off a dispute.

American Schools Offer Business Courses in Asia

Institutions Seek to Fill Need For Managers as Economies Boom

By Jon Lidén

ONG KONG — For most people, the university years are associated with campus life, too much to read and too little money to spend. So what is the University of Michigan Business School doing at the luxurious Grand Hyatt Erawan Hotel in Bangkok? Educating Asia's new class of managers and business executives has become one of the spin-off industries of Asia's breakneck economic develop-

The University of Michigan is just one of hundreds of Westem universities trying to profit years, with 20,000 employees laid off in the area by Inter-classes, people with mainframe training learning how to use PCs," said Eleanor Charwat, executive director of the school

national Business Machines

from Asia's vast training ing to fully accepted MBA de

In a recent sweep through Hong Kong, Singapore and courses in "strategic marketing planning," borrowing the mod-el of corporate conferences by combining "unique value" with luxury settings and hefty

Most local universities have not been given the resources to mand for trained managers. since tertiary education often the programs we are now run-has had to yield to physical in-ning." frastructure and other investment needs of cash-strapped Asian governments.

In countries like India, China and Vietnam, the universities have to restructure their faculties and learn modern business methods from scratch before they can begin teaching

While Asian students continue to fill campuses in Europe, Australia and North America, there is a huge market of potential students who do not have the means or the time needed to go overseas for training. Moreover, Asian companies increasingly demand traintaking computer networking ing that is adapted to local conditions, while at the same time they prefer degrees from well-known universities.

of adult education at Marist Over the past five years, College in Poughkeepsie, New dozens, if not hundreds, of uni- plier. versities have come to Malaysia offering courses of different Highly trained professionals, said Marti Thompson, physicists and hard scientists. whose skills suddenly were no director of the Educational Information Center at the longer required, recycled themselves as paralegals, social Malaysian-American Commisworkers, artists and advertising sion on Educational Exchange. The same is the case for most writers. Some even took truck-other East Asian countries. The courses vary from the tional capacity. short seminars that the Univerministration programs taught by university faculty and lead-

ce. ons of-

'We don't feel we are any threat" to the domestic edu-Bangkok, it offered one-week cation system." said Edward Yost, coordinator for one of four MBA programs the University of Ohio is now offering in Malaysia.

"For the time being," he added, "there is a lack of facteaching load. We are partners : keep up with the exploding de- with local universities and eventually they will take over-

Mr. Yost said the University of Ohio, which has been working in Malaysia for more than 20 years, has had to adapt its program as the Malaysian corporate sector has become increasingly sophisticated. The university has developed a new corporate MBA program, aimed at combining an American MBA curriculum with project work focusing on Malaysian conditions.

HE students are drawn from --- and sponsored corporations. and the program is tailored around the needs of the students and their employers. It is run on the campus of Ikatan. an institute founded and directed by Tenaga Nasional Bhd.. Malaysia's national power sup-

This is a two-way process," Mr. Yost said. "Our program in Malaysia means international experience for our faculty in Ohio. It is to our advantage to be part of an international environment. Besides, we can help Malaysia in strengthening its own educa-

Many universities are findity of Michigan is offering to ing that although there is great full Master's of Business Ad-need for graduate and postgrad-

Continued on Page 13

Adults Are Growing Force on U.S. Campuses

By Brian Knowlton

A few years ago, David Schuster and his friend doctorates in engineering from top universities, both had exexcluded tensive experience in the field.

So Mr. Schuster signed up course in entrepreneurship at An Oxford University the University of California-ockesman said this is nonsense. San Diego. He got "a lot of spokesman said this is nonsense. San Diego. He got a lot of She said there is nothing in the very practical information university's rules to reserve about how small businesses opthat there are about 80 American finances, marketing, all as-business was another matter.

province of dropouts and bored faculty spouses, continuing education increasingly caters to already skilled, and often highly educated, people. Classes may be full of people like Mr. Schuster and Mr. Skibo, who want to make the most of their talents, or those who are seeking to remain employable at a time when human competence is a highly perishable commod-

Trying to help students keep up with a fast-changing job market, continuing education programs themselves have had to become quick and agile, the better ones forming a sort of rapid-reaction force on the edge of traditional education.

A boom in continuing education that began 10 to 15 dous growth. courses for British students, and erate," he says now, "about years ago still echoes, making adults the "new majority" in sion, however, is simply econ-

Once viewed by many as the ens, associate dean at the University of Maryland's University College, put it. Campus after campus reports big enrollment increases since 1980 — in some cases, as much as a dou-

A changing work force and a democratization of American democratization of American education helps explain this.
Thus, a surprisingly high 80 percent of the 35,000 students Women and minorities tend to at the San Diego continuing edpursue education much further ucation campus Mr. Schuster than in the past. And older people are generally healthier and wealthier than their forefathers and seem keenly interested in becoming wiser. Programs like Elder Hostel, which offers serious one continuing education spe-seminars in locales as exotic as cialist that if they didn't do so, the flank of a Hawaiian volcano forest, have enjoyed tremen-

Much of the overall expan- them.

sidered just as important as the course content itself.

a problem solving, team building skills and personal development.

evolving and often downsizing; the knowledge and abilities required to stay alive are fast becoming more complex, and more and more, as Dr. Nickens Corp.

Corp.

We had Ph.D. physicists responsibility of the worker to attended are college graduates, one-third of them with graduate

Some adults take courses because they need to keep up -like the pharmacists who told their skills would be outdated or the heart of a Bolivian rain within eight months — while driving classes, said Dr. Charothers do so only after the floor has dropped out from under

The international business community of tomorrow is studying for an MBA at Bath University today.

It's not surprising that "LE NOUVEL ECONOMISTE" included the UNIVERSITY OF BATH in their list of the top twenty international

Our one year FULL-TIME PROGRAMME is structured to give you an extensive General Mazagement education, with the emphasis

Whereas our EXECUTIVE PROGRAMME allows you to study on Friday and Saturday each alternate weekend over a two year period

For fall details telephone, write or fax quoting REFERENCE : IET1/95
Executive Programme Tel : 01225 826211 - Fail-Time Programme Tel : 01225 826152 - Fax Ko. 01225 826210
Centre For Executive Berelopment. University of Bath. Claverion Down, Bath. BA2 7AY

People from all over Europe are choosing to study for their MBA at Bath. They know about our high acade

EXCELLENT by the leading UK education assessment authority HEFCE (Higher Education Funding Council for England). The global focus of our course concentrates on integrated international business culture where the interaction with fellow and is designed to give you an intensive management education which you will apply, as you learn, within your present organisa. So, for the opportunity to join the business leaders of tomorrow, contact as today.

Meeting the changing needs

Continued on Page 12

INSEAD

25 February - 5 April 1996

arch

: the hers they

port

sup-e re-ulies

1 flat. . Short ———

m. flot le living i 9613 SHED

17 sqm. dining. 501207

DWIDE

Jefvery $27,975 cossetie $20,975 cwspec $36,428 $27,997 July 200 $119,200 $31,428 $22,911 $37,821 $23,911 $37,822 $17,622

The day you move from managing a function to managing a business may be the most critical in

Our International Executive Programme could make the difference

TNSEAD offen a great gripe with the "global paradox" You not only fine wp-class foculty, but learn hy exchanging experiences incuous and from vour career

When you take on a new role, you face different, often daunting challenges. For twenty five years this programme has helped people like you master them. Which issues matter and which don't: What strategies are important? How can you best manage and lead others? How can you quickly understand functions you're not familiar with? How do you manage change in the context of a particular corporate culture? And what about managing your own career: Subjects you cover include, quality and operations management, information technology, financial management, economic and political analysis, accounting and control, strategic management, marketing, organisational behaviour and human resource management During six exhibitating weeks, you work in changing groups, which reflect the mixture of nationalities and experience (On average, 20) nationalities attend each programme). Case studies are the main learning vehicle, plus a rich variety of lectures, discussions and seminars. A management simulation confronts you with the realities of international management, helping you appreciate and cope with - the risks, problems and opportunities

The programme is ideal if you are moving into divisional or general management, are a general manager in a medium sized company, or an entrepreneur. For your copy of our comprehensive brothure, fax or post the form below, or phone Janes.

on 33 (1) 60 72 42 90, e-mail execed@insead.fr. Our new programme brochure is now available

REPLY TODAY FOR YOUR COMPLIMENTARY COPY

MBA IN INNOVATION, STRATEGY AND INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY Today's corporate challenges re-

THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY OF ROME

DEGREE PROGRAMS A.A. Interdisciplinary Studies

TOEFU-USMEE-COFNS-NOLEX-NDB-GMAT-GRE-LSAT-MOAT-SA

for the TOEFL Exam

F-1 Visa Information and

Multiple Media Learning Laboratory

Over 50 Locations across the USA

Classes Start Soon! Call For Ini 212-262-498

A.A.A. Business Administration B.B.A. International Business B.A. International Relations B.A. Italian Studies B.A. Interdisciplinary Studies

SUMMER SESSIONS SEMESTER STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM HOUSING IN STUDIO APARTMENTS

figur University of Rome is accredited by the Accrediting Council characters Colleges and Schools distant with major U.S. hashations. For further information contact:

American University of Rosse Dept. 601, Via Pietro Roseili 4-00153 Rome, Raly

IFAM

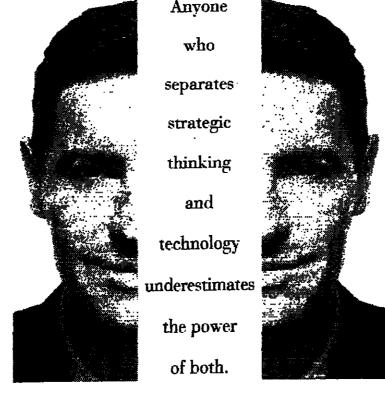

THE BEST WAY FOR THE M.B.A. Since 1982, the Institut Franco-American de Management (IFAM) prepares students with its 4-year program for an MBA diploma from a major American university and the IFAM diploma.

In addition to IFAM's associate university and the IrAM diploma. In addition to IFAM's associate universities, University of Hartford, North-eastern University in Boston, Pace University in New York, where students study in their 3rd or 4th year, IFAM also maintains privileged ties with prestigious American graduate schools. IFAM students, therefore, complete their MBA at the University of students, therefore, complete their MBA at the University of Pennsylvania (Wharton), University of Chicago, Indiana U., University of Wisconsin, Duke U., George Weshington U., Mac Gill U.

In 1986, IFAM's rapid development led to the creation of the program, MBA University. In association with top American business schools, this program offer a 1-year MBA to university

IFAM集 INSTITUT FRANCO-AMERICAIN DE MANAGEMENT

Tél.: 33 (1) 47 34 38 23 - Fax: 33 (1) 47 83 31 72

er. One that can successfully integrate innovation, strategy and information technologies. The Theseus MBA is offered in collaboration with some of Europe's leading high-tech corporations. It is an Intensive 10-month program in English, designed to prepare a new generation of leaders. World class faculty and the program's unique focus make it an excellent choice for talented professionals seeking outstanding career development. The Institute's state-of-the-art facilities are located on the French Riviera in Sophia Antipolis, Europe's foremost technology park. Period of program : September 96 - July 97. Completed applications by May 31, 1996.

quire a different kind of manag-

Creating a common understanding between management and technology.

For more information, contact Tina Ciordano, THESEUS Institute, BP 169, 06903 Sophia Antipolis Cedex, France Tel.: (33) 92 94 51 11 - Fax: (33) 93 65 38 37 E-mail: giordano@theseus.fr - web: http://www.theseus.fr/

INSFAD Farentive Education, Boulevard de Curatanico, 77305 Francisco-bleva Codes, Francis Title: Mr/Mrs/Dr./Other Company Address___

INKPLUSINTERNET*

Your 21st-Century Recruiting Solution

When you have a critical job to fill—in any academic field—look no further than The Chronicle of Higher Education's unique combination of Ink and

With ink. The Chronicle provides the world's largest job marketplace for people with advanced degrees, reaching 450,000 readers every week.

On the Internet, it's ACADEME THIS WEEK," bringing The Chronicle's job listings to tens of thousands of additional readers. Try it for yourself:

World-Wide Web: http://chronicle.merit.edu Gopher: chronicle.merit.edu

For details, send an e-mail message via the Internet to: inkplus@chronicle.com or contact us via fax or mail:

THE CHRONICLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION

1255 Twenty-Third Street, N.W. Washington, DC 20037 U.S.A. Fax: 1-202-296-2691

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION / A SPECIAL REPORT

Travel for Learning Is on the Rise

By Lisa Twaronite

When Barbara Jones signs up for a trip, she expects more than to the same region of the counbe trotted to various tourist attractions. "I'm just not interested in doing the kind of traveling my mother and I did when I was young, and we saw all the palaces, all the sites. I want to earn something." she says.

For more than a decade, the Santa Barbara. California, resident has tarips a year, most of them contained on her integer.

Choosing a study leader is the key to a successful trip, she said, because, "if you get a bummer, it could be a very bortists or her integer." them centering on her interest in horticulture.

"The tour groups sometimes gather in advance for slide shows," she said, "They're usually sponsored by arboretums, botanical gardens or na-ture conservancies, and have horticulturists and biologists along.''

Travelers like Ms. Jones who want more than just a simple vacation can choose from an increasingly wide array of educational tours offered by both nonprofit institutions and private companies and are likely to find a tour geared to their specific areas of interest.

Many of the tours Ms. Jones perhaps even a third or fourth has taken were arranged by Ann priority," she said. "The typ-Learned Sween, director of Santa Barbara-based Learned Journeys. For 18 years, Ms. well-traveled, physically and mentally active. They come Sween has been a wholesale from many age groups, altour operator for nonprofit though because they have time groups specializing in natural and money, they are apt to be history and cultural studies.

"Each tour is like its own Educational tours are hardly a new idea, but they have been attracting more attention in recent years as travelers become more savvy about finding exactly what they want.

ing time."

primarily for recreation.

continuing

Some programs offer academic or education credits

"Education is secondary, or ical patron is well-educated, for their tours.

such tours a year. "A Louisiana ly has the idea caught up with plantation tour is going to be the mainstream market, and it's very different from a history- a growing market," said J. either for three academic cred-of-jazz tour, even if they are to Mara DelliPriscoli, managing its or "audit" status. director of Nonprofits in Travel Conferences, a Montana-based She selects her tour leaders industry group.

The group will hold its 10th annual conference next year in from institutions such as muannual conference next year in the group.
the Washington area. It is to be a forum on issues affecting the industry, and some 140 nonprofthe group.

"It's an upper division course," said Mary Pierant, dindustry, and some 140 nonprofrector of travel programs. "We seums and universities and asks them to provide bibliographies and reading lists before the it groups, 70 tour operators and 25 foreign government tourist offices are expected to attend.

The Internal Revenue Service is now developing guide-lines for what constitutes an ed-Ms. Sween said she recognized that most people take tours, even educational tours. ucational tour. At present, local offices of the agency have no single standard for determining whether any income from a tour should be tax-free for its sponsoring nonprofit organization,

Ms. DelliPriscoli said. In addition, Nonprofits in Travel Conferences has compiled an electronic database called Network for Educational Travel. Although the database is now available only to travel planners, the organization hopes to open it to the general public. For a small fee, potential travelers would be able to access profiles of different programs offered by the nonprofit organizations. 'Historically, learning was not in the classroom," Ms. DelliPriscoli said. "You'd send your son to Europe for a few years to study the classics. The students of the future will learn more in nontraditional ways." In fact, a number of existing programs offer either academic or continuing education credits little creation," said Ms. Natural History began offering learning has held its annual Eu-Sween, who organizes 10 or 12 tours in the 1950s, but only late-ropean Seminar every year for the last decade. Those taking the tour are required to enroll

San Francisco State University's College of Extended ership in the community.

Every year, the tour visits different companies in different European countries, where executives conduct seminars for have to follow guidelines for our accreditation body."

"The trips that do best are the ones that have a following," said Eve Haberfield, director of the Department of Humanities, Sciences and Health Sciences for the extension program of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Among the most popular UCLA Extension trips are astronomy tours led by Dr. E. C. Krupp, director of the Griffith Park Observatory. "We get about a third repeat business on those," Ms. Haberfield said. "We include places the regular commercial tours don't visit, such as obscure ancient astronomy sites.'

The private sector also abounds with educational tours tailored to individual interests, some of which also offer continuing-education credits.

For 17 years, Power Places Tours & Conferences of Laguna Beach, California, has specialized in what its literature describes as "spirit-centered These include a conference on 'Life, Death and Beyond' at the Great Pyramid of Egypt. A tour to India next year will feature an address by the Dalai Larna about enlightened lead-

Trips can be made to English gardens, and Glacier Bay.

A Caribbean cruise called they're visiting, or nurses visit "Intuition Voyage: Enhance Your Sixth Sense at Sea" is aimed at business people, said Teri Weiss, vice president of Power Places Tours.

We want to teach people how to develop their intuition. how to get that little voice inside of you to give you that edge over the competition," Ms. Weiss said.

In conjunction with its main tours, Power Places Tours can sometimes arrange a side concentration for travelers with individual needs to fill educational requirements.

'We set teachers up with local schools in the country Angeles.

Charwat of Marist College put it.

are "impatient, nervous, uncermessage to workers, said Dr. more focused on gaining skills education program, which has linked directly to the job market.

Many are preparing themselves

Practicality is the new by-word. Computer skills are most in demand, along with anything related to business or technology. "People are understanding where the future is, and they're going to be there," said Drew W. Allbritten, executive director of the American Association for Adult and Continuing Ed-mean pedestrian. Seemingly anything that could lead to a job or business opportunity is on the market somewhere. Nicholls State University in Thibodeaux, Louisiana, offers

'An Introduction to Emu

Farming." (Emu farming is serious business in the area: There

Cajun country of Lafourche and

As continuing education programs seek to respond to a fast-forged closer ties to local busithan traditional colleges have Terrebonne parishes.)

often had.

But practical doesn't have to ucation, in Washington.

for dramatic career changes.

local hospitals and health programs," Ms. Weiss said.

Like all other travel, educational tours are subject to uncertainties of weather and, of course, human error. Whether people choose a tour organized by a nonprofit group or a private company. Ms. Weiss advised that they select a tour organizer with a reputation for disappear as quick as the wind," she said.

lance journalist based in Los Gerald Heeger, dean of New an annual enrollment of 60,000.

credible program with the Bal-

The agility of today's conbeen enhanced by experiments with delivery of their services.

To bring classes to where stu-dents are. Adelphi University on Long Island tried teaching courses on commuter trains.

courses on the Internet, Students as far afield as Antarctica and Volgograd, Russia, are tak-

University of Minnesota's Department of Independent Study.
Using World Wide Web pages and virtual office hours, the instructor of one course says he has more, not less, communication with students than in his something one does only early ing world is fast receding. "Before," said Drew W. Allbritten, executive director of the American Association for Adult and the train, that was it, you were ternational Herald Tribune's

The notion of education as traditional courses.

ing on-line courses from the

Now some schools offer

That was a few years ago.

"Johns Hopkins has an in-

There are dozens of MBAs but only one ESSEC Executive MBA ESSEC

INTERNATIONAL

You are a rising manager with several years' experience and ambitious plans for the future. Can you afford to miss out on an international MBA that will give you a competitive advantage for your future? At ESSEC you can gain that management advantage and continue on your career path.

The ESSEC Executive MBA is a multicultural program, raught in English and French, starting in july 1996.

To receive your application pack, call: * Catherine Bourgeot or Thierry Godart on 33-(1) 46.92.21.00.

Next session: July 1996 to December 1997 95 days spread over several Fridays and Saturdays
 Selection of applicants in progress

ESSEC IMD - CNIT - 2 Place de la Défense - BP 230 - 92053 PARIS LA DEFENSE - Tél. : 33 (1) 46.92.21.00 - Fax : 33 (1) 46.92.21.01

COLLEGE PREPARATORY SCHOOL ABOARD A TALL SHIP

ÉTUDES PRÉ-UNIVERSITAIRES À BORD D'UN GRAND VOILIER

L'ECOLE EN MER VOTRE VISA POUR UNE EDUCATION

INTERNATIONALE DEPUIS 1984

Préstigieux collège privé canadien offre un progra d'études aux étudiants de l le année, 12e année et du collègial à bord du S/V Concordia. un grand voilier de 58m.

Nous offrons entre autres, les cours suivants: mathématiques, biologie marine. politique internationale, économie, littérature internationale et anthropologie.

Naviguez autour du monde et visitez plus de 30 pays. Choisissez un semestre de 5 mois ou une année académique complète. Inscrivez-vous dès maintenant pour le session de janvier ou d'août 1996.

Frais de scolarité:

14,000 $U.S. Année complète: 24,000 $U.S.

-

Prestigious Canadian private school offers grade

II and I2 equivalent aboard the 188' barkentine

S.V. Concordia

We offer a traditional college/university preparatory curriculum including Marine Biology, Giobal Issues, World Literature and Anthropology.

Sail around the world visiting over 30 ports of call.

Choose a 5 month semester or Excellent University Placement. Apply immediately for January or August 1996 sailings Tuition Fees: $14,000 U.S. Full year: $24,000 U.S.

WEST ISLAND COLLEGE

1-800-301-SAIL

of downsizing has required tend to respond to employers' agility not just of laid-off work-needs far more speedily than ers but of continuing education colleges traditionally have schools, she noted. Adminis- done.

JOHN F. KENNEDY INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL

Getaed - Switzerland ook forchidden 5-14 years Sound preparation for English tenguage securitary annly almosphere, French, sports, daily skång in worder exceptions act a Summer Camp July/August experience combining language instruction in English or French with a variety of sports, activities camping shalls and excursions

900390013

A multilingual school in the center of Paris

from kindergarten through high school Balance between studies, sports and arts

Daily multilingual teaching: French, English and German

5, rue de Lubeck, 75116 PARIS - FRANCE

Tel.: 40 70 12 81 - Fax: 40 70 91 07

From the desire to learn to the pleasure of communication

9 lessons per day and socio-cultural activities with the teachers. 66 hours per week

FRENCH - GERMAN - SPANISH - ITALIAN JAPANESE - DUTCH - ENGLISH Residential centres in: France - Belgium - Ireland - Spain - USA

Also French and English courses for young people.

HEAD OFFICES in Belgum: Chaican CERAN Tel.: (32) 87 79 11 22

m phe USA. Languagency 24 Prespect Avenue USA - NORTHAMPTON MA 0(060 Tel.: (4) 3) 584-0334 Fax: (413) 584-3046

Ref.: Coca-Cola, McKinsey, German Horeign Office. State Department. Renault since 1975, language courses for motivated people!

Travel-Study programs Est. 1928 55 acre rench campus in beautiful Scottschile
Call Henry C. Wick
Yale B.A. Dir.
602-948-7731 Scottsdale Arizona

The Career

Character adulate unit of adulate courses in:

Business Adultinistration — Information

System — Plant Communication

IHT 10/5

reliability. Sometimes travel agencies

Today's students, as Dr. across the border, between Mex-harwat of Marist College put it. ico and the United States, "said

tain about the future," and thus York University's continuing Duke University's continu- timore police force. And my course titled Alternative Ca- estate community - which the reers for Lawyers, taught by a school of business doesn't former Washington lawyer who have." Even in traditional proand became a scuba-diving in- on "immediacy and relevance as

LISA THARONITE is a free-

In U.S., Adults Are a Growing Force on Campus sending employees back to college as they downsize. The themselves

Continued from Page 11

trators of those schools read help-wanted ads to see who's sometimes ease the transition, looking and who's hiring. They Charwat, is "not to look at employment as life-long. Continuing-education ministrators like to quote a Labor Department estimate that ing education program offers a school has strong ties to the real the average American leaving school today will change jobs seven times in his or her life and make dramatic career changes quit, went to the Virgin Islands grams, he said, emphasis is now So the profile of the typical structor, Marilyn Hartman, di- opposed to a broad theoretical adult-education student has rector of the short-course pro- curriculum." changed. There are proportion- gram at Duke, says the class is ately fewer blue-collar workers very popular among burned-out tinuing education programs has seeking to better themselves or attorneys. unemployed housewives and husbands taking courses in wine-tasting or pottery-making. There are more and more trying precariously to ride the ob-market wave.

Companies

For many, continuing education is "an exercise in reading and controlling the future," says Joyce A. Feucht-Haviar, associate dean of academic affairs at the University of Virginia. "Professional life is uncertain. Employment is chancy. Education and marketable skills are the keys."

have experienced success

Boarding grades 3-12. College Prep.ESL and academic suppor Extensive Activities, Athletics, has played a "major role in link-ing the business communities Washington bureau chief.

University of California, Riverside International Education Programs at UCR Extension offers a variety of year-round intensive daytime are about 60 emu farms in the in life before entering the work-changing business environ- Continuing Education, in ment, they have in many cases Washington, "if you missed ness and community groups out of luck. Now you can catch

The UC-San Diego program BRIAN KNOWLTON is the Init anytime."

certificate programs and English language programs Professional Programs

INTENSIVE FORMAT (2- TO 4-WEEK, DAYTIME CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS)

MANAGEMENT FOR INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVES (2 WEDGS - FEE, AUG.)

M MARKETING (3 WEELS - MARCH)

MARKETING (3 WEELS - MARCH)

BEANKING AND FINANCE (3 WEEKS - MAL NOVEMBER)

BHUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT (3 WEEKS - NOVEMBER)

MINVENTORY, WASHOUSE AND LOGISTICS MANAGEMENT (4 WEEKS - FEE.)

E MANAGEMENT OF NOT-FOR-PROFIT ORGANIZATIONS (3 WEEKS - JUNE) Environmental management & energy

MAR QUALITY MANAGEMENT (2 WEEKS - AFRIL)

MAR ATTENNATIVE ENERGY TECHNOLOGIES (3 WEEKS - MAN)

MENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION PREVENTION AND CONTROL (4 WEEKS - OCT.)

MEGIS - GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS (2 WEEKS - NOVEMBER)

THE AMERICAN LEGAL SYSTEM (2 WEEKS - (ANUAKY, (ULV)) CUSTOMIZED PROGRAMS CUSTOM-DESIGNED PROGRAMS AVAILABLE YEAR-ROUND

English Language Programs

E INTENSIVE ENGLISH PROGRAM (4 WERES; 10 WERES)

E CONVERSATION AND AMERICAN CULTURE PROGRAM (1-4 WERES)

E AMERICAN BUSINESS CULTURE & COMMUNICATION (4 WERES; 10 WERES)

E IMPROVING ORAL FLUSING PROGRAM (4 WERES; 10 WERES)

E ARTS AND HUMAINTIES PROGRAMS (4 WERES; 10 WERES)

E DESIGN-YOUR-OWN PROGRAM (ENGLES AND UNIVERSITY CLASSES)

E STECIAL PROGRAMS (SURFECT AND LENGTH OF YOUR CHARGE)

E TEACHING ENGLISH TO SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES - TESOL

(4-WERE; 9-MONTH)

FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT INTERNATIONAL EQUATION PROGRAMS, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA EXTENSION 1200 UNIVERSITY AVENUE, DEPT. HT - RIVERSIDE, CA 92507-1596 U.S.A. FIMALL UGINER GUIOX, DERLEY PHONES (509) 787-1346 FAM: (909) 787-5791 WED SITE: HTTPU/WYWWINEX, UCR. EDUILEHOME PAGE, HTML

In Global Business, A DePaul MBA , Makes A World Of Difference.

I 8-Month MBA in International Marketing and Finance (MBA/IMF)

it's the world's only MBA program devoted exclusively to international marketing and finance. An AACSBaccredited MBA that will give you the competitive edge. Offered through the prestigious Kellstadt Graduate School of Business, ranked among the nation's top ten part-time MBA programs by U.S. News & World Report.

Call (312)362-8811 today. Or return the coupon at right by mail or fax, (312)362-6677.

mbaimi@wppost.depaul.edu

Interner: hap://www.depaul.edu/kelistadir

AELLSTADT GRADUATE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS • CHICAGO

DePaul University Kellstadt Graduate School of Business MBA/IMF E Jackson Blvd., Chicago, IL 60604 ax (312)362-6677 55N CityState/Zip

Located in the heart of Chicago's business district, DePaul University gives you access to the largest network of business alumni in

Intensive 18-Month

Curriculum A case study approach combines marketing and financial decision-making with an international business perspective.

Ten weeks are spent learning the global

one or more multi-

The Chicago

business practices of national corporations

Practicum

International Business

 15 campuses across Europe European University INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SCHOOL ANTWERP MONTREUX Amerikaler 131, B-2000 Antwerp, Belgium. Tel: 32 3 218 54 31 Fax: 32 3 218 58 68 BRUSSELS Route de Fontanivent, CH-1817 Fontanivent-Montreux, Switzerland. Tel: 41 21 964 84 64 Fax: 41 21 964 84 68 THE HAGH Please send documentation about the following European University TOULOUSE ATHEKS Undergraduate programs (88A, BIS, BA) BARCELONA ☐ Graduate programs (MBA, MIS, MA) LISBON MADRID Name PORTO CRANS-HONTAÑA GENEYA MUNICH

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION / A SPECIAL REPORT

Scotland Savors Distant Dream of Creating New University

By Conrad de Aenlie

ONDON — The best and worst aspect of farther reaches of Scot- mass to form a university. land is the remoteness. Being immersed in mountains, sky, water and trees can clear a perwater and trees can clear a per-son's head, but with no uni-lated skepticism in several versities, it can be filled back up quarters, particularly among again only up to a point.

The University of the High-lands and Islands is being created so that students may learn in a physical environment that is almost unique in Europe without being held back by the lack of facilities of the sort usually found only in population amounts to a virtual campus unlike those on offer at most linking about a dozen local colleges via the Internet, enabling them to share resources such as library databases and to offer classes using video conferenc-

By David Tracey

been using multimedia tools to

Now a few schools are be-

One of the pioneers is ginning to show an interest in the study of multimedia itself.

Columbia College in Chicago, which offers an undergraduate degree in multimedia studies.

Others adapt theoretical courses about it into existing departments such as computer science or communications, while leaving applied multimedia to their continuing education programs.

vate companies offer the widest choices for anyone interested in the nuts and bolts of creating

Charles Tremewen, coordina-multimedia. But, cautions

tor of a new program that will offer a certificate in multimedia studies at the University of British Columbia in Vancou-will weed themselves out, but for now there are a lot of places ver, not all will last.

Technical schools and prihelp teach their students.

ORONTO — A small but growing group of

leges world-wide have

bined academic wealth of the Fisheries College, implored. faculty and resources of the col- Once it does open, he does not getting educated in the leges would achieve the critical

So far, though, it remains little more than an idea. Because state education authorities, the prospect that the university will open soon is, like the surroundings, remote.
The university's backers hope eventually to provide pro- in few other places. grams, taught through a combination of face-to-face contact and electronic conferencing. that fit well with the unique The idea is to form what character of the place and are conventional institutions: rural development, environmental studies. Scottish heritage, marine science.

at the at UBC, said he was skeptical about offering a full-scale bachelor's degree in multimedia, as some institutions are.

"It's an application," said Mr. Bates. "I don't see how you could get a degree in it. It would be like getting a bach-

Among those offering mul-

The Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, Georgia, (404) 894-8556. Georgia Tech offers about a dozen courses through its Continuing Education program covering design, theory, production, and applications. A Certificate in Mul-

School of Arts (Manhattan),

(212) 998-1880. As part of its

Telecommunications Program,

NYU offers a two-year master's program that integrates

Technology, Media Lab, Cambridge, Massachusetts, (617)

253-5114. MIT offers a 12-month graduate program in Me-

Columbia College, Chica-

Massachusetts Institute of some multimedia elements.

New York University, Tisch timedia can be earned.

elor's in reading.

timedia courses are:

At a Few Pioneers, Multimedia Studies

want the university to become like "a lot of colleges pumping out the same old thing. relevant to the local economy and way of life, he said, the university would be better able to persuade Scots not to leave to further their education, while attracting students from outside Scotland who are interested in such studies and can find them

Allan Bransbury, assistant project director of Highlands land to get funding year after and Islands Enterprise in In-year for such a university." verness, the prime mover behind the endeavor, said the trick is to "make sure the generic degree programs that we would see as a necessary part of the program are sufficiently cusucational technology working first schools in the country to and marketing of multimedia at the at UBC, said he was skep- offer undergraduates a multi- products and online services.

Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, (717) 389-2094. Bloomsburg

University operates the Institute for Interactive Technologies for master's degree can-instructional design and multimedia authoring tools.

Florida State University.

Tallahassee, Florida, (904) 644-8742. Florida State University offers a master's degree nication that provides experience in the design, production, program in Interactive Commu-

interested

University.

Pennsylvania.

media major.

Bloomsburg

The organizers will need to muster their biggest and best sales pitch for the state authorities whose continuing support By offering courses that are succeed. So far, they're not buying.
"The difficulty is not with the initial capital investment to sion in Europe. put the infrastructure in place, although that would be substantial,'' said Frank Gribben, a spokesman for the Scottish Higher Education Funding Council. 'The real problem is to get the political will in Scot-

Actually, much of the infrastructure is already there. Britain is ahead of most countries in being wired up with high-speed communications hardware, and Scotland, because of the need to tomized to meet the demands of connect people scattered across 'Let's not just offer psychol- the local population. What may its challenging topography, is

University of California Extension: Berkeley, Los Angeles, Santa Cruz, (510) 642-

4111. These three University of California Extension programs offer some multimedia classes and developer-specific multi-partment of Journalism/Broad-casting, (907) 474-7761. A full-credit multimedia course titled

"Multimedia Theory and Practice" is scheduled for spring.

DAVID TRACEY is a journalist

University of Alaska, De-media programs.

based in Canada.

GET THE BEST EDUCATION

FOR YOUR CHILDREN!

Euro-internatsberatung in Munich advises parents on all matters concerning selection, assessment and utilimate placement of your children at the most appropriate boarding schools in Great Britain

Germany and Switzerland. All international school-leaving exams are possible.

In addition we arrange summer camp experiences throughout the world and one-year visits to American high-schools. Please contact us for a free copy of your catalogue.

Euro-Internatsberatung Griliparzerstr. 46 D-81675 München

Tel.: 0049/89/4555550 - Fax: 0049/89/45555544

sparsely populated but pretty close, are being linked through SuperJanet, a computer network operated by a consortium will be needed for the project to of universities and other research institutions that features the highest-capacity, meaning highest-speed, data transmis-

> "The mission of the thing is tremendous, that you could have a university in rural areas like ours," said Mr. Goodlad, whose college, with 800 fulland part-time students, is in the Islands is still at the vision Shetland Islands, the northern-stage," said Lindsey Carmost point in the British Isles:

> "But the execution is fraught," Mr. Goodlad added. "It's going slowly because you're dealing with eight or 10 partner colleges that have their higher-education institutions own agendas. There's a lot of already working in the area." parochialism creeping in. They're worried about centralization rather than devolution"

ing to students who may be viewing at home or elsewhere in the hinterlands. The coming in the hinterlands of the North Atlantic in the hinterlands of the North Atlantic in the hinterlands. The coming in the hinterlands of the North Atlantic in the Nort educational institutions in Scot-said, "we're actually making quite good progress now." He said that degree programs will likely be offered in the next two to three years.

Mr. Bransbury drew.a quick demographic sketch of the target audience that points up the difficulties of the task: "The assets we've got up here are also the challenge. It's a disperse population of 300,000, including 100,000 that live on 90 inhabited islands."

"The suggestion for a Uni-versity of the Highlands and ruthers, a spokeswoman for the Scottish Office Education Department, "and would require considerable commitment and support from the further- and

CONRAD DE AENLLE is a writer based in London:

IN SWITZERLAND HOTEL MANAGEMENT HAS ONE NAME: LES ROCHES

SWISS HOTEL ASSOCIATION HOTEL MANAGEMENT SCHOOL

"LES ROCHES" The first and only English-speaking hotel school managed by the Swiss Hotel Association

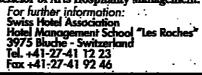

THREE AND FOUR YEAR PROGRAMMES The Hotel Management School "Les Roches" offers, on campus

Year I - Guest Relations and Service Techniques. Year II - Hospitality Essentials & Gulinary Arts. Year III - Hotel Administration & Management. January & July - Intakes of 22 weeks, plus practical training of 4-6 months in leading establishments. Successful completion leads to the: Swiss Hotel Association Diploma in Hotel Management.

Year IV - Degree Completion Programme lasting 2 x 17 weeks, is offered in collaboration on Les Roches campus - with City College Norwich / Anglia Polytechnic University UK, and leads to the:

Bachelor of Arts Hospitality Management.

Ecole Reine Astrid Scandinavian School of Brussels

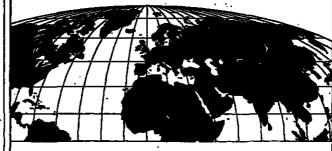

For children from 3 to 20 years of age

Chaussée de Waterloo 280 B-1640 Rhode-St-Genèse

Tél.: 02-353.13.01 Fax: 02-353.14.20

ORBONNE

CHOOSE DUKE?

World-class organisations demand executive programs that address real-business issues with the latest research.

That's why leading firms worldwide choose Duke University.

Make Duke your choice for the world's best executive programs.

GLOBAL EXECUTIVE PROGRAM Prepares senior executives from multinational enterprises for the challenges and opportunities of

EUROPE: JUNE 30 - JULY 12, 1996 ASIA: OCT 20 - NOV 1, 1996 AMERICAS: DEC 1-13, 1996

today's world markets.

GLOBAL MBA PROGRAM

An intensive, 19-month academic program leading to a master's degree in business administration (MBA)

FALL, 1996

For a detailed brochure, please contact us.

BRUSSELS

Phone: 32 (2) 655-5857 FAX: 32 (2) 655-5739 E-mail: 75677-2417@ compuserve • com

UNITED STATES Phone: 800-372-3932 FAX: 919-681-7761 E-mail: pim2@ mail • duke • edu

ADDRESS

COUNTRY

JOHN CABOT UNIVERSITY

An American University in the Heart of Rome...

- Bachelor's degrees with majors in Business Administration, Political Science, International Affairs, Art History, and English Literature.
- Quarter Calendar with five-week Summer Session;
- begin studies in September, January, April or June Study Abroad and Transfer Students welcome.
- tional student body from over 30 countries
- Maturità, or equivalent diplomas.
- American Language Program: Intensive English language preparation for University admission. ■ Management Program for professionals offered in
- cooperation with the American Management Assoc

For more information, contact the Admission Office at: JOHN CABOT UNIVERSITY la Lungare, 233 - 00165 Rome, Italy Tel.: (396) 667,6661 Fax: (396) 663.2086

Sorbonne French Language Civilisation Courses for foreign students.

hen grid the nied

well

this

t go ism.

iger, ated

is. will-slam

ıder-

arch

ree-icar-

hers

they

port sup-e re-ullies

best ! 8215

room, baite, Parking 107.

n flot. . Short

m. flat le liveng i 9613 SHED

Jelvery $29,9% consets $10,975 evepec wheels $32,997 birtogs $19,250 $29,911 $37,251 whicles $27,972 whicles $27,972

Throughout the year. Ail levels

47, rue des Ecoles

Tel.: (33 1) 40 45 22 11

Since 1955, TASIS has been 4 The American School in Switzerland

- Boarding and day programs for students aged 13-18 in Switzerland and aged 4-18 in England and Greece
- Diverse curricula: U.S. college-prep, I.B., GCSE Sports, arts, activities, extensive travel
 - The American School in Switzerland CH 6926 Montagnola-Lugano

YOU WANT TO SPEAK GERMAN? SPEAK TO US FIRST!

152 CULTURAL INSTITUTES IN 79 COUNTRIES. 16 INSTITUTES IN GERMANY. 120,000 STUDENTS PER YEAR.

WE OFFER INTENSIVE GERMAN LANGUAGE COURSES

AT BEGINNERS AND ADVANCED LEVEL. 40 YEARS EXPERIENCE. ALL TEACHERS HIGHLY QUALIFIED MODERN AND EFFICIENT METHODS. INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED DIPLOMAS.

WE ALSO OFFER GERMAN LANGUAGE COURSES SPECIALLY DESIGNED TO MEET THE REQUIREMENTS OF BUSINESS AND MANAGEMENT.

PLEASE SEND ME FREE DETAILS OF YOUR LANGUAGE COURSES IN GERMANY OR IN (COUNTY/CITY)

GOETHE HELENE-WEBER-ALLEE 1

D-80637 MUNCHEN GERMANY TÉL 089-15921-200/206 FAX: 089-15921:202

Continued from Page 11

uate facilities in most Asian countries, there is often little money to pay for them. Setting up exchange programs or joint ventures with local universities is expensive. especially if it means several grams. full-time expatriate teaching

"Funding is a major problem for universities coming into Vietnam," said Muriel Kirton. director of the British Council

"I think we will see a trend Kong. towards sponsorship by large corporations." Ms. Kirton said because in the end they are the ones who will benefit from the improvements in quality of the work force.' In more affluent territories, like Singapore and Hong Kong, where families are willing to spend huge sums on their children's education, universities can rely more on individual tuition as a basis to set up a pro-

Some universities have gone into partnership with local business schools, offering part-time

LES ROCHES MARBELLA diplomas and degrees:

Suiss Diploma in Hotel Buchelors Degree in Internationa Haspitality Studies Joint programmes with top Universities in UK and Switzerland

Caurses in English, Spanish and ease contact the Admissions Office

(34-5) 281 66 91 / 49 Fax: (34-5) 281 64 04 Hotel PYR Puerto Banus, 29650 Marbella, Spain.

JOHN THE ELLITE OF PROFESSIONALS IN THE HOSPITALITY INDUSTRY!

over the program period. However, some American educational advisers warn

JON LIDEN is a freelance journalist based in Hong against some of these pro-

These advisers say that it is difficult to judge whether the quality of these programs are up

MBAs Offered in Asia

applied multimedia issues.

There's a lot of hype out dia Arts and Sciences geared there. Eventually the charlatans more toward theoretical than

In some of these programs, lecturers fly in to teach in a number of short workshops to the standard they advertise.

in it just for the money."

go, Illinois, (312) 663-1600.

Tony Bates, an expert in edColumbia College is one of the ONE STUDENT, ONE MASTER IN EACH CLASS academic deficiencies; who have lost one or more years of school; who wish to accelerate; or international students wishing to improve their English in our ESL program and enter American universities. Completely individual instruction. Flolling admissions. Summer Session, June 18-July 21, 1995; $4450.00 or part-correspondence pro-

Boarding and Tuition, 1995-1996; $33,600,00 EDUCATIONAL PROBLEM SOLVERS SINCE 1906 Dept IH - Box P. Westbrook, CT 06498 USA - (203) 399-6247

Foreign teachers & students have chosen Grenoble to learn French for over 100 years... Summer and Academic year programs intensive & sem-intensive courses for all levels. French larguage, Iterahare & civilization courses Specialized courses in Law, Economics & Scient Teacher training & Diploma preperation. Cultural and Tourises acaustics; and Sporis Housing in French families or private. CUEF - Universite Stendhal Grenoble 間 - HT BP 25 - 38040 Grenoble Cedex 9 Franca Tel: (33) 76 82 43 70 Fax: (33) 76 82 41 15

THE MANY TALENTS OF ISA

I enjoy relating to people; the more different they are, the better. So, with a B.A. in French from Wellesley and two years of experience in a N.Y. law firm behind me, I decided to pursue a Masters in European Studies at the L.S.E.* and a M.A.L.D.* at the Fletcher School. At Fletcher, my interest in international relations became focused on busi-

There, I learned of the Fletcher / ISA joint degree program. I immediatety knew this was for me: the perfect MBA for a career in international consulting. Indeed, ISA has far surpassed my expectations, but... can you, please, tell me why they keep spelling my. name L'ISA !!!

Lisa LEVASSEUR B.A. 1990 MSc. 1993 MALD/MBA 1995

To request a brochure and an application form. please write to ISA Admissions I, rue de la Libération 78351 Jouy-en-Josas cedex

Pax: (331) 3967-7465

*London School of Economics Master of Art in Law & Diplomacy

 Business Administration • Engineering Health Care Management - Education Earn a bachelor, master or doctoral degree. Use your past experience as credit toward your degree. No classes, seminars or on-campus attendence. Studies build upon your experience, relate to your career. Self-paced. Open time schedule. Distinguished faculty advisors, Act now to advance your career.

SEND RESUME FOR NO COST EVALUATION

(505) 889-2711 8400 Uptoer: Blvd. NE, Suite 399-W Dept. 30 Albuquarquu, Naw Mexico 87110, U.S.A.

HOTEL MANAGEMENT INSTITUTE LUCERNE FEBRUARY AND AUGUST One of Switzerland's leading English-speaking hotel management schools, IMI offers unique modular courses

--year Higher Diploma in Hotel and Tourism Management --year Diploma in Hotel Operational Management --year Certificate in Food and Severage Management --year Postgraduate Diploma in Hotel+Tourism Managemen

Paid training in Switzerland. Write for information to: IMI · CH-6353 Weggis · Switzerland Tel. (41) 41/931341 · Fax (41) 41/931343

AMERICAN COLLEGE

DUBLIN

The American College Dublin helps presented by our rapidly changing universe. Bachelor's degree programs are available in international business hospitality administration, behavioral science, and liberal arts. English language studies are provided year-round, as well as study abroad programs for college students and a special summer abroad

to educate students to effectively respond to the opportunities

GET A WORLD CLASS EDUCATION UNIVERSITY FOR THE

21st CENTURY Lynn University and its sister campus in Ireland, American College Dublin, know what it takes to succeed in today's global world! Discover your exciting future with real programs that help to prepare you for real jobs in a real world — a dynamic world that is expanding and changing constantly.

Lynn University offers master's, bachelor's, and associate's degree programs in a variety of careeroriented programs designed to meet the challenges of the emerging new century. Our English Language Center provides those with varying degrees of proficiency the opportunity to learn English purposes and TOEFL preparation.

LYNN UNIVERSITY 3601 North Military Trail • Bocz Raton, FL 33451 U.S.A.
(407) 994-0770 • (800) 544-8035 • FAX (407) 241-3552

THE ULTIMATE GOURMET COOKING SCHOOL

SPECIAL ONE-DAY GOURMET WORKSHOPS

- IN NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER: Game and Wild Mushrooms
 - Simple and Elegant Tarts
 - A Harvest of Apple Treats Brunch at Home
- Mastering the Art of Fole Gras Cakes & Sweets for Children's Parties
- A WEEK OF GASTRONOMY AND WINE TASTING DECEMBER 11 15
- All About Wine: Treasures from the Ritz Cellars
- HÔTEL RITZ

15, PLACE VENDÔME - 75041 PARES CEDEX 01 T2L : 33 (1) 43 16 30 50 - FAX : 33 (1) 43 16 31 50

FRANCE LANGUE

PARIS AND NICE (COTE D'AZUR)

Intensive French courses all year round Accommodation

COTE D'AZUR

Summer Holiday Programmes for Juniors and Students

2, rue de Sfax - 75116 PARIS Tel (33.1) 45 00 40 15 - Fax (33.1) 45 00 53 41 22, avenue Notre-Dame - 06000 NICE Tel (33) 93 13 78 88 - Fax (33) 93 13 78 89

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION / A SPECIAL REPORT

Archivists Raise the Alarm France's Collective Memory Is in Danger

By Barry James

ARIS — A highly specialized and therefore little-known school in Paris has the task of training the future guardians of France's collective memory.

The Ecole Nationale de

Chartes turns out a handful of archivists each year, experts whose knowledge spans a range from medieval Latin to the latest computer techniques.

But there is increasing competition from universities and from the relatively recently created Ecole Nationale du Patrimoine, which provides a more general training for museum curators, librarians and related specialists and which receives a much larger share of state cultoral funds.

Earlier this year, students at the Ecole des Chartes, who are Occupying paid as trainee government functionaries, took the unusual step of going on strike after the step of going on surke after the kilometers of number of career openings available to them in an economy measure. As a result of the strike, the government agreed to fill 25 vacant posts and create a further 30 openings.

Nevertheless, there are continning fears for the school's future, and the director, Yves-Marie Bercé, says he would like to see a much greater opening up to Europe and further afield.

The Ecole des Chartes, which has about 150 students, is the smallest of the Grandes Ecoles, the elite colleges that sociology and mass media tech-stand at the top of France's niques. higher education system.

XVIII in 1821 at a time when the first wave of romanticism

St. JOHN'S International School

E-mail 72233.3322@compuserve.com

M.B.A. from Switzerland
Aduk Of Campus Distance Learning
MBA in Intl Business - Flannce Mktg Homan Res. - Eavant - Hotel Adm. - Fally
Acc. - Flans A Mordable - Open Access & Flex. - Earn & Learn - An Adelt Edsc.
Annotach - Study - Learn

American academic programs in a truly

■ US Accreditation

May and September

■ Fully residential

Terms begin in January.

international environment. We offer 16 under-

1,000 students from 85 countries choose Richmond

INTERNATIONAL

ADMINISTRATION

There is no need to leave Europe to earn a quality American University Degree.

The best of both worlds is at your doorstep, combining the traditional Swiss art of hospitality with the prestige of an American university education,- (University of Massachusetts'). The Bachelor of Science degree in international Hospitality

For more information please contact:

HOTELCONSULT SHCC COLLEGES

CH - 1897 Le Bouveret, Phone: 0041 25- 81 38 62 or 85 30 51

Fax: + 41-25 - 81 36 50

Management will open doors for you worldwide.

BRIG SWITZERLAND

COLLEGE OF

HOSPITALITY

graduate major fields of study and an MBA.

Drève Richelle 146

Tel. 32-2-354,11.38

Fax 32-2-353,04.95

1410 Waterloo

had produced an intense inter-est in medieval civilization. Iished by the school include fas-Students need either an ad- cinating vanced knowledge of medieval examinations of little-known Latin if they intend to specialize in ancient document sources, or two modern languages plus a tive survey of the role of the host of other skills, many of them arcane. For example, they need to be Bouchet. experts in paleography, the art of deciphering the gothic script in which many early documents were written. They acquire a knowledge of history, diplomacy and civil, canon and feudal law in order to be able to decipher documents in context. They need to be skilled also in art history, philology, archaeology, conservation techniques, statistics, accounting, computer technology and information sciences. Since 1991, the school has introduced studies specifically directed at the modern image from the daguerreotype onwards, including semiology,

The National Archives in Paris alone contain material hundreds of shelf space.

The courses, which students It was founded by Louis enter by public competition, last three years, followed by the writing of a thesis. These doc- crofilm fragile documents, but been in the main building of the ment records that now form part rious gaps.

OF surprising aspects of France's history.

One example is an exhaushorse in Paris from 1850 to 1914, made by Ghislaine

FTER a further 18 months of more specialized training, the "charristes," as students of the school are known, go on to careers in museum curatorship or library management as well as in the state and departmental archives.

The National Archives in Paris alone contain material documenting hundreds of years of history and occupying hun-dreds of kilometers of shelf space. The strike at the Ecole de Chartes drew attention to the lamentable state of the archives, some of which are inadequately protected against humidity and decay.

Many files, dating back more than 100 years, have not been catalogued yet because of a shortage of staff.

Critics such as the author Marc Furnaroli accuse the Ministry of Culture of being more concerned with mass culture than the less spectacular task of keeping the nation's memory intact

"Whole sections of our collective memory are in danger of disappearing," the magazine L'Express said recently.

It is not the more ancient documents that are most in danger. Wartime Vichy records on cheap paper are in danger of disintegrating within a few years, archivists warn.

The solution would be to mi-

The Ecole des Chartes trains France's archivists.

the National Archives have only a limited budget for this. The National Archives, which have branches in Aix-en-Provence, Roubaix and Fontainebleau, were created in 1790 to keep all the copious documentation produced by the administration. In addition, Napoleon Bonaparte ordered the creation of archives in each department, all of which use the same method of classification.

Although the history of Corsica or France's overseas departments is completely different to that of Brittany, for example, researchers will always find like documents in the same place in the catalogue. The Ecole des Chartes has ers of the church and govern-

"The biggest single barrier to successful relocation is ed-ucarion." he said. "If you can get that sorted out the rest is

He adds that concerned parents provide the momentum behind most new international

Sorbonne, the University of in the city.

HE main library, with more than 2,000 volumes, is in the Sorbonne, together with a large classroom equipped with broad tables on which to lay out manuscripts and dominated by a painting of the old Benedictine abbey at Saint-Germaindes-Près and a plaque containing the names of 54 "chartistes" killed during the First World War. The Benedictines, of course. were among the original keep-of the National Archives. Mr. Paris, since the 1890s, but it Berce said that the school is the also has classrooms elsewhere only one of its kind in the world. At the turn of the century, it was at the cutting edge of medieval and historical research, he said, although some of its previously highly specialized functions have been taken over by the universities.

Today the school needs to adapt to the latest technologies while continuing to hold the keys to the nation's rich documentary heritage.

But unless the school receives adequate funding, and unless there are posts for graduates to occupy, many archivists fear that the national memory may develop some se-

Some Expatriates Set Up Their Own Schools pretty easy.

them."

By Digby Larner

Educational Relocation Associates in Middlesex, England, estimates there are now 2,600 international schools worldwide and says the number is growing.

Fiex. * Earn & Learn • An Adult Educ. 3
Approach • Study at your own Convenience
For Details, with , call or face
Center for Management Studies & Development Amount & France 6, OH-1951 SCNNAS, Soltential
Rises (1+41 77) 20077, Fox (4+41 27) 26582 ly well covered, with 12 schools at all.

THE AMERICAN

INTERNATIONAL

UNIVERSITY

LONDON

Quaens Road Richmond, Surrey

Fee: 44 181 332 159

TWIGGIFTEK

richmend acus

guages ranging from English to East, for example, can be faced with only poorly equipped local

That's good news for fam-ARIS — At first glance, expatriate school chililies heading for tried and tested expatriate destinations, but dren are better catered what about the growing number for than ever before. of pioneering families moving underdeveloped areas? Those posted to emerging-market countries in Latin America. Southeast Asia and the Middle schools or, at worst, no school Chris Einschcomb, a British choosing to launch their own geophysicist, was alarmed at schools can be overwhelming, the standard of education avail- he said.

able to his three children during a recent posting to Venezuela. "In fact, we sent the children to a British international school but unfortunately it was past its best. The number of expatriates in the area had fallen and only half of the children in the school were British. Language and ability were so diluted that the standard was considerably lower than in Britain." He says the extent of the problem only became clear when the family returned home. Once there he found his children lacked some of the basic on how strong their finances reading and writing skills of their classmates.

In cases like these, parents are increasingly taking matters into their own hands and founding infernational schools of Bob Findlay, ERA's senior partner, is aware of how important good schools are to most parents.

HEUCHATEL/SWITZERLAND

INTTI SCHOOL OF HOTEL MANAGEMENT

3-YEAR BACHELOR'S DEGREE AND HIGHER DIPLOMA IN HOTEL MANAGEMENT

21/2 YEAR DIPLOMA IN HOTEL MANAGEMENT

1-YEAR POST-GRADUATE HOTEL OPERATIONS DIPLOMA

1-YEAR CERTIFICATE COURSES

ASK MARIA BAKS FOR INFORMATION AT: IHTTI, BOX, 4006 BASEL, SWITZERLAND. PHONE 41-61-312 30 94 FAX 41-61-312 60 35

have that kind of money." To get around this, many parents turn to their employers for support. The willingness of bosses to help out depends largely on how many employees they have in a country and Even corporations already sponsoring international schools can have a change of heart if things get tough. British Aerospace, for example, recently closed schools in Saudi Arabia as its presence in the country diminished, Mr. Findlay said, forcing parents to fend schools. "Often," he said, foreign corporations, not althey are fathers on long forways from their own country. eign assignments who want so that the total cost is retheir families there with duced. But the enormous expense OMETIMES local governments are prepared to help with financing, and bureaucracy facing those especially if much needed infrastructure construc-"Cost can be prohibitive. tion is dependent on foreign la-Purely fee-based international bor and expertise. schools exist, but they're ex-

But the most willing govpensive. You're probably looking at over $15,000 per child a emments can still create bureaucratic hurdles that parents going it alone can find hard to year. So three children of school age on a three-year foreign posting can cost around $150,000. Not all expatriates Dixie McKay, an executive their cause.

officer with the European Council of International Schools based in Petersfield, England, said dealing with foreign bureaucracy can be one of of paperwork. the biggest problems parents

"If a government wants a dam built it will go a long way to accommodate foreign workers and their families, but they may still not fully appreciate the parents' needs.
'For example they sometimes prevent local children from attending international schools, something that can be critical to the school's survival. More problematic are restrictions on work visas for foreign teachers. Sometimes it can be very tough persuading governments that in order to run an international school you need international teachers.

Other, less crucial, restrictions can be equally hard to get around. Governments may prevent the use of foreign political and religious material in classrooms or ban images and writing they deem offensive, no matter how freely they are available in the countries the Corporations with only a children come from.

handful of employees in a parknown to restrict the import of ticular country may decide the number of children involved is Christian Bibles, and an Arab too small to justify setting up a country once refused entry to all atlases and maps that inschool. Some parents get cluded Israel. around this by bringing together expatriates from a range of Ms. McKay suggested that any parents looking into starttheir own international school should run through a preliminary checklist before beginning.

First off, they should see if there are already international schools where they are based. That may sound obvious, but it can be overlooked. There may even be 'black market' international schools locally that are not officially recognized."

She also recommends joining forces with parents from other expatriate corporations to add weight, and maybe cash, to

Finally, she says, parents should seek out expert legal help locally to help them steer a path through the inevitable pile

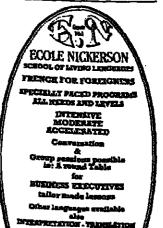

But even parents in areas where there are few expatriates and who are unable to muster the support needed to found a new school need not abandon hope. Several organizations in Europe and the United States provide backup for parents whose only option is to educate their children at nome. World-wide Education Services in London provides material and tutorial support for children aged between 5 and 12, its director, Dorrie Wheldall, said. "Currently that includes missionary families in remote African outposts and on South Pacific islands. We've even had families who were sailing around the world."

For a cost of $1,500 a year parents receive course material and unlimited access to a tutor based in London. Equipment costs extra, with books adding about $600 to the bill.

"They can contact the tutor whenever they want either by phone or mail," she said, adding that eventually students and teachers could use electronic mail as well.

DICBY LARNER is a journalist based in Paris.

ECOLE MICHERSON

CHART A COURSE FOR SUCCESS AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY

INTERNATIONAL GRADUATE CENTERS

Brussels, Belgium • London, England • Beer Sheva, Israel Master of Science Degrees in

Management and Administration

 Concentrations in International Management Multinational Commerce

London

44-171-938-1540

Brussels

32-2-2680037

Full and Part-time Courses

 Begin in January, September, or April

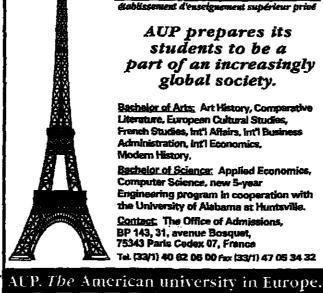

BOSTON

UNIVERSITY

An equal opportunity, affirmative action institution

Beer Sheva

972-7-481333

OF PARIS stablissement d'enseignement supérieur privé AUP prepares its students to be a part of an increasingly global society. Bachelor of Arts: Art History, Comparative Literature, European Cultural Studies, Administration, Int'l Economics, Modern History.

French Studies, Int'l Affairs, Int'l Business Bachelor of Science: Applied Economics, Computer Science, new 5-year Engineering program in cooperation with the University of Alabama at Huntsville. Contact: The Office of Admissions, BP 143, 31, avenue Bosquet, 75343 Paris Cedex 07, France Tel. (33/1) 40 62 06 00 Fax (33/1) 47 05 34 32 alan monor de la composition de la compañs de la compañs de la compañs de la calega. La compañs de la calega de la calega de la compañs de

THE

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

MINI-GROUP COURSES AND PRIVATE LESSONS GENERAL FRENCH AND BUSINESS FRENCH ê Villa Ballu, 75009 PARIS Tel.: (23-1) 48.78.73.00 American University Studies in Switzerland AGSB is fully authorized under the Nonpublic Postsecondary nal Institutions Act, State of Georgia, USA, far: Bachelor of Science in Business Administration concentrations in Management, Marketing, International Relations

INTENSIVE FRENCH COURSES IN PARIS

Master of International Business Administration the specialized, international MBA January, June, August Admission For information, contact AGSB, American Graduate School of Business and Institute of Undergraduate Business Studies Place des Anciens-Fossés, 1814 La Tour-Peilz (T), Switzerland Tel: (41-21) 944 9501 Fax: (41-21) 944 9504

By Kate Brown

ONDON - Say this for the European single market: It has got British preschoolers counting, "Un, deux, trois" in addition to "One, two, three." Before 1992, few children in Britain began to learn a foreign language before the age of 11. But as the deadline approached for the first stage of European integration, "many parents started to feel that the earning of a foreign language was appropriate, and it is now recognized that the younger children learn languages the said John Bartholomew, inspector for primary education in the London suburb of Richmond.

Traditionally, the second language taught in British schools has been French, and most of the language teaching little transfer among younger children echoes that, often for practical masses.

"We didn't choose French, it chose itself, because France is fairly accessible opportunity to use the language. You can even do a day trip to France," said Mr. Bartholomew, whose lanand training for teachers in within easy reach and there's a Using the help of a clown, preschool children are taught French.

Mr. Bartholomew and his gram in all 32 of the area's olds, it introduces children to a primary schools, which teach children up to the age of 11.

awareness of the nature of dif- language, and an authentic ac- as teenagers, as they themferent languages," said Mr. cent.

Bartholomew. guage program in Richmond in-cludes exchange trips for pupils school initiative with 10 branches around London.

It is geared to four- to 11year-olds, and with its sister colleagues have pioneered a club Tricolore Tots, a play-French language teaching progroup for two- and three-yearwholly French environment.

Largely through games and 'We would like pupils to arrive songs, and the regular appearat secondary school with basic ance of ZoZo the French clown, selves often were.

According to Teresa Scibor, who set up and runs Club Tri-colore, "children go away with but recognize that languages a great sense of achievement, are a passport to the future. wonderful enthusiasm and con-They don't want their chilfidence, which rubs off on other dren's French to meet the same

It is this enthusiasm which particularly appeals to many Ms. Scibor says her club is based in London and a long-especially popular with parents time Francophile, is considerconfidence, motivation, and the youngsters quickly pick up the be turned off about languages daughter, Emily, to a French could learn the language young enough to avoid all the pain." Research confirms that chilmimics and suffer fewer inhi-dren younger than 11 are better bitions about speaking out and making mistakes than older

PAL Dunn, author of book entitled Help Your Children With a Foreign argues that six to eight years old is the perfect age range to put a child into a foreign language environment.
"There's a breakthrough after an amazingly short time," she

However, the concentration on French, as opposed to other foreign languages, worries some experts in the field. Christine Wilding, secretary eneral of the Association for Language Learning, which represents language teachers, warns that "it is important that no one language dominates, because in English-speaking countries there is a need for These parents were often diversity. There is no one language that a British person at work needs.

"In primary initiatives, French is being put in a more entrenched position. There is a fate as theirs," says Ms. Scidanger that secondary schools could follow," she added. The Association for Language Learning recognizes the advantages of an early start, be- school curriculum have settled lieving that younger learners

We want more provision

155 57 57

playgroup.
"I have struggled for years to reach an acceptable level of long-term government strategy, eral languages taught to chil-French,' she explains. "It backed up by appropriate fund- dren under 11 by 1997. Pilot K-ATE BROWN is a journalist would be wonderful if Emily ing, to ensure that early foreign projects in schools have fin- based in Paris. language teaching does not be come piecemeal and divisive.

"We have to avoid establishing a policy too quickly without maintaining quality. And we obviously have to have a body to monitor what is going on in schools," Ms. Wilding

She points to the growing trend among schools to bring in fee-paying clubs to satisfy parental demand for early French lessons. Sinclair House School is London, a prep school for chileight years old, introduces pupils to French from the start. Every day, the two- and three-year-olds learn to recognize shapes, colors and simple instructions.

From four years on, Club Tricolore comes into the school to further the language skills of the youngsters, bringing a range of its own teaching ma-

"Parents expressed an inter-est in their children learning a language early and we responded. It has worked very well,' Elizabeth House, principal of Sinclair House School, says.

The British government has expressed a desire to see more language teaching in primary schools but is unlikely to introduce a formal strategy in England and Wales until its recent changes to the secondary guage. However, in Scotland, plans ished and the But it stresses the need for a are well under way to have sev- implemented.

International Education for the 21st Century

Coeducational boarding school, grades 9-12, 13th year University preparation: International Baccalaureate, Advance Placement, US High School Diploma; excellent examination re-

SUMMER PROGRAMS: JUNE - AUGUST Summer in Switzerland: ages 14-19, Alpine Adventure, ages 10-13

Accredited by Middle States Association and ECIS

English-as-a-Second-Language, French, international theater, computer studies, arts & crafts, sports, activities, excursions Located in beautiful Alpine resort of Leysin above Lake Geneva

> LEYSIN AMERICAN SCHOOL IN SWITZERLAND

Tel:--41(25) 333 777 Fate: --41(25) 34 15 85 CII 1854-30 Leyelu, Switzerland

ıiz-

:SLI-hen grid the the tied the lany and well

опп

y as nan.

't go

ated

ing-will-slam

ıderneri-

arch

ree-

: the hers

they

sup-

m. flat le living i 9613 SHED

cosselle $20,975 Everpec suncots $36,428 $27,997 burbocs $19,250 c cossell $29,911 $39,301 $37,822

INTERNATIONAL BOARDING

lish classes each summer. These classes combine serious academics with a great variety of holiday fun in one of Europe's most beautiful areas. For full information contact Salzburg International Preparatory School

Telex 632476

Competition Is Fierce, Even for the Youngest

By Kate Brown

following test?

The child is shown a picture taken away. What is it now?

questions put to children ap- dren's success. plying for a place at one exclusive London nursery school. At a cost of between £700 ($1,000) and £1,000 a term for mornings only, top-of-the-

But private, or fee-paying, preschools, which are usually their children, and that brings designed for three- to five-yearselective as more parents compete for limited places.

"Parents all over London go their kids into the schools they going on just now.'

Ms. Hall's daughter has just left Newton Prep, a highly se- of an 18-month-old daughter, lective school for children ages feels the pressure is almost unthree to 13, in Battersea, south bearable. When she recently London. She cites the extreme approached a private nursery case of friends whose child was school in west London to try to she was being coached for an entrance test to a particularly sought-after private school.

Richard Dell, headmaster of ving to make a detailed assessment of the child's ability.

He added, however, that un-

ONDON — Could ents of three-year-olds are unyour three-year-old wise to try to coach their chil- - in advance." child come up with the dren for the test, as it would not right response to the help them achieve better re-

This is just one of a series of utmost to ensure their chilchild's chances of range nursery education in primary school, which can help ondary school, and so on.

"Parents want the best for

"They are worried about to extraordinary lengths to get their children growing up in a big city and want them to have

> Elizabeth Ansorge, mother - she was told she was far too ter will miss out on a nursery within the first year after a child is born," Ms. Angus said. "And we allocate places a year

There are a number of altematives to nursery schools, including private crèches, However, with so much rid- which care for children all day a bicycle, then another picing on winning a place at a and cost between £100 and ture of the bike with one wheel handful of nursery schools, par-£200 a week, and playgroups, ents are determined to do their which usually offer a couple of

> However, access to govern-OING to the right ment-funded nurseries, which state-maintained .346,593 places for the under-

The private sector helps meet the growing demand, but Prime promised to address the paucity said Jenny Hall, as many advantages as possible made a commitment to provide a preschool place for all fourlaunch of a voucher plan, under will be offered vouchers worth £1,100 per year to put towards not allowed to play with her put her daughter's name down the purchase of a place for their friends for eight months while for a place when she turns three child in either a public or privouchers, covering 10 percent of the country, will be issued by

The association is trying to Purchasing power in the hands of parents will stimulate encourage the government to rethink the plan and hopes that, a real market in the supply of places that parents want. Above with a general election not more than 13 months away, the proall, parents will have real choice," according to Gillian posal may not see the light of Shephard, the secretary of state for education.

television executive who is

Much of the £730 million but done slowly, efficiently and needed for the voucher plan will be redirected from local authorities, which currently fund state nurseries, into the hands of parents.

HE plan has been attacked by many education experts, politifrom

Critics claim the proposal will transfer public subsidy from the poor to the rich and threatens to reduce rather than increase the number of

Cynthia James, chair of the Association for Early Child-hood Learning, said: "The vouchers will give purchasing power to parents but will only help those who would in any sector because there's a basic shortfall between the value of vouchers and the cost of a place

International Education on theWorld Wide Web ESOL - Resources

Coursefinder-Conferences Travel - News

The 1994-95 scholastic year marks the twentieth anniversary of the setting up of state subsidized English language secondary education in Eindhoven, and a first in the Netherlands. The ISSE is a full member of the ECIS (European Council of International Schools). It is part of the much larger Municipal secondary school (GSW), it is located on a small but pleasant campus. The ISSE prepares students for IGCSE (Cambridge based) and International Baccalaureate diploma

Special Facilities: E.S.L., First Language Japanese, BENELUX Award (Benelux version of Duke of Edinburgh award), theatre productions, Model United Nations society, Life-Link Environmental activities, extensive careers guidance, and an Alumni association.

Eindhoven and its region has 700 000 inhabitance. guitance, and an Aminin security of the Eindhoven and its region has 700,000 inhabitants and lies in the south of the Netherlands, close to Belgium and Germany. The area is an economically-strong

'Euro-region'. Admissions: Throughout the year, Placement tests, previous school records and

ISSE - Jerusalemiana 1 - 5626 PP Eindhoven - The Netherlands Tel.: + 31 (0)40 413600 - Fax: +31 (0)40 424973

BACCALAUREATE (ENGLISH, FRENCH, BILINGUAL)

Boarding, day students

Route du Chêne 62, 1308 Genève, Tel 022-736 71 30

Ecole Internationale de Genève

CONNECTING YOU TO A WORLD OF OPPORTUNITIES in switzerland INTERNATIONAL TOURISM INSTITUTE FEBRUARY AND AUGUST

Join Switzerland's only specialist English-speaking International Tourism Institute and prepare for a bright future in lourism – the world's fastest growing industry.

international universities in ONE or two years. Higher Diploma in International Tourism Management – 15 months Diploma in Travel & Tourism Management - 10 months Certificate in Travel & Tourism Operations - 5 months

SCHOOL IN SALZBURG

Salzburg International Preparatory School offers a challenging coed American college prep & International Baccalaureate curriculum for students aged 12 to 18. Pully accredited. Excellent university placement track record. Intensive English courses aid non-native speakers. Academics are enhanced by extensive sports, culture and travel programs. We are now accepting applications for fall 1995.

SUMMER SESSION: The school also offers intensive German and Eng-

A-5020 Salzburg

Fax (662) 824555

EDUCATION YOU CAN BELIEVE IN! Young men/grades 7-12

College prep 100% college acceptance rate Structured military environment Flight training program Air Force JROTC Honor Unit

Full sports program

Location on Florida's

Space Coast

Cali (407) 723-3211 TODAY! Or write: Florida Air Academy, Dept. NA, 1950 S. Academy Dr., Melbourne, FL 32901. FLORIDA AIR ACADEMY

P

COLLÈGE DU LÉMAN International boarding and day school for boys and girls

ACADEMIC PROGRAMME Kindergarten and Primary preparatory Primary and secondary level

ANGLO-AMERICAN SECTION: College Board Examinations: S.A.T. I/ II. Advanced Placement I.G.C.S.E., G.C.E. «A» Level English as a Second Language Programme

FRENCH SECTION: Maturité fédérale suisse, Baccalauréat français Cours intensifs de français

SUMMER SESSION

French Language - English Language - Computer Studies Sports - Excursions - Afternoon recreational activities

accredited by The European Council of International Schools (E.C.I.S.) The Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools

Enquiries : Collège du Léman, CH-1290 Versoix-Genève Telephone: (41 22) 755 25 55 — Fax: (41 22) 755 19 93

ALL THAT A TRADITIONAL BUSINESS PROGRAM CAN OFFER YOU PLUS: B.B.A.

on ISG MBA Program (Ponal), Stiqu Accrudited Bresemb) • February June, September & October Admission

istossive 14 menth Grundu Schle program, r Paks, New York, Najo arth semmark in Sautern Europe, South Anlesich & South

UNIVERSITE AIX-MARSEILLE III Aix-en-Provence

(October January, February-May). month-long summer intensive sessions (June, July, September). All levels.

Institut d'Études Françaises pour Étudiants Étrangers

Mr. Dell believes that par-moving up to a good out a competitive element, olds, are becoming increasingly said Sally Angus, head of Thomas's Kindergarten in Bat-

"There's a lot of school fever because things are tough," she

— a year and a half from now

"They expected me to come Newton Prep, confirmed that straight from the delivery table his school, like many others, to the school," Ms. Ansorge puts children as young as three said. "My disorganization will and four through rigorous test- probably mean that my daugh-

Unfortunately for her, that like some nursery schools, may turn out to be the case.

The most renowned school for French INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS an INTENSIVE COMPLETE IMMERSION course on the Riviera

For adults | 8 levels | Beginners I to Advanced II Next 2-1 week program starts Oct. 2, Oct. 30 and all year. 186230 \ dl-franche/Mer 15. France. Tel. 93 11 88 44. Fax: 93 76 92 17 A Supportive Community for Mentally Retarded Adults

8 hrs per day with 2 meals

New England Villages is an exceptional private residential community committed to quality, long-term care for mentally relarded adults. Family twironment offered in altractive houses/apartments on 75-acre wooded site 25 miles south of Boston, Massachusetts. Range of vocational, education, recreation and social opportunities. We invite you to visit the Village. Write: NEW england villages. Inc. Pembroka, MA 02359 USA

HOSTA HOTEL & TOURISM SCHOOL SWITZERI AND Major companies recruit directly at the school Hotel Management Programme Travel and Tourism Management Programme (Incl. official IATAAIFTAA Travel Agent's diploma courses) For information please contact HOSTA, 1854 B LEYSIN, SWITZERLAND, 164 + 41-25-342611, Fox. + 41-25-341821

Learn to speak French University year — two semesters

23, rue Goston de-Soporta, 13625 Aix-en-Provence, Cedex, France. Tel.: 42 23 28 43. Fax: 42 23 02 64.

two- or three-hour sessions a week for about £5 a session.

eschool improves a are usually free, is limited. According to the Education Department, there are 552 nursery classes in primary providers of nursery care. schools. Combined, these offer of overall provision.

In October of last year, he year-olds whose parents wish to which parents of four-year-olds vate nursery school. It is planned that the first Minister John Major has preschool places.

take it up. This pledge was fol- case be paying. It will only genlowed in July this year by the erate provision in the private

By 1997, the government hopes the plan will cover the http://www.edunet.com

Value-Centered Education in an Intercultural Environment Independent, Catholic-affiliated boarding and. day school for young women in grades 9-12 Intensive English as a Second Language and college prep programs, 5:1 studen/teacher ratio Founded in 1870 by Benedictine Sisters

Situated on 190 acres in southern Indiana MARIAN HEIGHTS ACADEMY

Call 812-367-1431 or fax 812-367-2313 Private Schools in Switzerland Swiss Federation of Private Schools (FSEP) MAKING THE RIGHT CHOICE TOGETHER

lease contact the Geneva Office for free and objective information throughout Switzerland on Academic year, language courses, holiday courses. ADVISORY OFFICE FSEP P.O. Box 1488, 1211 Geneva 1, Switzerland

Phone: (+41-22) 738 88 12, Fox: (+41-22) 738 88 35

Your M.B.A. in PARIS and the U.S. The best from Europe and America for your graduate studies in International Management M.B.A. University is a graduate program of Management cre in 1986 by the Franco-American Institute of Management (I.F. and developed in association with leading U.S. Universiti 17 to 16 ments of study 4 in Paris, France © 7 to 12 in the U.S. October to September or December

2 DIFLOMAS

• M.B.A. (Master of Business Administration) from AACSB accredited American University

• Graduate certificate from M.B.A. University. M.B.A. University/ IFAM, 19 rue Cépré, 75015 Paris. Tel.: 33 (1) 42 73 26 53 - Fex: 33 (1) 47 83 31 72

MANAGEMENT STUDIES IN SWITZERLAND Swiss and US Diplomas 2 & 3 year Programmes in English iranster to European JS Universities (BA, BS)

HIM HOTEL INSTITUTE with quality in mind. It's a mistake to think it could all happen 15, avenue des Alpes tomorrow," Mrs. James said. To subscribe in Switzerland just coll, toll free,

⇒ Sels College London RECOGNISED BY THE SRITISH COUNCIL ARRELS

All levels from beginners to Cambridge Proficiency · Accommodation arranged · Sels for excellence, reliability and frien

64-65 LONG ACRE, COVENT GARDEN, LONDON WCZE 9 JH FAX: 0171 379 5793 Principal Y. Baiss, BA, BSc (Econ), F.L.L., MEd, Barrister-at-law, FRSA

THE INTERNATIONAL SECONDARY THE INTERNATION ISSE SCHOOL EINDHOVEN ISSE

ITI graduates may apply to a Bachelor's or Master's degree in

Write for information to: ITI · CH-6362 Stansstad · Switzerlan Tel. (41) 41/613626 - Fax (41) 41/614064

From left, Ricci's dandy tailcoat and breeches; Galliano's crochet top and tulle tutu; Chloé dress with lace bodice by Karl Lagerfeld; Ocimar Versolato's satin evening gown, and Lacroix's black lace cornet dress.

Galliano's Invitation to the Dance: Who's the Next Magician?

By Suzy Menkes International Herald Tribune

ARIS - In an atmosphere of divine decadence, John Galliano issued an invitation to the dance. His haliet-inspired show, with Degasstyle dancers practicing at the bar and a half-naked Nijinsky-figure writhing on stage, confirmed the British designer as a rarefied romantic.

But it did not answer the question whether his butterfly-wing talent will soar

Givenshy, where he is contracted to produce four major collections a year - now that Hubert de Givenchy finally bowed out Monday.

The fashion crowd who packed the Theâtre des Champs-Elysées to the rafters is willing Galliano to be the fashion magician for the new millennium. As the major names in ready-to-wear and couture show their collections, they are just reinforcing their own and high fashion's status quo. The shows follow a familiar pattern of collections of fashion's avant-garde.

Galliano may not be addressing fashion's future, but the presentation of his shows is exceptional. Each of the 34 outfits and choir boys marching behind? for the spring-summer season was delicate and refined: spiral appliqués of flowers winding round an evening dress or tucks shaping the sleeves of a voile dress. Since Galliano's collection was so exquisite and his imagination so poetic, it sounds churlish to ask for more. Isn't it in his new role as design director at daywear through cocktail and evening — enough to have a floor-length piebald pony wear line is about burnishing an image or they closed jackets and opened sweaters at Givenshy, where he is contracted to pro- long since abandoned in the night-for-day skin coat on a model rising out of a trap- flogging a product. the midrift. The silhouette? It was that long since abandoned in the night-for-day skin coat on a model rising out of a trapdoor? Or dresses in snowy broderie anglaise shown like a Southern Baptist and choir boys marching behind?

As showmanship, the presentation was a delight to the audience, which included, sitting among the props on stage, Paloma Picasso, Inès de la Fressange and designers Azzedine Alaïa and Gianfranco Perré.

But apart from the signature Galliano bias-cut evening gowns, with the bodice whorled into a flower or decorated with wine-red orchids, what was there to wear? couple of black pantsuits with bodices scooped low. An adorable bouquet-print riding high over bared behinds.

This all-but-countre show augurs well for Galliano's debut at Givenchy in January. These ready-to-wear outfits were executed with intricate skill and a very light hand. And if a fashion show is about spraying a delicate perfume in the air, Galliano's was an apotheosis of his unique style.

The precise, elegant valedictory show that Givenchy sent out Monday was in acute contrast. Navy knits, sprinkled with salty white, made a brisk opening to the 104-piece show with its practical propositions for looking pretty: a slim sunshine-yellow dress with short sleeves; suits pink and white in piqué; a plain black dress and black snaw hat with an echo of Audrey Hepburn in her debut movies.

The show sailed gracefully into evening wear and the sunset of 43 fashion years. "I feel serene, " said the designer. "I made my choice."

Christian Lacroix sent out a monumental show that underlines the problem facing all houses who make their statement with couture and don't know whether the ready-toflogging a product.

Lacroix just can't seem to distill the essence of what he wants to say, leaving the audience gasping and groping through the mass of decorative detail — here a delicious crepe de chine cardigan bordered with lace shrugged over something even fancier; there a cute tortoise shell vanity case; funky shoes curling like Aladdin's slippers; a kooky calfskin shoulder bag; a frumpy, lumpy black cocktail dress followed by an ively sculpted one in silver gray.

PARIS FASHION

The result seemed like a parody of dress. Crochet corsets. And tuile skirts Lacroix's style: a purse for every outfit: striped African bangles jangling; straw hats or bandeau bows. Yet taken out of their confusing context, individual items were superb, especially the delicate spiders' web lace or a clean-cut pantsuit in a dense flower

Perhaps Lacroix, who has had a hit with his costumes for Othello playing across town, thinks that his more-is-more credo makes for good theater. But a show needs a clear focus - and a couture house needs an image that simple folk out there can grasp.

The lightbulbs embroidered on evening dresses at Chloé were a low wattage version of the witty decoration Karl Lagerfeld played with a decade ago. But there was no electricity crackling off the runway.

This house, which once defined luxury ready-to-wear, is now just about a bunch of clothes: some were pretty, like dresses in black or rainbow-colored lace; or voile prints worn with Bo Peep hats. They were in the romantic turn-of-the-century vision of earlier Chloé collections.

lightbulb as skirts were rounded below a high-tise waist and cropped jackets. The show, for all its occasional beautiful pieces. like the peach and black satin slithering long dress, did not illuminate fashion.

Lanvin will announce this week the appointment of 34-year-old Brazilian-born Ocimar Versolato as its designer. Stand by! you ritzy, young clients with shapely bosoms and legs. Try a corset dress, its skirt a flutter of hankerchief-point chiffon around the thighs; or a burnt-orange ball dress slashed open at the side. De rigueur are high heels, high hair, strewn with roses, and wrists full of jewels.

Versolato, formerly with Gianni Versace and Hervé Leger, proved at his show at the Brazilian Embassy that he can cut and drape a cute dress and a grand gown in sumptuous fabrics and sugar-sweet colors. Costs you want? Daytime suits? Like all stars, Versolato's women come out only at night.

The flowery, feminine essence of Nina Ricci has been absorbed from perfume into clothes. Myriam Schaefer, in her third season with the house, got into her stride dandies by day in curvy frock coat and straight pants or long, slim skirt. For evening, fluffy frocks (think Degas again) and a palette of pink and blue. The show tapped into the cliches of Gay Parce, but gave that an edge with poodles patterning Bardotesque gingham and the straps of a dance dress cut like American overalls. Hanae Mori showed her classy silk and cashmere knits, her crisp waffle cotton dresses and signature butterfly prints in the showroom. But she invited the fashiour crowd to join the greatest show in town: the earlier Chloé collections.

But Lagerfeld also tried to put a little zip were watched by President Jacques Chirac, into the daywear. Make that zippers, since his wife Bernadette and le tout Paris.

Montana's Glacial Landscape

ARIS— In a glass and steel temple of modern architecture. Claude Montana gave his latest take Monday on designer sportswear.

Now that the ice floes of 1980s fashion have broken up, revealing a fragile and feminine silhouette, Montana's show seemed more glacial and remote than ever.
Water cascaded down a glass backdrop as models in snowwhite jackets standing iciclestiff away from the body. walked down the ski-slope of a rumway.

As an excursion into Montana territory, it was well ex- gymnasium of a French lycée. ecuted. The ice maidens were Then a tribe of latter-day Hi-with a scalpel, glazed feathers unfurling down the backbone and wrists cross-laced.

These bosomy dresses, which came even in sparkly sequins, and a polka dot print were the only blins of decoration.

Since Montana first created his larger-than-life silhouettes, hard to understand. which expressed the spirit of era, a new generation has grown up. To them, only Montana's They came in an endless parade sharp tailoring of impeccable in the bronze and verdigris coliackets can seem comprehensible as modern fashion.

or the exotic, seems to have lost the plot. The pants, pants and more pantsuits that opened his collection were so commercial that they hardly justified a splendid presentation in the

The models all wore dark followed by Amazonian wom-en, their skirts swirling on black the line. They also had rattoos dresses flashed with chrome painted on naked flesh that was yellow, red and royal blue. all too evident in vulgar dresses split open at the front or gath-Then a tribe of latter-day ru- sput open at the bodice sides. plain sportswear, but a ging now hitting the stores.

seemed so contrary to the designer's spirit, that they were

But the show was mainly powerful women in the feminist about pantsuits with well-cut jackets and narrow trousers. ors that are the designer's sig-Romeo Gigli, whose collections once reeked of the ethnic more kick, but there were ocin rounded over-shirts that fluttered in light fabrics over the which was minimalist to a fault. the shift dresses, zippered jackets and pantsuits that paraded in or blue. There were some Aline skirts, among the dead-only blips of decoration.

That summery long skirt stopping above the ankles, worked well for Kenzo as he sailed off to the South Seas for his merry take on sportwear.

The forest of greenery round the runway was a background ors that are the designer's signature. Subtle mixes of fabric jungle prints and sunshine colors. These were used for pants and for swingy A-line dresses. casional flashes of Gigli's style And with vivid color, Kenzo even succeeded in making the sober suit with knee-length hemlines look spirited.

Pinstriped pantsuits strode out to end Cerruti's show, ion is now proposed and rejected is disturbing to many Not a pin nor a purse enlivened fashion professionals — and especially to buyers who have found this season that the muchblocks of all-beige, grey, black touted knee-length hemline has been banished from most runways -- just as that hemline is

> With major shows still to come in the Paris season, one thing is clear: the retromania that has dominated runways in the 1990s is coming to an end although there are short, white A-line zippered dresses first launched by André Courrèges and Pierre Cardin in the 1960s. Both those designers have canceled their slated shows - Courrèges in order to express his disgust and disap-proval of what he sees as fashion's appropriation of his in-tellectual copyright,

Suzy Menkes

31. RUE CAMBON - PARIS 1" - 42, AVENUE MONTAIGNE - PARIS 8"

54, Rue du Fanhourg Saim-Honoré 75098 Paris Telephone 1-17 (2.21.51) A-K-R-I-S-

Without it, you're simply not covered.

The New York Times Magazine: For the nation's most influential advertisers, it's the place to be seen. For what has to be the most desirable audience on the planet, it's the place to see them. Be it for fashion, fragrances, fine jewelry, fine automobiles—fine anything. After nearly 100 years it's still a perfect fit. Our readers know the Magazine lets them catch up with things precisely when they have the time to settle back and savor them: from crosswords to columnists, from world trends to fashion trends. Which means the only way you won't be seen in The New York Times Magazine is if you aren't there to begin with. That's what you call taking understatement a step too far. Call Janet L. Robinson, Senior V.P., Advertising, at 212 556-7478 to make your message a part of The Times.

r Campic

SECTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE STATE OF THE

原が19 から PM 2001に近年が日本 可なのでき

通 金譜技

"在近日每月以下开始!"于一个写话,写过我们都是,又想过话里就打了这些写题又是过其他们眼想就开门时期间的话,你也是这样的话,可以那样的人,我们就是这一个人,我们就是这种的人,我们就是这样的人,我们就

COLUMN TATION TO THE WORKS OF THE THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

不可以以外,我们就是这种的人,他们也是一个人,他们也是一

e se de la company de la compa

Remarks file ett fra 1823 blade af Romanie Berger og 1888 blade ett file et

PAGE 18

《1979年1111日 · 1977年 · 日本日 · 1978年 · 1 9449 948 91 2.1 154 15 - 1 15148139 - -45p 2.00 1.28 2.40 2.40 9.10 .09 1.52 .00c .04 1.04 30 944 1.74 TOTAL

SE AS STATES SA SALESTE AND THE STATES ASSESSED ENTRESENTATION FOR THE PROPERTY AND THE STATES AND and the tries and central and and REPART PARTY STATES IN 1955 295 295 216 216 STATE IN STATE endane in endanter dere erres elementer en de la proposition de interpretation de la proposition de la SENSO IN GLAN SYNES 275 275 280 275 STATEST TO THE STATEST OF THE STATES

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong Kong 46 times a week, non-stop.

Fly Thai smooth as silk from Bangkok to Hong t

Confissed on Page 24

ACCRESANTA PROPERTY BANGARY ON A SECOND BEACH FOR ACCRESAN SECOND SOCIEDADES ACCRESANT SECOND PER STATE OF THE S THE REAL PROPERTY AND VALUE OF THE PROPERTY OF

1+ 1- 1- ++ 558 858 858

NEST NET SESSES

《神经》中,《神《神《神经》中,《神经》中,《神《神经》中,《神《神《神经》中,《神《神经》中,《神《神《神《神经》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神》中,《神《神》中,《神《神《神《神》中,《神《神》中,《神《神》

IN SECTION AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY OF THE P はなるが、はない 78年13年 必以 TANK TANKARI AND MAN TANKARI T 윊 東方はなるないのののなっていていていることでは、

CASE OF CHANGE OF THE PARTY OF

Microsoft to Crack Window on Sales

By Lawrence M. Fisher New York Times Service

NEW YORK - Microsoft Corp. will report its first-quarter financial results late Tuesday, and for technology investors that is when the really big shoe will fall.

The key question is whether Windows

95, the operating system Microsoft introduced amid great fanfare in August, is selling as well as anticipated. The answer, when it comes, will resound well beyond Microsoft.

Most sellers of personal-computer software, hardware and components have built inventories on the assumption that demand for almost everything new will spike because of Windows 95, which to run at its best requires newer hardware and software than most people own. Any sign of slack demand for Windows 95 would ripple painfully through the industry. Technology stocks dropped sharply last week after Novell Inc. said it expected lower earnings, Motorola Inc.'s profit disappointed some investors and other large companies sounded cautionary notes as well.

But share prices rebounded, partly because buyers rushed in to take advantage of the lower prices, partly because of strong earnings from Texas Instruments Inc. and Seagate Technology Inc., and partly because of a few encouraging words from Bill Gates, chairman and chief executive of Microsoft.

All that turmoil could appear as nothing but a mild breeze if Microsoft's earnings, which will be announced after the market closes, barely meet or fall below Wall

Many analysts now say that Microsoft will exceed the consensus estimate of 70 cents a share, but they are keeping a wary eye on Windows 95 sales, checking with Such a result would be a little first week of July.

NEW YORK -- Internation-

A Study Finds Net Users Are Mostly Tire-Kickers

Las Angeles Times Service

WASHINGTON - Though the number of Americans connecting to a commer-cial on-line service or the Internet continues to balloon, and will double this year, a new study of almost 4,000 consumers finds that many aren't smitten by cyberspace.

A study by the Times Mirror Center for the People and the Press found that fewer than one-third of those who connect with an on-line service such as CompuServe or Prodigy would miss it "a lot" if it were no longer available, and 9 percent of those surveyed had stopped using computers altogether.

The survey also found that no single online feature, with the exception of electronic mail, was used with any regularity but that CD-ROM drives, the interactive compact disk players found on almost half of all bome computers, were preferred by many consumers over on-line services.

absence of hard figures from Microsoft

"Nobody's really out there talking to customers. We're all out there talking to each other," said Rick Sherlund, an analyst with Goldman, Sachs & Co.

"It's my best guess they've sold about 2.5 million copies," he said, in line with his expectations of 10 million to 12 million copies in 12 to 18 months. But Microsoft shipped 8 million to 10 million copies on the first day, leaving distributors with too much inventory, he said: "I think Microsoft has agreed to take some of that back, but it's possible some of it will hang out there for two quarters."

cause of shortages of a power said Roxane Googin, a Gruntal stock was up $1.375 late Mon-

Tracinda owns 14 percent of Chrysler Corp. and recently

Corp., which it completed in the launched a takeover bid for the AS/400, one of IBM's most

IBM's stock has dropped from about $100 to its current trad-

& Co. analyst.

Tracinda Corp.

Wall Street Sees Strong Third Quarter for IBM

While Mr. Sherlund expects Microsoft to beat the earnings estimates, Michael Mur-phy, editor of the California Technology Stock Letter, takes a more bearish view. He said Windows 95 was selling at one-fourth of expected levels and that the result would be big oversupplies of everything from per-sonal computers to memory chips. That, in turn, will lead to price-cutting and poorer earnings in the fourth quarter, he said.

"We're not going to hear very good numbers on Windows 95, and expectations were very high from everybody," Mr. Murphy said, adding that he did not expect an upturn until 1996.

Microsoft shares, which trade on the Nasdaq market, have slid around 20 percent since July 17, when they hit a 52-week high of $109. The shares were quoted late Monday at $87.125, up 87.5 cents. A year ago, they were at a 52-week low of $55.125. Because estimates of the potential market for Windows 95 vary so widely, the sales to date are open to broad interpretation. But many analysts agree that after a phenomenal start, Windows 95 is selling in ine with the more conservative estimates.

That level of sales, coupled with related sales of applications software made specifically for Windows 95, should allow Microsoft to meet the consensus earnings estimate comfortably, they say.

Ann Stephens, an analyst with the mar-ket research company PC Data in Reston. Virginia, said Windows 95 had retail sales of $108 million in its first week, which translates to about 1.3 million copies, but had slowed to $28 million, or 329,000 copies, by the sixth week.

Concerns about sales have been heightened by reports in the trade press that the operating system is difficult to install and ashes often.

"If sales are fairly slow, there's a rea-n," said David Coursey, editor of PC Letter, an industry newsletter published in Foster City, California day at $93.875.

Gary H-Imig of SoundView

Financial said revenue on the cause of the transition. He added that sales of personal computers

In early September, IBM's On Tuesday, G. Richard chief financial officer, Jerome Thoman will hold his first con-

York, resigned to become vice ference call with analysts as the chairman of Kirk Kerkorian's company's new chief financial

Since Mr. York's resignation, suffer during the quarter be-

Telecom Plan Wins Approval From EU Body

BRUSSELS — The European Commission gave tentative approval Monday to a scaled-back French-German telecommunications joint venture after winning concessions aimed at ensuring that the deal did not restrict Karel Van Miert, the European Union competition commissioner, said he had reached an agreement in principle with France Telecom, Deutsche Telekom AG and their governments on a joint venture known as Atlas, which will provide data communications services mainly for businesses.

The main competition problems have been resolved," Mr. Van Miert said after a three-hour meeting with the company executives and German and French government officials.

He added that the commission, the EU's executive body, is aiming to make a final decision by next summer on the alliance, but that the companies were free to begin certain activities before the final decision.

The competition commissioner said he would propose Monday's agreement to the full commission on Wednesday, so that consultations with industry and member states could take place before the commission decides on final approval. The Atlas deal also is under scrutiny in the United States because of plans by the two state-owned telecom operators to acquire a 20 percent stake in Sprint Corp., the U.S. long distance carrier.

Atlas plans to link up with Sprint to offer international data communications services in a venture known as Phoenix. But the U.S. Federal Communications Commission is threatening to block Sprint's role unless the EU opens its telecommunications market to outside Brussels said. competition.

Mr. Van Miert said the commission's final decision on Atlas would include a decision on the acquisition of the Sprint stake. He has said that he had few problems with Phoenix and that the two deals would now be considered as a package.
The crux of Monday's accord is that Atlas will not be able to offer low-level data services, such as electronic mail, on the French and German markets until Jan. 1, 1998, the EU's deadline for liberalizing competition in all telecommunications services, including basic phone service for the public. France and Germany also have agreed to allow alternative telecommunications crated by utility companies, to compete with their phone monopolies by July 1, 1996. France and Germany also agreed to set up independent regulatory authorities overseeing issues such as interconnection of networks. "major concession, Mr. Van Miert said, was the telecom operators' agreement to keep their datatransmission subsidiaries -France Telecom Transpac and Deutsche Telekom's Datex-P — out of Atlas until

the ngle iany

well

orm

y as

eles

nan.

the

this

`t go

ism,

ister

The

iger,

iing-

will-slam

ıder-

петі-

arch

тее-

: the

hers

n flot. Short

m. flot to iveng i 9613 SHED

Jefrey S29 976 S20 9773 Emispec S20 9773 Emispec S20 977 Junion S20 977 S20 978 S20 97

the start of 1998. Data transmission services in domestic markets represented more than 80 percent of the revenues envisaged for Atlas in the original proposal, Mr. Van

"In the run-up to Jan. I, 1998, Atlas could build further on an already dominant position on its home markets," he said. Before 1998, the venture will be able to offer pan-European or international services and "value-added" services such as corporate communications networks. These services represent a much smaller share of Atlas's expected market, and are also an area where Atlas already faces competition from Concert, a joint venture of British Telecommunications PLC and MCI Communications Corp. of the United States. On Monday, BT said it would oppose the Atlas accord because of concerns that it did not do enough to ensure that new competitors were granted equal access to existing national networks.

"Unless service providers can have access to networks on cost-basis, nondiscriminatory terms, administered by an independent regulator, then we think it is difficult to see how the condiworld," a BT spokesman in

But Mr. Van Miert said he would insist that alternative infrastructures be opened to competition. "A commitment from government is not good enough. It must be real," he said.

While formal clearance may not come until next spring, the two telecom operators were free to start setting up the joint venture im-mediately, Mr. Van Miert

"It is not a merger. The commission does not have the power to stop them going ahead," he said.

Ron Sommer, chairman of Deutsche Telekom, said he expected Atlas to be introduced early next year.

(Reuters, AP, Bloomberg, AFP, AFX)

when IBM said it was delaying September fall, a $2.50 EPS ag-shipments of mainframes be-

Thinking Ahead /Commentary

Multinationals Are Too Much Maligned

By Reginald Dale International Herald Tribune

TASHINGTON — Multinational corporations make great scapegoats. Not so long ago, they were reviled as greedy, neocolonialist predators responsible for many of the world's worst evils, "We won't fight for Texaco," U.S. draft protesters chanted during the Viet-

Now U.S. multinationals are accused of exporting American jobs and technology to the poor countries they were only yesterday alleged to have been exploiting. They are also blamed for a range of other economic crimes including increasing the U.S. trade deficit and diverting needed investment overseas.

Strangely enough, foreigners investing in the United States are charged with almost identical offenses: driving down U.S. wages, poaching precious American technology, encouraging unnecessary imports and even threatening the nation's security.

Most of these charges are distorted or just plain wrong. But they are politically taling when too many Americans still mistakenly see the global economy as a threat to their livelihoods.

Dire warnings that American companies will move their operations abroad have become powerful populist weapons against free trade, and demands are growing for further barriers to be placed in the way of foreign investment.

Cross Rates

Other Dollar Values

Australian 5 1.2215
Australian 5 1.2215
Australian 5 1.2215
Australian 5 1.2215
Austrian sch. 10.028
Chinese years 8.3142
Cacch borung 76.44
Doutsh kranne 5.508
Etypt, poend 3.395
Fig. caeridox 4.3086

Forward Rates

Amsterdam, London, Mitan, Paris and Zurich, flaings in other centers; New York and

Mez. poso 6.755
N. Zenland S 1.5143
Norw. Irane 6.2645
Phil. poso 25,94
Polish zioty 238
Part. escudo 150.35
Russian rubie 4499.
Saedi riyal 3.75
Sleg. S 1.427

Taronto rates at 3 p.m. to Ta buy one pound: b: To buy one dating "Units at 100; H.Q.: not quoted; H.A.: not available.

Per 5 Currency

Greek droc. 733.44
Hong Kong $ 7.7313
Hung Forlot 134.21
Indian rupes 134.25
Indo. rupleth 2264
Irish £ 0.6217
Isroell shek. 2.0021
Nooky, ring. 2.5452

1.5740 1.5728 1.5718 1.3094 1.3401 1.3407 1.4184 1.4164 1.4142

So it is all to the good that two recent reports from different points on the political spectrum — one from the conservative American Enterprise Institute, one from the middle-of-the-road Economic Strategy Institute - seek to explode these myths.

There is no evidence, says the ESI, that U.S. multinationals have massively transferred jobs overseas. In fact, between 1977 and 1992 there was no increase in the percentage of workers they employed abroad compared with those

Rather than seek out low-cost countries, U.S. multinationals have consistently maintained more than two-thirds of their foreign affiliates, assets and employees in advanced nations with aboveaverage wages. They continue to conduct most of their research and development in the United States, and their impact on the trade balance is positive, the ESI

Conversely, the dramatic recovery in American competitiveness over the past 10 years owes much to the huge inflow of foreign investment into the United States in the late 1980s, according to contributors to the AEI's report, The Foreign Investment Debate, edited by Cynthia A. Beltz.

"Both Japan and Europe have great companies, but only the United States has the best Japanese, European and U.S. companies in the same place," writes Richard Florida of the Center for

CURRENCY & INTEREST RATES

Key Money Rates

United States

3-month CDs Comm. paper 189 days 3 month Treasury bill 1-year Treasury bill

Per S

3.4575 768.45 6.9366 26.89 25.10 50178, 3.6710 169.29

99.52 99.10 1.1433 1.1399

S. Air, rand S. Ker, wan Sweel, krona Thirtens Thai bairt Twitish fira UAE dirham Venez, bair.

2-year Treasory and 2-year Treasory asie 7-year Treasory asie 10-year Treasory asie 30-year Treasory boad Merrill Lyack 30-day ra supply unit.

Economic Development. "That translates into a tremendous performance advantage for the 21st century."

In the third quarter of 1994, charge for its $3.5 billion acquisition of Lotus Development

Given all the negative surprises announced since IBM's

In contrast, he says, by trying to limit international investment, Europe has "managed to forestall the industrial restructuring that the United States experienced in the 1980s."

Japan is also hurting itself by resisting foreign investment. America's great competitive advantage over Japan is that it attracts the world's best brainpower by welcoming foreign companies, Mr. Florida says.

Ironically, he adds, Japanese invest-ment has been crucial in transforming the American Midwest Rust Belt into nation's export belt and one of the world's most competitive manufacturing areas for autos and consumer electronics."

Two conclusions seem obvious. The first is that it is in everyone's interest to negotiate new international rules liberalizing investment flows, like those already agreed to for trade. Worldwide sales by foreign affiliates of multinational companies are now worth more than traditional exports.

The second is that it makes no economic sense to keep foreign companies from investing in the United States if their own governments fail to offer reciprocal treatment to U.S. multinationals, as advocates of "managed investment" are proposing. When so much of the world is opening up to investment, it would be a big mistake for the United States to start closing its doors.

| Deflor | D-Mark | Franck | F

Sources: Reuters, Lloyds Bank. Rates applicable to interbank deposits of $1 million minimum (or equivalent).

54 51/4 51

Bank base rate Call moony 1-month interbank 3-month interbank

France Laborection rule

Gold

American Express Takes Banking Unit Off Market

ing range in the low 90s. The were just "muddling along."

NEW YORK - American Express Co. said Monday it had decided not to sell its underperforming banking unit because the bids it had received were too low.

"We believe the bank will create more long-term value as an ongoing part of the company operating under the American Express brand than we would realize from a sale," said Harvey Golub, chairman and chief executive.

The financial services company said last month it was considering bids by U.S. and foreign institutions for American Express Bank. The talks lasted for several months, and there are no current plans to restart them, said Michael O'Neill, a spokesman for American Express did not disclose the size of the bids it had received for the unit. It hoped to sell the business for $1 billion, people familiar with the discussions said when the talks were confirmed last month.

Earnings at the banking unit were flat at $19 million in the second quarter, while profit at American Express rose 15 percent, to $410 million. American Express is expected to report thirdquarter earnings in the next few days.

CURRENCY AND CAPITAL MARKET SERVICES

TRADE NASDAQ STOCKS FOR $35 COMMISSION.

JB OXFORD & CO, established 1983 is a leading discount broker handling in excess of 10,000 trades per day. Through our Representative Offices in Switzerland investors can now buy or sell NASDAQ stocks for $35 commission. Call for further details.

Oct. 16

6% 6% 6% 6% 6% 6% 6% 6% 6% 6% 8.12 8.07

5.00 5.00 6.00 6.00

692 694 694 694 694 693 7.55 7.53

74 - 94 594 - 594 74 - 94 594 - 594 74 - 94 596 - 594

TELEPHONE

IFEXCO S.A. FOREX BROKERS THE RELIABLE PARTNER

24/24 DEALERS: REUTERS:

41 22/849 74 11 41 22/700 19 13

THE BEST SERVICE 24 HOURS A DAY International Foreign Exchange Corporation S.A. 86 Bis Route de Frontenex

1208 GENEVA - Switzerland

For further details on bow to place your listing contact:

WILL NICHOLSON in London Tel.: (44) 71 836 48 02 Fax: (44) 71 240 2254

Herald Eribune THE WORLD'S DAILY NEWSPAPER

SURGE TRADING S.A. FOREX & FUTURES BROKERS

surge trading THE SWISS DIFFERENCE

21-23 Rue du Clos, CH-1211 GENEVA 6 Tel.: (41) 22-7002051 Fax: (41) 22-7002061 24/24 HOURS DESK - SEE CNN-TEXT PAGE 695

COMPLIMENTARY REPORTS Dynamic Techniques of a Professional Currency Trader

These comprehensive reports are mandatory reading for all investors trading, or contemplating trading today's currency markets. Futures to Forex, subjective fundamental to objective technical, self directed to managed, Mr. Catranis and his staff have reviewed it all. EXECUTION FROM $12 PER R/T TRADE

To receive your free reports and our service guide call toll-free Switzerland 155-7233 Germany 0130-82-9666 France 0590-2246 0800-1-5880 Denmark 8001-6132 Greece 00-800-11-921-3013 Netherlands 06-022-0657 American tell line +714-499-8136 (fax) +714-499-8131(voice) American toll-free 800-859-7028 (fax) 800-894-5757 (voice) PETER CATRANIS SENIOR CURRENCY TRADER

Mr., Catranis is an 18 year veteran currency trader. He has authored numerous publications and software programs for beginners and expent alike. He has researched hundreds of currency programs and transacted billions of dollars in real-time trade. Currently he is accepting a limited number of new accounts. Account minimums $16,000 to $5,000,000 USD, depending the on program. FOREX CAPITAL MANAGEMENT Excellence in confidential trading services. cago Mercratile Exchange Conter 38 S. Wester Dr. #1912, Chicago II., 66686 , U.S.A.

SERVICES FOR THE INSTITUTIONAL AND INDIVIDUAL INVESTOR Custom portfolios, direct floor access, inter-

SPECIALIZED FUTURES AND CASH TRADING national order desks, one-on-one assistance with establishing market positions through dedicated brokers. Internet services.

Very briefly:

Investors Bail Out of Kmart Shares

TROY, Michigan (Bloomberg) — Investors bailed out of shares in Kmart Corp. on Monday, sending the price down nearly 12 percent on concerns the retailer was taking too long to turn around its ailing discount stores and on speculation the company would file for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection.

Knart stock fell to a five-year low of $10.25 in late trading on the New York Stock Exchange, down $1.125.

The company rebutted the bankruptcy speculation on Friday, i but investors were not convinced.

• Ameritech Corp.'s third-quarter net profit rose 11 percent, to $464.3 million, as new cellular phone customers helped lift revenue to $3.4 billion from $3.2 billion a year earlier.

• CPC International Inc. said third-quarter profit rose to $142.2 million from $125.4 million as revenue rose to $2 billion from $1.8

billion, led by strong overseas sales. • TRW Inc.'s third-quarter earnings rose 14 percent, to $93.6 million, driven by strong sales in its automotive and space and defense divisions.

. • First Union Corp. and Norwest Corp. have joined Bank of Boston. Corp. in talks to acquire Prudential Insurance Co. of America's $78 billion mortgage servicing portfolio, people familiar with the discussions said

Dell Computer Corp. unveiled a line of 24 personal computers, some of which include multimedia capability.

"• Apple Computer Inc. lowered prices on its Performa personal computers as much as 21 percent to compete with machines useful straining processors from Intel Corp.

Bloomberg, Reuters, AP Bloomberg, Reuters, AP

Big Banks' Quarterly Profits Rise

NEW YORK - Several large U.S. banks reported higher third-quarter profits Monday, benefiting from a surge in credit card use, higher fee income and lower premiums for deposit insurance.

The profit jump comes as a wave of big mergers sweeps the U.S. banking industry. With the long-term outlook for revenue growth clouded by competition, banks are combining forces to get more customers and expand into new markets.

In the near term, banks are taking advantage of a seemingly unquenchable demand for credit cards and other loans. Banks also were helped by a drop in Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. premiums, which has meant big refund checks and lower expenses for many institutions.

NationsBank Corp. said earnings rose 23 percent, First Chicago Corp.'s profit was up 35 percent, First Interstate Corp.'s profit jumped 83 percent, and Bank of New York Corp.'s earnings rose 21 percent.

Bucking the trend was Chase Manhattan Corp., which saw earnings drop 7 percent from a year earlier, when it had gains from selling real estate assets and investment securities.

Most of the earnings exceeded analysts' expectations.

The industry's putting in a pretty good quarter," said George Bicher, an analyst at Alex. Brown & Sons. "People are doing a little bit better than we had thought." Brokerages, meanwhile, also turned in a strong performance, helped by higher revenue from commissions and investment banking activities. Bear, Stearns & Co. said net income nearly tripled, while Smith Barney Inc.'s contribution to the profit of its parent company, Travelers Group Inc., more than double Bear Stearns said it earned a net $93.8 million its first quarter, up from $35.5 million a year earlier. The results reflect Wall Street's recovery from 1994, when the biggest bond-market decline in a generation caused profits in the U.S. securities industry to fall 81 percent.

Smith Barney earned $177.9 million in the third quarter, up from $72.9 million, and Travelers earned $481.4 million in the quarter, compared with $331.3 million.

But not all companies benefited from the bond-market revival. Chase Manhattan, which plans to merge with Chemical Banking Corp. to form the largest U.S. bank, said profit fell to $283 million from $305 million as securities trading and underwriting lagged and revenue from equity stakes and investment securities fell. The bank's net interest income fell to $892 million from $922 million, but fees from investment banking rose 35 percent, to $62 million Revenue from consumer banking in-creased to $180 million from $162 million. NationsBank said it earned $530 million in the third quarter, up from $431 million a year earlier, as a 16 percent increase in loans fueled a $90 million jump in net interest income, to $1.42 billion.

First Chicago's profit for the quarter was $207.2 million, up from $153.8 mil-

Credit card loans surged 31 percent, to $1.49 billion. The bank signed on 800,000 new accounts for a record 2.5 million ac-

First Chicago's trading business bounced back from previous quarters, surging to $79 million from $41.6 million on stronger foreign exchange and derivatives revenue. The trading results were the highest in two years.

Richard Thomas, the chairman of First Chicago, said the strong results showed the bank was on solid footing as it prepared to merge with Detroit-based NBD Bancorp inc. Shareholders of both companies will vote Friday on the merger, which would create the seventh-largest U.S. bank.

First Interstate earned $237.8 million in the quarter, up from $130 million a year earlier, when results were dented by a restructuring charge.

Average loans increased 21 percent, to $35.4 billion, leading to higher net interest income.

Net income for the Bank of New York was $234 million in the quarter, up from $194 million. Profit was fueled by corporate loan growth, higher credit card loans and bigger fees from securities processing. The bank's net interest income rose to $512 million from $448 million.

The bank gained $47 million from selling its mortgage business, but the gain was offset by additions of equal value to its provision for possible loan losses.

The bank raised its provision for loan losses to $113 million from $39 million. Noninterest income rose to $405 million from $321 million, mainly from higher processing fees.

on what foreign exchange rates were justi-

The dollar was quoted in late trading at 1.4233 Deutsche marks, off slightly from a close on Friday of 1.4265 DM, and at fied by economic fundamentals.

100.55 yen, down from 100.97 yen.

at $1.5745, up from $1.5740.

Bloomberg, Reuters, AFX)

Earnings Jitters Hold Back Stocks

NEW YORK — Stocks were action to a Commerce Departdown on U.S. markets late ment report that business in-Monday as technology and food stocks suffered because of investor anxiety about earnings

The Dow Jones industrial avcrage was at 4,783.38, down 9.40 from the day's opening. Declining issues led advancers

U.S. Stocks

by about 4 to 3 on the New York Stock Exchange, where volume was about 237 million shares, down from 310.05 million on Friday.

Jon Groveman, president and head of equity trading at Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., said many investors were on hold until they see earnings reports for several key technology companies.

Intel was expected to report earnings after the market closed. Its shares were up slightly in late trading.

Microsoft, whose earnings are due late Tuesday, was also

On the New York Stock Exchange, blue-chip stocks were led lower by Kmart Corp., whose shares fell in heavy volume. The discount retailer said reports that it may file for bankruptcy protection were "inaccurate and misleading."

Procter & Gamble Co., Walt Disney Co. and American Express Co. also were losers.

CPC International, maker of well-known branded food products, fell even though the company announced that earnings rose 13 percent, in line with analysts' expectations.

The U.S. unit also was quoted at 4.9640 French francs, up from 4.9620 francs on Friday, and at 1.1538 Swiss francs, down "Investors have gotten so used to upside surprises" from from 1.1545 francs. The pound was quoted the company, said Nomi Ghez, an analyst at Goldman, Sachs & Co. She added that most of CPC's profit gains came from overseas, which suggested sluggish earnings expansion in the United States.

Other consumer companies were hurt by the CPC fallout. Procter & Gamble and Kellogg Co. fell, and Unilever NV American depositary receipts weakened.

The markets showed little reventories rose more than expected at 0.4 percent in August. The July figure was revised upward from an earlier estimate of 0.3 percent.

The Commerce Department also said that business sales surged 1.5 percent in August, the biggest jump in a year, after falling 1.1 percent in July. Sales were 5.1 percent higher than August 1994.

Also putting mild pressure on stocks was the bond market. where the benchmark 30-year Treasury bond was off 5/32 point and yielding 6.32 percent.
But Peter Cardillo, research director at Westfalia Investments, said he believed stocks were on solid ground because of "sound fundamentals" in the economy, mostly the fact the interest rates are low.

(AP, Bloomberg)

New Products Lift Pfizer Net

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatche NEW YORK - Pfizer Inc. said Monday that its net income rose 26 percent in the third quarter, driven by strong sales of new products.

The drugmaker said third-quarter net climbed to $425.3 million from $336.5 million a year earlier, as revenue rose to $2.62 billion from $2.08 billion.

Pfizer's new products include the antidepressant Zoloft, the antibiotic Zithromax, the heart drug Norvasc, the antifungal Diflucan and the heart drug Cardura. David Shedlarz, Pfizer's chief financial officer, said the company expected sales to exceed $10 billion for the year. The company plans to spend $1.5 billion on research and development. (Bloomberg, Reuters)

Summers Says U.S. Needs Strong Dollar

NEW YORK - Lawrence Summers. the U.S. deputy Treasury secretary, said Monday a strong dollar was in the best interests of the United States and that the most lasting way to expand exports was through the opening of markets and not through a policy of dollar depreciation.

"A strong dollar is in our own interests," he said at a meeting of The Japan Society. He said a strong dollar created higher domestic wages and lower domestic interest rates while also maintaining a central role in the world trading system.

"A country can't devalue its way into prosperity," he said. "The dollar is not a tool of U.S. trade policy."

He said "significant progress" had been made in opening Japan's markets to U.S. goods since the launch in 1993 of framework talks on trade between Japan and the "U.S. exports have grown far more rapidly to Japan than to other countries," he said. "Real progress has been made under the framework talks." Dampening speculation that the frame-work talks involved the discussion of specific foreign exchange targets, he said they were instead a forum to discuss wider issues of the economic relationship between the two countries.

Foreign Exchange

Mr. Summers said recent intervention activity by the central banks of the United States, Japan and Germany was not based on the achievement of any specific level for the dollar. He described the recent effort as a "middle ground," a compromise between allowing rates to fluctuate with market forces and an effort to reflect mutual agreement

IN GREAT BRITAIN

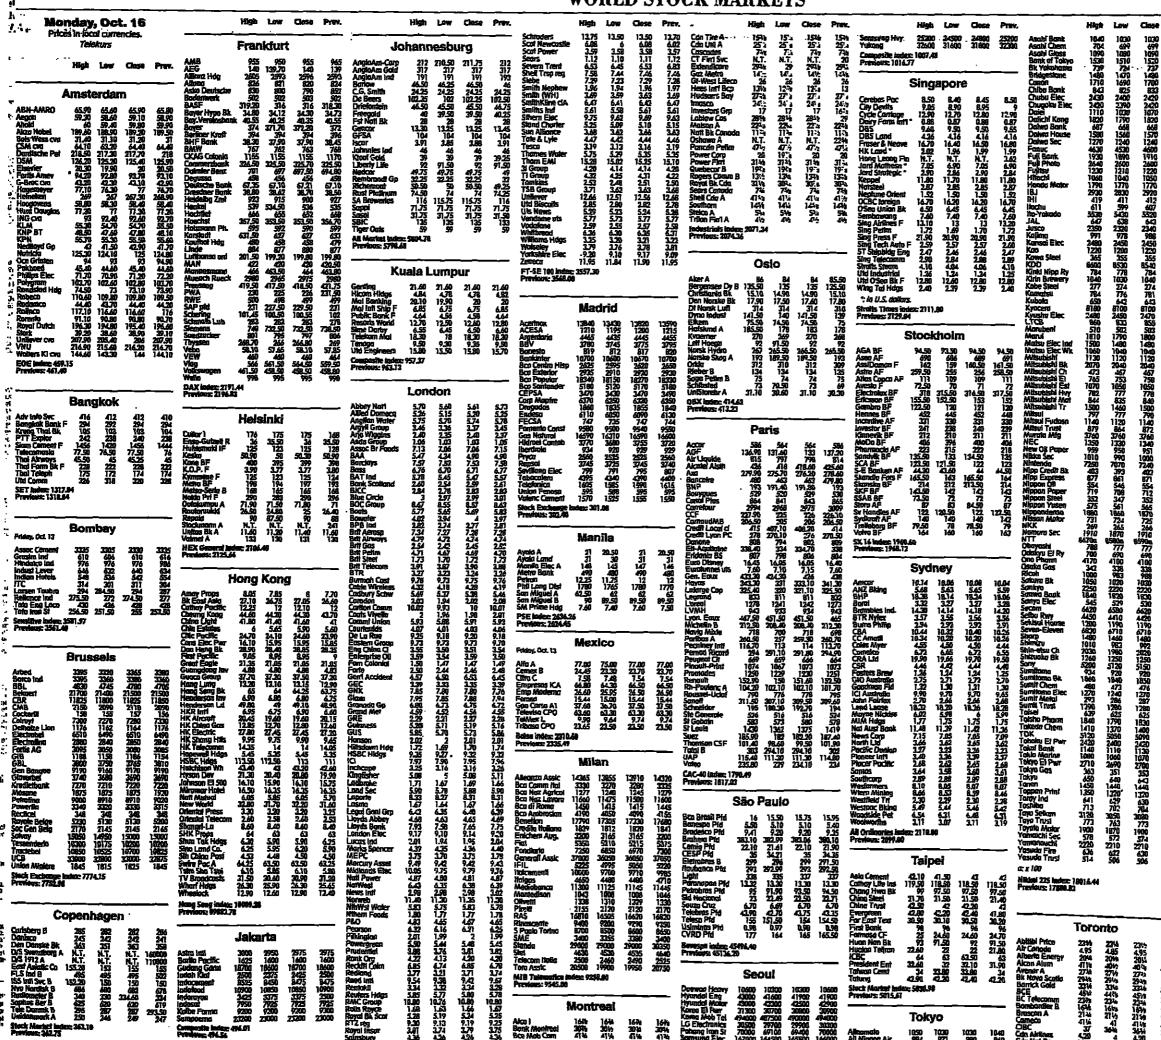

TO OUR READERS

It's never been easier to subscribe and save. Just call tall-free: 0 800 89 5965

118.50 97.50 21.40 47.50 24.75 21.80 24.75 21.80 31.90 31.90 42.50

23% 495 20% 41% 23% 25% 16% 21% 420 23%

WORLD STOCK MARKETS

Cdri Occid Per Cdri Pactific Continuo Consumers Gas Dofesco Doman Ind B Du Part Crin A nia. The second of the second

3.98 1.15 3.50 4.73 4.64 2.21 1.50 4.37 3.18 1.98 22.50 6.19 2.04 8.90

Zunich

Adio 8
ANUSSER R
ANUSSER R
ARTS-Serono B
Boot Halp B
Boots Halp R
BBC B Botolse Halp R
BBC B BOSE B
CBO Gelgy R
CS Haldings R
Eschinwart B
Frocher B
Hall P
Frocher B
Frocher Halp P
Frocher B
Frocher Hall P
Frocher Hall

265 263 363 11.1. 15.279 45.0 15.279 45.0 15.279 45.0 15.279 202 242 363 N.T., N.T., 150 682 334,60 267 249

3000 1625 18700 2500 8525 10900 3425 7950 9200 23290 2950 1600 18600 2375 9450 10850 3375 7925 9200 23000 2975 1600 18600 2500 9475 10900 3500 7925 9300 23000 ail-

ĊΩ

in ere ıce,

រនេ of-i at ım-

×tiials hen grid the

ried

the

5 to bire

at a aph

any

well

ıg a weli

OΠΠ

y as

eles

nan.

the

this

t go

ism,

ister

The

ashiger, ated is a ingis.
willslam asiderneri-

arch

ree-: the tear-hers they port sup-e re-illes four room, boths, Porlang 107.

• flost.
Short

m. flost le living i 9613

17 sqn dining 501207

Adivery $29,9% consists $20,9% consists $20,9% consists $20,997 initions $19,260 consists $22,911 ($39,21) variables $20,922 $20,822 $

, i

A Budget Fight Adds to Problems At Milan Markets

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches MILAN - Stocks, bonds and the lira fell Monday after former Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi threatened to oppose the 1996 budget, and two of the country's largest compa-nies, Olivetti SpA and Gemina SpA, were handed setbacks.

Mr. Berlusconi was ordered Saturday to stand trial on charges that he and 10 executives of his media company. Fininvest SpA, had paid 380 million lire ($237,000) in bribes to tax inspectors.

In response to the indictment by Justice Minister Filippo Mancuso, Mr. Berlusconi said his party, Forza Italia, would not support the budget, which weeks 32.5 trillion lire in spending cuts, unless Mr. Mancuso was impeached.

"Berlusconi's indictment creates an incredible amount of event risk for the market," Paolo Aldrighi, a fund manager, said. "You simply can't predict the outcome, so the most prudent thing to do is stay

The price of the benchmark 10-year 10.5 percent govern-ment bond fell, pushing its yield up to 11.86 percent from 11.73 percent Friday. The Deutsche mark rose to 1,128.05 lire from 1.122.60 lire.

The all-share Mibtel index gefi SpA, Sasib SpA and the fell 207 points, or 2 percent, to 9,338.00.

"There is not a lot of good news out there," said William Cowan, an analyst at James Capel & Co. "The weekend's events extended the uncertainty but have not solved the problems with Gemina and Olivetti which hang over the market."

Bankers opposed part of the prises in future. planned recapitalization of Ohvetti. raising concern that Carlo De Benedetti, the company's chairman, may have to sell some of his other holdings to maintain his stake in Olivetti. his reaction will be.

The board of Gemina decided over the weekend to demote its top two executives and delay its merger with Ferruzzi Finanziaria SpA and two subsidiaries of Fiat SpA. Gemina was the most active stock, dropping 38 lire, or 5 percent, to 660. Shares in Ferruzzi also fell 5 percent, to finish at 895.

Insider Cases: Slow Gains

Olivetti shares rose 1 lire, to 1,312. A group of banks led by

Mediobanca SpA decided over the weekend to back Olivetti's planned 2.257 trillion lire capital increase but not those of two companies controlled by Mr.

De Benedetti: Compagnia Fin-anziaria de Benedetti SpA, or

Cofide, and Compagnie Indus-triali Riunite SpA, or CIR. Analysts said the decision was a say in the management of the while shares in CIR fell 10, to

990. CIR was asking for a capital increase of 465 billion lire, and Cofide was asking for 167.5 billion lire. The companies wanted the cash to participate in their part of Olivetti's share

Mr. De Benedetti owns 37.2

percent of Colide, which owns

42.3 percent of CIR, which in turn has a 20.8 percent stake in Olivetti. Because it will not be able to take up its planned share of the Olivetti rights issue,

CIR's stake in Olivetti will fall to 16 percent after the offering.

traders expect Mr. De Benedetti to divest himself of some of his other holdings. Those include Valeo SA of France, So-publisher Gruppo Editoriale Espresso SpA. Shares in all those companies fell Monday.

Fabrizio Mambretti, an analyst at Gamba Azzoni SIM, said the banks' decision to put off the Colide and CIR cash calls was "a move to have greater say in the running of the group so as to avoid any disagreeable sur-putting De Benedetti under pressure to contribute more nimself," Mr. Mambretti said, and it remains to be seen what a unit or two depends totally on the financial situation of the De Benedetti family."

they now hold.

"Whether he is obliged to sell

"The banks also seem to be

To retain his stake in Olivetti.

Stock in Cofide fell 6, to 450,

Olivetti group.

offering bid by the banks for a greater

LONDON - Few investors were surprised when Boddington Group PLC, a beer distributor and leisure company, said it was in takeover talks with the pub operator Greenalls PLC this month. Its shares on the London Stock Exchange were already up nearly 9 percent in active trading on the day the talks were announced.

The story was no different for investors in S.G. Warburg Group PLC, Kleinwort Benson Group PLC, Wellcome PLC and a half-dozen other British companies that saw their shares surge before they were taken over this year.

With European financial markets becoming increasingly connected and technologi cally advanced, the shadow of insider trading still hangs heavy over the industry.

From places like Milan. where backroom deals and selected leaks are a traditional way of doing business, to Zurich, Paris and London, abusive trading is a common occurrence and one that cynical investors have come to expect.

Regulators are fighting back, although legal restrictions, growing cross-border trading and lack of communication between regulators and exchanges makes it difficult if not impossible to punish violators. "It doesn't take a genius to do it; it takes a genius to catch them," said Brian Winterflood, president of Winterflood Securities in London. "It shouldn't be that difficult to trace, but what happens is you run into these foreign accounts, and there's nothing that can be done." Some signs of improveBelgium, Germany, the Netherlands and Switzerland scored their first insider-trading convictions. In Britain, 13 insider-trading cases were referred to the ment are starting to be seen.

In the past year, regulators in Department of Trade and Industry from the London Stock Exchange, and six of them are currently being investigated.

In France, regulators are in-vestigating Swiss Bank Corp. and Salomon Brothers Inc. for European regulators are fighting back. but against the odds.

possible insider trading in connection with a share issue from Eurotunnel last spring. Part of the reason for the rise in referrals is advancements in technology, which make it easier for exchange officials and regulators to monitor trading.

At the London Stock Exchange, for example, supervisors can watch price trends in British stocks while reviewing trades on other exchanges such as the New York Stock Exchange or the London International Financial Futures and Options Exchange.

Computers enable supervisors to spot suspicious movements and trace them almost immediately to the account from which the trading came without having to speak to the brokerage firm or customer to whom the account belongs. New laws designed to give exchanges and regulators more teeth also are popping up. In Switzerland, where the three main stock exchanges have traditionally been responsible for regulating themselves, a law that takes effect next year will require them to report to the Federal Banking Commission.

Still, the number of cases investigated in Europe pales in comparison to the number of cases pursued by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Britain's Department of Trade and Industry has taken up 34 cases since 1980. The SEC has taken up 450 cases in that period, including 35 in the past year.

European regulators say the disparity is due to the fact the SEC has a legal recourse they lack: the cease-and-desist order. The SEC can fine individuals and order them to stop particular trading practices without those involved having to admit guilt.

In Europe, laws require regulators to prove in court that an offense was committed. While it may be easy to prove that a company director had supplied information to someone, it is not easy to prove the director knew what the information would be used for. There is no plea-bargaining.

As a result, convictions are rare. In Switzerland, 29 of 30 cases investigated since an insider trading law was passed in 1988 have been dropped. In Britain, the DTI won 23 of the 34 cases it has brought but has had to drop far more because of lack of evidence.

Exchange officials in London and across Europe acknowledge that they have a long way to go to curb insider

Data Signal Slowdown In German Growth

BONN - German industrial production slumped a seasonally adjusted 3.4 percent in August from July, the Economics Ministry said Monday, confirming warnings that growth in Europe's powerhouse economy is slowing.

The ministry said industrial production in Western Germany, where nine-tenths of the country's output comes from, tumbled 4.8 percent in August from a year earlier.

The surge of 4 percent originally posted for July was revised downward to 2.3 percent. In Eastern Germany, indus-August from July. The July figtrial output rose 7.3 percent in ure was revised to a fall of percent from the drop of 3.8

figure last month. Economists were surprised by the severity of the drop.

percent given as a preliminary

"The August figure was worse than expected, as was the downward revision in July," said Thomas Mayer of Goldman Sachs. "But if you take July and August together, the decline is in line with our general presumption that the German economy is slowing in the second half of 1995."

"It is consistent with the trend of a flattening economy," said Gerhard Grebe, chief economist at Bank Julius Baer in Frankfurt. "The effects of the surge in the mark in the spring are now coming through.

The economists said the mark's strength and high wage increases in the spring were pricing German goods out of world markets and slowing export growth.

Separately, the Federal Statistics Office announced that consumer prices in Western Germany were revised to show a 0.1 percent decline in the month ending in the middle of September and rose a revised 1.6 percent from a year earlier. A month earlier, prices were down 0.2 percent on the month and up 1.5 percent on the year. For all of Germany, consum-flation rate was 1.8 percent.

Very briefly:

• Burford Holdings PLC plans to spin off the Trocadero video games and fast-food complex in London's Piccadilly Circus district and float it on the stock market. It said it would retain a 29.5 percent in the new company, Trocadero PLC.

Merck KgAA, a family-owned drug and chemicals group, said it planned to raise 2.1 billion Deutsiche marks ($1.47 billion) in Germany's largest postwar stock offering. The 327-year-old company is selling a quarter of its shares.

• NV De Telegraaf's unit Dee Telegraaf Tijdschriften Groep BV is holding talks with a unit of Reed Elsevier PLC for the acquisition of six magazines.

 Russia's Institute of Training for Banking and Financial Managers said 70 percent to 80 percent of Russian banks were controlled by organized crime and that such groups accounted for "a major portion" of Russia's private economic sector, which it said generated more than 60 percent of Russia's gross national product.

Cie. Financière de Paribas Chairman André Lévy-Lang said the company's target of increasing profit margins to 10 percent from 3 percent over the next three to four years was "realistic." • The European Carmakers' Association expects European sales of cars and commercial vehicles weighing less than 5 tons to rise 0.5 percent in 1995 and "a little more" than that in 1996. Elf Aquitaine's management of its financial units from 1988 to 1993 was criticized in a confidential report by France's official

Audit Commission as lacking a "true financial and investment strategy," the magazine L'Expansion said. Spain's economy minister said the country had a budget deficit of 2.67 trillion pesetas ($21.7 billion) for the first nine months of 1995, down 5.8 percent from a year earlier. French stock analysts have sharply cut their forecasts for 1995 company earnings in reaction to weak first-half corporate results, according to a survey by Associés en Finance, an analysis' group. Forecasts for earnings per share in 1995 were cut by an average of

Siemens AG said a $2 billion syndicated loan, the company's first, was an insurance policy and that the company, which currently has the equivalent of at least $10 billion in cash, did not plan to use the money.____ Bloomberg Reuters AFX

5.9 percent for stocks on the CAC-40 index.

Privatization Talk Helps Pechiney defer that sale until market conditions improve.

PARIS - Shares in Pechiney SA rose Monday after Industry Minister Yves Galland said the government might sell shares in the aluminum and packaging company next month. In an interview with the business daily Les Echos, Mr. Galland said Pechiney was "in a Olivetti will ask shareholders positive cycle" because of dynamic management. at a meeting Oct. 25 to approve He added that the company "may conceivably be an offering of three new shares privatized next month. at 1.000 lire each for every two That would put a Pechiney sale before the proposed second offering of shares in the car-maker Renault. The government has said it will comment. (Bloomberg, AFX)

The government sold Renault shares in November 1994, reducing its stake to 51 percent.

Pechiney shares rose 5.50 francs, or 2 percent, to 278 francs ($56). While Pechiney declined to comment on the report, it said the company would be "financially and technically ready" for sale by the end of Officials of the Finance Ministry, which will er prices fell 0.1 percent on the decide when to sell part or all of its 56 percent month, and the year-on-year in-(Reuters, Bloomberg)

INTERNATIONAL FUTURES

INTERUMITOR	TALL PUT UTUES
High Low Close Chgo Open≀	High Low Close Change	High Low Clase Chge Opin
ORANGE AUCE (NCTN)	Mar 95.36 95.36 95.33 — 0.01	Dec 96 75.70 74.95 74.98 -0.79 5.65 Est. sales N.A. Fri's sales 5.241 Fri's open int 66,709 off 290
15,000 lbs cents per lb. Nov 95 117-50 116-30 117-30 +0.35 9,643	Est. volume: 93,040, Open Int.; 191,000, 16-YEAR FRENCH GOV. BONDS (MATTIF) FF580,000 - pts of 100 pcf	Fri's open int 66,709 off 290
Jon 96 119.50 118.60 119.45 +0.45 9.134 Mor 96 127.00 121.10 121.70 +0.45 2.554	Dec 115.64 175.04 775.12 0.34 Mar 114.98 114.54 114.62 0.28	HEATING OIL (NAMER) 42,000 gail- cents per gal
May 96 123,10 123.10 123.70 +0.70 Est. soles N.A. Pri's soles 2,967	Jon 11510 (1510 11472 0.34 Est. volume: 102,118. Open int.: 102,033.	Nov 95 49.15 48.45 48.85 —0.67 36.56 Dec 95 49.70 49.05 49.42 —0.10 41.74 Jan 96 50.15 49.65 49.87 —8.13 35.71
Fri's open int 23,667 up 476	ITALIAN GOVERNMENT BOND (LIFFE) ITL 200 million - phy ol 100 p.C	Feb 96 49.85 49.55 49.62 — U.US 16.503
Metals	Dec 102.74 101.75 101.90 — 0.75 Est, volume: 31,179, Open int.: 45.451.	Mar 96 48.85 48.70 48.62 6.56; Apr 96 47.70 47.70 47.57 +0.05 4.076
GOLD (NCMX)	High Low Clase Chge Opini	After 96 46.75 46.70 46.62 + 0.65 7.787 Jun 96 46.40 46.30 46.37 + 0.05 4.150 Jul 96 46.70 46.70 46.67 + 0.05 3.275
100 tray oz deflars per tray oz. Oct 95 383.90 0.30 320 Nov 95 384.70 0.30	EURODOLLARS (CMER) 51 million-ets of 100 pc.	Jul 96 46.70 46.70 46.67 + 8.05 3.275 Aug 96 47.20 47.20 47.12 + 0.05 2.484 Est. soles 20.372 Fri's soles 18,050 Fri's open in 1158,128 up 3/2
Dec 95 387.00 384.00 384.10 —0.30 98.397 Feb 96 388.90 388.10 388.30 —0.30 23.467	Dec 95 94.260 94.230 94.250 404.328
Apr 96 391.20 390.60 390.70 —0.30 9,970 km 96 394.00 393.30 393.40 —0.30 12.300	Mar 96 94.430 94.430 94.430 368.438 Jun 96 94.440 94.430 94.430 246.764 Sep 96 94.390 94.350 94.380 —10 179,216	LIGHT SWEET CRUDE (NMER) 1,000 bbl - dofors per bbl
Aug 96 395.90 —0.30 2.880 Oct 96 398.60 —0.30 1,780	Dec 96 94,230 94,200 94,230 —10 174,861 Mor 97 94,210 94,170 94,200 —10 139,148	Nov 95 17.60 17.35 17.59 +0.18 54.270 Dec 95 17.38 17.20 17.37 +0.10 81,957
Est. sales 9,500 Fr1's. sales 18,654 Fr1's open int 181,223 up 345	Jun 97 94 140 94 100 94 130 —10 124,463 Sep 97 94,070 94,040 94,070 —10 92,875	Jan 96 17.23 17.12 17.21 + 0.66 45.852 Feb 96 17.15 17.07 17.15 + 0.05 70.911
HI GRADE COPPER (NCMX)	Est. sales N.A. Fri's, sales 413, 148 Fri's open int 2,241,921 oft 785	Addr 96 17.07 17.06 17.11 +0.05 16,784 Apr 96 17.03 17.02 17.07 +0.05 12,890 May 96 17.03 17.00 17.03 +0.05 9,136
25,800 Rbs cent's per lb. Oct 95 128.10 127.80 128.050.55 1,145 Nov 95 127.85 126.80 127.85 +0.20 1,349	BRITISH POUND (CMER) 5 per pound-1 point equals $0.0001	Jun 96 16.95 16.94 16.99 - 0.04 (8.152
Dec 95 127.20 125.30 127.05 + 0.45 21.091 Jon 96 125.95 125.00 126.05 + 0.45 581	Dec.95 1.5750 1.5706 1.5720 +6 35.995 Mar 96 1.5688 +6 149	Lui 96 76.93 16.93 16.98 +0.04 6.17s Aug 96 16.94 16.97 +0.31 5.421 Sep 96 16.94 16.94 16.97 +0.31 7.083
Apr 96 12430 122.90 124.05 +0.30 5,204 Apr 96 122.90 +0.20 167	Jun 96 1,5649 +4 10 Sep 96 1,5606 +2 5	Sep 96 16,94 16,94 16,97 +0,31 7,083 Oct 96 16,98 16,94 16,96 +0,03 3,843 Nov 96 16,98 16,94 16,96 +0,03 2,963
May 96 122.30 121.70 121.75 + 0.10 1.622 Jul 96 120.00 119.25 120.15 + 0.10 1,567	Est. sales N.A. Fri's sales 3,344 Fri's open int 36,159 up 163	Est. soles 80,546 Pri's soles 84,755 Pri's open int 348,050 up $453
Aug % 119,15 +0,10 Est. sales 8,000 Fri's sales 7,630	CANADIAN DOLLAR (CMER) $ por dir- 1 point equals $0.0001	NATURAL GAS (NIMER)
Fri's open int 36,336 up 223 SILVER (NCMX)	Dec 95 7479 7450 7475 +15 38,758 Mar 96 7466 7448 7463 +15 3,223	10,000 mm blu's. 5 per mm blu Nov 95 1,745 1,692 1,709 —41 20,859
$400 troy to - rents per into to.	Jun 96 .7450 +15 1,304 Sep 96 .7435 +15 389	Dec 95 1.870 1.800 1.813 —64 25,694 Jon 96 1.905 1.860 1.870 —44 23,739 Feb 96 1.850 1.815 1.818 —33 11.987
Nov 95 533.5 —3.7 Dec 95 542.0 535.0 536.0 —3.7 60.185	Est. sales N.A. Fri's, sales 3.814 Fri's open int 43,900 off 867	Feb 96 1.850 1.815 1.818 —33 11,787 AAcr 96 1.780 1.760 1.764 —17 8,946 Apr 96 1.710 1.700 1.699 —14 5,601
Jan 96 541.0 547.0 537.73.7 26 Mar 96 547.5 542.0 542.61.7 12.291	GERMAN MARK (CMER)	May 96 1,710 1,700 1,70114 5,686
May 96 548.5 547.0 546.83.7 6.665 Jul 96 550.73.7 6,466	$ per mork- 1 point equals $0.0001 Dec 95	Aug 96 1.725 1.725 1.707 _13 4.164
Est. sales 10.000 Fri's, sales 9.517	Jun 96 .7118 +31 69 Sep 96 .7146 +31 15	Sep 96 1,730 1,725 1,712 —13 3,832 Est, soles 32,544 Fri's, soles 11,551 Fri's open int 136,458 off 531
Fr?'s open int 99,880 up 330 PLATINUM (NMER)	Est. sales N.A. Fri's, sales 23,498 Fri's open int 52,404 up 324	Fri's open int 136,458 off 531 UNLEADED GASOLINE (NAMER)
50 troy oz - doliars per troy oz. Oct 95 411,50 411,50 412,001.50 555	JAPANESE YEN (CMER)	42,000 and - cornis per net
Jon 96 414.90 411.50 412.00 —0.50 20,974 Apr 96 414.50 413.50 412.50 —0.40 1,577	S per yen- 1 point equals $9,000001 Dec 95 .010077 .010008 .010042 +41 57,299 Mar 96 .010212 .010185 .010189 +45 8,731	Dec 95 49.45 49.10 49.36 D 1: 18.896 Jon 96 49.48 49.20 49.35 +0 8.086
July6 414.50 414.50 413.70 —0.40 1,497 0ct 96 — 114.50 —0.40	Jun 96 010328 + 49 330	Feb 96 47.95 49.70 49.85 + 0.15 3.164 Mar 96 50.20 50.15 50.17 + 0.15 1.884
Est, soles N.A. Fri's soles 1,242 Pri's open int 24,636 off 288	Est, sales N.A. Fri's sales 11.814 Fri's open int 66,458 off 116	Apr 96 52.95 52.90 52.87 +0.17 2.759 Est. sales 12.781 Fri's sales 17.09 Fri's open int 61,968 up 1646
Clase Previous LONDON METALS (LME)	SWISS FRANC (CMER) 1 per franc - I coint equals $0.0001 Dec 95	High Low Last Settle Chica
Dollars per metric ion Alsoninum (High Grade)	Macr 96 .8845 .8800 .8809 +26 1.782 .bun 96 .8880 +26 .402	GASOIL (IPE) U.S. dollars per metric ton-lots of 153 tons
Alvanicum (Flight Grade) Spot 1656.00 1657.00 16711; 16721/5 Farword 1672.00 1693.00 1706.00 1707.00 Copper Caffeedes (Night Grade)	Est sales N.A. Fri's sales 17.176 Fri's open int 33.858 off 624	Nov 148.00 146.50 146.50 146.50 — 0.75 Dec 149.00 147.50 147.50 147.50 Umdi
Spoi 2779.00 2775.00 2820.00 2825.00 Forward 2746.00 2747.00 2764.00 2765.00	High Lyw Clase Change	Jan 149-50 148-50 148-50 148-5 4 0 90 Feb 149-25 148-75 748-75 14
Lead 5ppf 645.00 647.00 644.00 645.00	3-MONTH STERLING (LIFFE) 1590,800 - pis of 100 pci Dec 91.27 91.24 91.25 — 6.62	Apr 146.75 147.35 147.35 146.25 100 May 148.00 148.00 148.00 147.51 2 100
Forward 644% 645.00 639.00 640.00 Nickel	Mar 93.30 93.75 93.26 0.01	Jump 147.00 147.00 148.50 146.50 4 100 July 148.00 148.00 148.00 147.50 + 0.75 Aug 149.00 147.00 147.00 147.00 1.50
Spot 7785.00 7790.00 7835.00 7845.00 Forward 7910.00 7915.00 7960.00 7965.00	Dec 92.82 92.75 92.77 + 8.01	Oct 152.00 152.00 152.00 150.00 1.50
Tex Spot 6195.00 6205.00 6245.00 6255.00 Forward 6260.00 6270.00 6305.00 6310.00	Mar 92.58 92.52 92.55 + 0.02 Jun 92.53 92.76 92.00 + 0.02 Sep 92.12 92.06 92.08 + 0.01 Dec 91.94 91.91 91.91 + 0.01	Est, valume: 11,922 . Open int, 92,489 SREENT CRUDE Oit, (SPE)
Zinc (Special High Grade) Spot 965.00 966.00 974.00 975.00	AAR 9174 9175 ± 689	Nov 16.40 1675 1630 barrels
Forward 989.00 990.00 997.00 998.00	Jim 91.46 91.45 91.45 +0.02 Sep 91.55 91.54 91.54 +0.05 Est. volume: 33.305. Open int.: 302.977.	16.15 16.00 16.14 16.15 + 0.13 15.00 16.00 16.00 + 0.12
High Low Close Chee Colort	2-MONTH EUROMARKS (LIFFE) DM1 million - pts of 198 pct	AM 1572 1574 1578 1570 1970
Financial UST, BILLS (CMER):	Dec 96.03 95.99 96.02 Unch. Mar 96.14 96.10 96.11 — 0.02	May 15.65 15.65 15.73 + 0.10 Jun 15.61 15.61 15.61 15.21 + 0.10
st milden- ets et 100 pcz.' Dec 95 94.84 94.81 94.810.02 12,270	Jun 96.04 96.03 96.03 Unch, Sen 95.84 95.79 95.84 0.01	JTY 15.60 15.56 15.60 15.60 1 002 Aug N.T. N.T. N.T. 15.47 1 0 10 Sep N.T. N.T. N.T. 15.66 1 0 10
Mar 96 94.93 94.91 94.91 —0.03 3.457	Dec 95.51 95.45 95.46 — 6.02 Mar 95.13 95.13 95.14 — 0.01 Jun 94.83 94.78 94.80 Unch.	Oct N.T. N.T. N.T. 15.66 0.10 Oct N.T. N.T. N.T. 15.65 0.10 Est. volumes 35.677 Open int. 155.345
Sep 96 94.90 2 Est soles N.A. Fri's soles 2,687	Sep 9447 9446, 9447 + 0.02 Dec 9416 9413 9415 + 8.03
HIT'S OPEN HT 15-MMZ DIT SQA	Mar 93.92 91.89 93.88 - 0.01 Jun 91.66 93.64 93.64 + 0.01	High Low Clase Chos Octob
5 YR. TREASURY (CBOT) 1100.000 erin- pris & 32nds of 190 pci Dec 95 108-105 108-055 108-095 140,858	Sep 43.43 43.41 43.61 + 0.01 Est, volume: 61,855. Open Int.; 777,806.	Stock Indexes
Dec 95 108-105 108-055 108-095 160,858 Max 95 108-105 108-07 108-10 1,580 Jun 96 108-085	3-MONTH PIBOR (MATIF) FF3 million - pix of 100 pct Dec 72.48 73.01 73.04 — 0.25	S&P COMP. PROEX (CMER)
Est. soles N.A. Fri's. soles 43,397 Fri's open int 142,438 up 3718	Mar 94.07 93.80 93.86 — 0.10 June 94.37 94.20 94.24 0.05	Dec 95 588.10 585.50 586.95 —1.25 191,246 Mar 96 592.55 590 30 597.40 — 1.25 191,246
10 YR. TREASURY (CBOT)	Sep 94.37 94.24 94.26 — 0.00 Dec 94.15 94.00 94.12 — 0.01	Est sales N.A. Frr's sales 64,713 Fri's open ind 201,840 up 2438
$100,000 prin- pt; £ 32nds of 100 pct Dec 95 111-23 111-16 111-20 - 04 246,443	Jean 93.70 93.70 — 0,007	High Low Class Change
Dec 95 111-22 111-16 111-20 — 04 246 443 Mar 96 111-22 111-17 111-20 — 04 27, 389 Jun 96 111-02 111-02 — 04 5,927	Est. volume: 91,878. Open est.: 131,354.	132 bet junfen bejut
Est, soles N.A. Fri's soles 100,612 Fri's open int 279,760 up 5818	1-MONTH EUROLIRA (LIFFE) ITL 1 milion - pis of 190 pct	Mar N.T. N.T. 20165 — 48
US TREASURY BONDS (CBOT)	Dec 89.58 89.45 89.47 0.10 Mar 89.88 89.72 89.76 0.00 Jun 92.00 89.86 89.89 0.09	Est. volume: 4,517, Open et : 67,197 4.9 CAC 49 (MATIF)
Dec 95 117-12 116-28 117-03 - 11 379 377	Sep 89.97 89.80 89.896.04 Dec 89.84 89.820.88	FF280 per ladex point
Dec 95 117-12 114-28 117-02 — 11 379.277 Mor 96 116-13 116-18 116-23 — 11 18.786 Jun 96 116-15 116-04 116-08 — 11 3.886 Sep 96 114-00 115-24 115-28 — 11 31 Est, soles NLA, Fri's soles 474.525	Mir 99.83 99.83 89.81 — 0.07 Est, volume: 9,159. Open int.: $13.988.	Nov 1839.00 1814.50 1807.00 _ 20.00 Dec 1845.00 1825.00 1818.00 _ 20.50
Est. soles N.A. Fri's soles 474,525 Fri's open int 401,769 up 19076	High Low Close Chge Optrol	Just NT. NT. NT. Unch.
High Law Class Change LONG GELT (LEFFE)	Industrials	Sep 1858.00 1856.50 1848.00 — 28.00 Est. volume: 14,760. Open int.: 49,845.
256,660 - pts & 320ds of 100 pc:	COTTON 2 (NCTH)	Commodity Indexes
Dec 105-30 105-07 105-17 0-14 Mar N.T. N.T. 184-25 0-14 Ect. volume: 30.342. Open Int.: 100,884	50,800 lbs cants per ib. Dec 95 84,05 82,86 82,86 —2,00 29,456 Mor 96 84,30 83,37 83,37 —2,00 16,223	Close Previous

		NAS	SDAQ
Monday's 4 p.m. The 1,000 most-traded National Market securities in	12.Morth High Law Stack Div Yld PE 100s High LowLehest-Chroe	12 Month High Low Stock Div Yid PE 1895 High Low Linesi Chron	12 Month High Low Stock Div Yid PE 100s High Low-Lefest Chrise	12 Mouth High Low Stock. Dry Yid PE 100s High Low Latest Cirys	12 Month High Low Back Div Yid PE 199 High Low-Latest Circle 12 Month
terms of dollar value, updated twice a year. The Associated Press.	774 5% Collamp - 4 1156 24% 34% 24% - 14 174 174 Colland - 778 17% 17% 17% - 14 5% 15% Compared - 72 16% 31% 25% - 14 5% 15% Compared - 72 16% 31% 25% + 14	第二章
High Low Stock Div Yid PE 160s High Low Lobert Chrige	12 12 Caralyte 2 1 12 40 27 17 27 17 27 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	200 (100 marries 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	174 274 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	20 10 20 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10
1941 AC 1941 A	25% 13% 13% Conserve 10 A 22 15% 25% 27 25% + 1/4 17/4 17 Conserve 10 A 22 15% 25% 25% + 1/4 18/4 17/4 18 + 1/4 18/4 17/4 18 + 1/4 18/4 17/4 18 + 1/4 18/4 17/4 18 + 1/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 17/4 18/4 18/4 18/4 18/4 18/4 18/4 18/4 18			THE PROOF OF THE PARTY OF THE P
714 19 ASCO 15 18 254 504 504 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11	1102 2 Consistent = 27 196	D William Las 13 13 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15
		1116 244 Exermine	274 174 485 COT 13 139 144 154 154 154 154 154 154 154 154 154	THE REPORT OF TH	20 274 Sealer Mr 2 2 74 77 77 77 77 77 77 77 77 77 77 77 77
100 ACCOUNT	25% 12% Configure = 1503 20% 21% 22% -1% 27 % 27 % 27 % 27 % 27 % 27 % 27 % 27	22 22% Entrares 175 25% 25% 25% 25% 25% 25% 25% 25% 25% 25	304 79 Macrands — 96 1016 2519 27 279 + 34 246 77 Macapant — 42 4570 4574 3474 + 779 114 14 Macapant — 42 4570 4574 3474 + 779 2574 1254 Macapant — 32 12 1441 2574 2474 2579 + 79	10 170 Pariston - 10 170 170 170 170 170 170 170 170 170	THE THE PARTY OF T
76 186 Admins 20 7 2 177 176 276 276 276 276 276 276 276 276 276 2	11 S4 Captain		164 174 MONTHS - 7 128 174 174 175 - 1 274 104 MONTHS - 19 206 176 176 176 176 176 176 176 176 176 17		24 1 1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
A THE STATE OF THE	30'4 13'4 Chesack	G-H G-H 124 124 - 1	31% 8 Moratoris 51 288 346 21 22 -46 174 1724 1724 1724 1724 1724 1724 1724	250. 5 Privilent - 17 49 190. 180 16 316.27 Privilent - 17 49 376 316 326 - 16 250. 160. 201 18 420 376 316 326 110 250. 160. 201 18 12 150 150 150 150	114 174 militar 2 175 45 476 477 - 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175
36 19 AFREDS 20 3 12 219 216 216 216 216 216 216 216 216 216 216	76 20 COMME 20 7 2 105 04 2 4 4 4 4 5 2 105 04 2 10 2 10 2 10 2 10 2 10 2 10 2 10 2	12/6 1/6-Conditio 55 200 6/6 5/6 6/6 1/6 1/6 1/6 1/6 1/6 1/6 1/6 1/6 1			Semantic 1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
14 1 4 1 4 1 4 1 4 1 4 1 4 1 4 1 4 1 4	11 10 10 Corner 1 20 12 14 27 27 20 4 5 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	27 10 m GAMODIC n 31 417 13 13 13 13 14 15 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	5516 2716 Alector —	2 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	器號號 " 1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
704 14 Abritat 57187 514 514 614 + 17	16 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25		33 County 3 12 32 43 27 35 35 35 35 35 35 35 35 35 35 35 35 35	194 19 194 194 194 194 194 194 194 194 1	THE STATE OF THE S
Arribida - 10 27 17 48 27 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37	28 4 Cohercs - 22 2073 25 22 24 174 25 25 25 25 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27	154 Gents - 122 7 11 62 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	27 - 17 - 17 - 17 - 17 - 17 - 17 - 17 -	1994 1996 PROPER 1997 1997 1997 1997 1997 1997 1997 199
34 11 Adjusted 21 15 250 214 314 22 15 314 21 15 250 214 314 22 15 250 214 314 22 15 250 214 314 21 15 250 214 314 21 15 250 214 314 214 214 214 214 214 214 214 214 214 2	276 174 Connears	5 21 24 25 4 4 4 5 1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 4 4 5 4 5 4 5 4 5 4 5 5 5 5	1004 375,040750		THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O
200 AD 100 10 10 200 200 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 1	20% 27 COMPANY 450 22 17 20 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27	1 114 GPF 10 20 13 13 970 270 170 270 + 10 151 174 174 174 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175	200 200 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100	The state of the s
26 19 Armind 28 9 17 33 43 43 50 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70	30% 16% Corrector 22% 24% 30% 30 11% 22% 24% 21% 21% 21% 21% 21% 21% 21% 21% 21% 21	279 Mile Gustos — 65 1228 2079 2019 474 176 177 2079 2079 2079 2079 2079 2079 2079 20	16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 16 1		A CONTROL OF STANDARD OF STAND
State of Application and the state of the st	## 17%Computer - 11 17% 18% 17% 17% - 4% 1 27% 17% - 4% 1 27% 17% - 4% 1 27% 17% - 4% 1 27% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 1	77/4 19/4 INC SR r			### 17 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
新文は Application 第 1 1 19 日本 新文 第 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	1815 1434 Coors 8	Sin 1046 Milating 17 25 134 134 134 144 145 154 154 154 154 154 154 154 15	100 41 Alexandra	R-6 200 7100 7100 7100 7100 7100 7100 7100	A STORMS = 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
27 1976 Applied — 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27	25 10 Corrects 75 7145 265 264 274 + 15 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	30 134 Heart C 16 12 21 100 316 316 31 44 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	37 24 Might 2 12 8 75 754 374 374 474 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175	27/17/17/17/18/20/18 20/13/18/20/17/18/20/20/18/20/18/20/18/20/18/20/18/20/18/20/18/20/18/20/20/18/20/18/20/
7 134 ACCION - 107 107 107 107 107 107 107 107 107 107	10 116 City Con 1	The same of the sa	Strain Annual Control of the Control	1965 344 Secretary 2 12 1965 1976 1976 1976 1976 1976 1976 1976 1976	10 30 Treater 20 20 5 20 20 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10
13/4 7/4/4 Arkibinat 14 A 16 232 18 9/5 9/5 -1/5 4/5 4/5/4 23/4 4/5 4/5 4/5 4/5 4/5 4/5 4/5 4/5 4/5 4	10 114 Concre	304 134 humbre 20 13 52 200 134 d 34 34 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4 4	100 100 Marries 10 1 1 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10		26 114 05 0 3 n
1 154 Appent 2 - 10 44 344 344 344 444 444 444 444 444 444	The state of the s	1-1-K 1-K	10 127 114 324 14 + 16 174 174 174 174 174 174 174 174 174 174	20 TOWN RAILCA STATE OF THE TOWN THE TO
164 364 Aurory - 4 2 434 54 54 55 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	D-E-F 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2	444 134 idenoc 5	27 174 NCDr 24 12 2 12 2/14 174 175 174 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175		77 44 15 15 4 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17
The American Section 19 And 19		1916 134 117 Techi	14% 17, Neoprible 173 394 174 174 175 187 187 187 187 187 187 187 187 187 187	121 3 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	### 19
	774 854 Denter 146 A 44 3427 754 344 37 +154 1564 146 1760 344 37 +154 1564 146 1760 344 37 +154 1564 1764 1764 1764 1764 1764 1764 1764 17	The second secon	77 412 Neurops 3 50 977 1979 1878 777 - 71 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 12		1
25 114 BOND 2 2 17 13 15 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	16% 9 Continuore 34 170 12% 11% 12% 1% 36% 10 Convigors 95 27% 27% 27% 11% 12% 1% 10% 10% 10% 10% 10% 10% 10% 10% 10%	1846 1146 infolkes	200 100 Number 13 00 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 1	12 10 min 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	17 34 Verbers - 17 26 54 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15
254 - Character - 257 13 - 275 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 - 174 274 274 274 274 274 274 274 274 274 2	20 13 14 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15		177 144 NacCon 1 277 274 174 174 174 177 177 177 177 177 177 1	7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7	24 114 Victories 14 102 21 204 206 + 44 206 21 102 21 206 20
1406 Me Borretoot 1.4 17 13 951 1245 1146 1146 1146 1146 1146 1146 1146 11	39 7 Decide 1 12 50 25 25 25 25 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15	24 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17			264 10 VSX 144 44 Vissue
5417, 3457 A51 13 2 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3	100 15 Digital	18 % Marrich 34 13 18 114 164 164 164 164 164 164 164 164 164	2019 6 Nimital	212 21 11 11 11 11	26 6 Visi 55 20% 20% 20% 21 1%
17 13 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14	33/4 lie Dorrych	25% 25% 15% 15% 15% 15% 15% 15% 15% 15% 15% 1	134 347 Number 18 134 134 134 134 134 134 134 134 134 134	37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 37 3
14 10 Bearing - 4 17 17 18 18 17 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18 18	1094 11 Durch	51% 25% intents	7 187 197 197 197 197 197 197 197 197 197 19	24 274 274 274 274 274 274 274 274 274 2	25 204 Western 256 13 2 47 244 24 244 + 1 1974 5 Western 256 13 2 47 244 24 244 + 1 26 15 27 27 27 27 1
176 176 176 176 176 176 176 176 176 176	30% 16 Durton As 1.6 % 1132 30% 27% 28% + 1% 1 22% 13% 07% 28% + 1% 1 22% 13% 07% 28% + 1% 1 22% 13% 07% 28% + 1% 1 22% 13% 05% 07% 07% 07% 07% 07% 07% 07% 07% 07% 07	15 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	37 270 075000 126 13 16 416 1317 372 373 174 174 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175 175	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	27 14 884 484 484 - 14 184 184 184 184 184 184 184 184 184
10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 1	11% & Egithed — 1405 8% 7% 8% — 16 1 2 6 6 6 7 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	256 114 27 600 s 7 7 307 77 274 274 - 144	100 11 100 100 11 12 23 7 25 27 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11	244 106 Services 1 1.72 11 11 11 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27 27	794 395, Williams 120f 13 2 735 455 454 455 - 14 754 175 Williams 1 120 45 12 545 394 574 394 45 116 2 Williams 1 120 45 12 545 394 574 394 4 4 23 24 79 Williams - 9 417 386 237 24 - 4
7 15 15 16 16 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	200 744 845 845 845 845 845 845 845 845 845 8	74% 274 Kornos 2 6 94 40% 4 49 4 29 4 Kornos 2 6 46% 4 50% + 75 4 454 79 Kulctes 17 4164 29 27 274 274	274 AN ONE DE 274 AN	10 3/1-Section - 17 1007 64 57 57 - 14 157 157 157 157 157 157 157 157 157 157	### Windows
27/4 9 Brokert 2 7/2 194/ 164/ 194/ + 14 164/ 7/4 Burleys 16 112 12 12 14 113 12 14 114 124 12 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14 14	30 10 Emulex 2 3 3 13 13 13 13 13 13 13 13 13 13 13 13	14th 57/LTX - 30 452 1136 16% 11 - 4 17th 12% Lodders 18 12 97 13/4 17% 13/4 + 6 7/4 3/6 Lodders 40 13 17 877 387 347 57 4	254 10% Ornor 13 277 13% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17% 17	15 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17 17	10 24 15 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100
504 20 CST GSA	27 10 Exchange	274 14 Landsys 2 34 164 174 154 165 + 5 274 174 Landsys 3 164 174 154 165 + 5 274 174 Landsys 3 166 276 276 276 276 276 276 276 276 276 2	18" 18" 18" 18" 18" 18" 18" 18" 18" 18"		20 1 March 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11 11
THE STATE OF THE PROPERTY OF T	THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O	L-M			# 1
996 596 Colgana	36 18% Footenia 122 ;1 92 2067 55% 56% 56% 56% 118	49'4 26% Legant _ 30 ~ 3 474 47% 47% + % 	78% 44% POORCA 20 452 89% 67% 86	: 27% 17 SOUTHERST .80 3,1 11 2294 25% 25% 25% —%

Your Guide To Over 130 Top French Companies

FRENCH COMPANY FANDBOOK

Published by the International Herald Tribune, in coordination with the Paris Stock Exchange, the 1995 edition includes detailed profiles of all the companies in the SBF 120 Index.
The SBF 120 Index includes the CAC

40 plus 80 other major firms. These are the companies to watch in the coming years. Each profile includes: head office,

CEO, investor relations manager, company background and major activities, recent developments, sales breakdown, shareholders, subsidiaries and holdings in France and internationally, 1990-1994 financial performance, and recent stock trading history.

French Company Handbook is updated annually for financial analysts, institutional investors, corporate, government and banking executives, and documentation services – anyone who needs to know about the leading companies in the world's fourth-largest economy.

	Herald Er Er	ibune 🥯
THE WORLD'S DAILY PROPERTY.	SBF-PARIS BOURSE
•	Return your order to international Herald	Tribune Offers. 37 Lambton Road, London SW20 OLW, England.	.10-95
	For faster service, fax order to: (44-181) 944-8243	CARD N°EXP	. ₹
	Please send mecopies of French Com Handbook 1995 at UK£50 (US$75) per copy, incl postage in Europe. Three or more copies, 20% reduction. Ourside Europe, postage per copy: North Ameri	INAME (N BLOCK LETTERS)	-
	East £3,50. Rest of world £6. Please charge to my credit card:	COMPANY
		iners ADDRESS
	□ Function □ MasterCard □ V	CTTY/COUNTRY/CODE
	Payment by check in pounds Sterling only (to the order of Pau	Baker COMPANY FC VAT ID No

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

Attention visitors from the U.S. I

ANNOUNCEMENTS

If you enjoy reading the IHT when you travel, why not also get it at home ? Same-day delivery available in key U.S. cities.

Call (1) 800 882 2884 (in New York call 212 752 3890) Herald Eribune

ALDEN. The finest American shoes. Available at WENSEXS, the leading men's store in ZURCH, Scheholstr. 13. Phone 01-211 29 50. PERING Land FREING leve? — baving problems SOS HELP crisis has in English 3 p.m. 11 p.m. Tet Paris (1) 47 23 80 80. FRIENDSHIP

LADY, 45, seeks professional gentlemo for noncesos. Reply Box 3654, LHT 63 Long Acre, Landon, WCZE 92H DUTY FREE SHOPS

FREDDY Newly renovated step in heart of Paris. Come in & buy oil your perferes & gits "Dary Free of SNYRIGS OF 40"s. Two blocks from the "Opera", next to the Assessors Express Book. FEE GET with this oil. Mon-Fr., 94-30 3 ree Scribe, Paris 9, Matrix Opera.

MOVING 2071 MOVING A.G.S. PARIS (33-1) 40 80 20 40

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES OFFSHORE BANKS INSURANCE COMPANIES COMPANIES & TRUSTS

TRADE - FINANCE ASTON CORPORATE TRUSTES LTD

19 Peal Rood, Deogles, Me of Man
Tel: 01624 625691
Faze 01624 625126
Leaden Tel: (171) 222 8866
Fast: (171) 233 1519

ASSET PROTECTION

IMMIGRATION/PASSPORTS

OFFSHORE COMPANIES

OCRA ASIA LIMITED
24-02 Bank of America Tower
Hercourt Road, Hong Kong
Tel: +852 25220172
Face +852 25211790

OFFSHORE COMPANIES. For free brothers or others Tek London 44. 181 741 1224 Free 44. 181 749 6558 (computer for) or 44.181 749 6338 OFFSHORE COMPANIES. IPCR, 1/5 Church Street, Douglos, sile of Mon. Tek (8629 62952) From (8639 62962). BUSINESS SERVICES

Save on International Phone Calls

Some $9% and stone compared to local phone companies. Call from home, office, careve house for local surface party and see how you can stort saving today. Call us now and we'll call you night back!

Tel 1-206-284-8600 Fox 1-206-282-6666 Lines open 24 hours, Aganto inquines welcome!

kaliback

419 Second Avenue West Scottle, WA 98119 USA FOUR OFFICE IN LONDON Street - Mail, Phane, Fax, Telex
Tel: 41.171 499 9192 Fax, 121.499 7517
TOPPO CONT. CONTROL CONT OFFSHORE Companies/Basic Accounts Safehaven Accountancy, IOM, Jessey SVI etc. Tel/Tax +44 (0)162 462 9000 CAPITAL AVAILABLE

PRIVATE TO PUBLIC
Private Funds US$ 7.2 Tribles!
Instantaneous direct occurs to the entire world of polarital private investors.
Middlenny's Yenture Capital Directory
"A Must in Every Good Officer" Did from your fac. "642 6 616349
finiter 2000 - Press Start REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

SWITZERLAND

UNITED IGNIGIONAL Landon, Tel.: 0171 836 4802. The 262009, free 2402254. Attractive preparates in MONTHEIX VEVEY, VILLANS, DAMEMERS, CRANS-MONTANA, etc. 1 to 5 ind-reams, SFr. 200,000 to 2.5 min. REVAC S.A. 52, Monthelitot, Cri-1211 Geneve 2 Tel 4123-734 15 40, Fex 734 12 20

TO RENT/SHARE

gost, 2nd floor, 200 sq.m. - Living, chaing. 3 bedrooms, 3 bodies, large litchen. P22,000. Tel: 1-0-22 00 84. A DEFINEE, rest 2-rous operations, fully farmished, 5 mins from tramport. P8,900 net. Tel: (1) 30 30 33 24. AGENCE CHAMPS ELYSES Specialists
Funished oppriments, 3 months & more or uniqualited, residential prepi. Tel; (1) 42 25 32 25 (1) 45 63 37 09 PARES AREA UNFURNISHED

CHAMP DE MARS
4 APAITMENTS
- 150 st.m., reception,
3 backrooms, 2 bosts.
- 170 st.m., reception,
3 backrooms, 2 bosts.
- 200 st.m., reception,
- 201 st.m., reception,
- 215 st.m., reception, 4 backrooms. PARIS PROMO opertuents to rest furnished or not Soles & Properly Management Services
25 Av Hoche 75008 Paris. Fax 1-4561 1020 Tel: (1) 45 63 25 60

PARIS
74 CHANPS EXTERS
"CLAIDUR!"
High deas, ready to use ficts fully equipped and furnished.
For Ren's by the day, week or more.
Tel: 1-44,133333. For 1-42,25,04.88 MONTAIGNE
VERY High CLASS BUILDING
Super captions:
Imminusty furnished.
75 sp.m. - 725,000.
COREN Tel: (1) 45,09,92.52.
Forc. (1) 45,65,44.13.

Mars: HO) Tal.: [1] 41 43 93 85, Fac: (1) 41 43 93 70.

ANDOMA: Tel.: 28 264, Fox 28 264. GENMANY, AUSTRIA, & CONTRAL BLEOFE, Frankish I Tel: 0691 77: 67 55, Fox 10691 77: 77. 31.

Tel: 343.18.99, 344.00.84 Fore 346.03.53.

GREECT & COPPLIS: Album Tel: 301/48 51 525, Fast 301/68 53 357.

DESMANK: Copenhagen, Tel.: 31 42 93 25.

NETHERLANDS: Armbardo Tel: 31.20.6841080, Fasc 31.20.6861374,

NORWAY & SWEDEN: Bergen Non-cy, Tel.: [47] 55 913070, Face [47] 55 913072.

FOREIGAL: lisbon Tal.: 351-1-457-7293. Fox: 351-1-457-7352.

SWEZERIAND: Poly, Tal.: (021) 728 30 21. Foc (021) 728 30 91.

TUESPY: Newbyl Tal.: 230 5976/232 7150, Fee: 247 9315.

MIDDLE EAST

Tel: 646 500. Fax: 646 508.

Embassy Service YOUR REAL ESTATE AGENT IN PARTS Tel: (1) 47.20.30.05

DAUCHEZ Tel: (1) 45.61.62.50 LEGAL SERVICES DIVORCE IN 1 DAY, No trovel, Write: Box, 377, Sudbury, MA 01776 USA. Tel: 508/443-8387, Fore: 508/443-0183. SERVICES COMMON SENSE ADVICE - Having trouble, personal or professional, secondary, your file? Take codestages of separates of University research professor, faither of 5. Any subject author except medical. By oppositation only, Tel. Paris (24-1) 47 27 96 46. 1 advise, you decide. LOW COST FLIGHTS

MONED AVIATION - SCHEDULED FUG-175, 1st business, economy or lowest forms, Tel IFT Paris (1) 47551313 EDUCATION UNIVERSITY OF Bariele & Verselles & Chomber of Commerce TEPL certificate & MA Linguistics starts October. Call Paris 1-3483 9578. Fox 1-3483 8391.

Herald Eribune THE WORLD'S DALLY NEWSPAPER

PLANNING TO RUN A CLASSIFIED AD?

UNITED ARAS EMPLATES: Shorjob, Tel: $063351133. Fox: $061374888. The 68484 TRINGLE. VENEZABLA: Coroccs Tal.: 285 05 32 / 285 20 62 Forc. 285 50 15. SOUTHERN AFRICA ASIA PACIFIC NORTH AMERICA NEW YORK: Tel.: [212] 752-3890. Tell fran: (800) 572-7212. Fax: (212) 755-8785 PADIA: Booksy, Tel: 645 0204. Fac: 645 6372. The: 118517/2716 ADL FLORIDA: Carol Golden, Tal.: (305) 662-5611. Forc (305) 662-7103. NDONESIA: Johanta Punct, Tel.: 251 14864. Th: 65722 LOKA IA. Fusc: 251 2501. TEXAS: Houston, Tel.: 713-496-9603. Faz: 713-496-9584. Tell Frant: 800-526-7857. ### Tokes, Tel: 32 01-02 10 Tec 533673. Fic 32 01 02 09. CANADA 160854: Secul. Tel.: (82-21 571 57 87, Fax: (82-2) 573 98 97. MALAYSIA: Patching Jayor Tel: (403) 717-35 52 Forc (403) 717-5370. LATIN AMERICA ARGENTINA: Bouncs Aires, Tel/Fox: (SA 1) 802 37 04. PARISTAN: Korochi, Tal.: 523 628. Fpu:: 569 3933, Tbc:: 24801 INS PK. CHEE Sentings do Clab., Tel.: (56.2) 632 01 26 Fox: (56.2) 632 79 37. ETIMOOR: Grapostal, Td.: 1973.4.328181/325248. Tic: 3196.NU GUR. ED Fac: (1973.4.321266.

METBOO: Mexico diy. Tel.: 536 5690. For: 682 8122.

Ht Lines Fal. (5) (4) 4) 7852 He 20469 G/DSA Fox 416 422

Mary Ness: Matro Morrio, Tel.: 632 892 4476 For: 632 816 4876 (Direct), SINGAPORE, BILLINES: Singapore, Ca Tel: 222 6478. Fax: 224 1566. Un: 28749 HISIN TAIMAN: Toinei, Tel.: 188627 707 5519//708 77727, Fox: 188627 709 8348. THAT AND, SERMA: Bondonk Tal.: 267-9164, 267-9165 For: 267-9166. AUSTRALIA

Tic.

hen grid the sied

well

OTTO

this

t go

ister

iger, ated

iing-

will-slam

ıder-

arch

ILCC-

: the

m. flot le fwing i 9613 SHED

New Property Str. 579,576 COSSAND STR. 570,5775 New Proc Str. 570,577 Inch Cost Str. 570,577 Inch Cost Str. 570,577 Inch Cost Str. 570,578 Inch Cost Str. 570,57

By Andrew Pollack New York Times Service

TOKYO - In an effort to sharpen its competitiveness in electronics, Japan is planning a government-financed program to develop advanced techniques for manufacturing semiconductors, displays and computers.

The new effort, tentatively called the Super Advanced Electronics Technology program, will be financed initially by 10 billion yen ($99.6 million) included in a package of measures announced last month to stimulate Japan's sagging sconomy, officials said Friday.

The project is taking shape as Japan's manufacturers of semiconductors are feeling squeezed. South Korean companies have essentially caught up to Japan's electronic giants in their specialty, memory chips, while the United States has maintained a lead in mithat perform sophisticated information-processing tasks.

The Japanese government has long been known for its efforts to support specific industries. In the 1970s, the VLSI project — the acronym stands for very large system integration --- helped Japanese companies capture the world lead in the memory-chip market.

But as Japan's electronics companies have become strong the Semiconductor Industry enough to finance their own product development, the proects run by the Ministry of International Trade and Industry have shifted toward basic re-

Katsuhiko Kaji, deputy director of the industrial electronics division at MITI, said the new project would work on basic materials and techniques that would be needed 10 years from now, rather than on particular products.

These will include ways of several tenths of a micron in erate.

today's most advanced chips. The project will also work on techniques for measuring features as small as that. A micron is a millionth of a meter.

Mr. Kaji said a consortium of companies was expected to be set up next year to conduct the research. He said the ministry wanted to continue the project for at least five years, but the annual financing will probably decline after the first year.

Mr. Kaji said the project might be open to some "competitive" non-Japanese compa-nies but added, "We will not welcome free riders."

In a separate development, 10 Japanese chipmakers are planning to work together to help introduce computer-chip manufacturing equipment that can handle silicon wafers that are 300 millimeters, about 12 inches, in diameter.

The project would require 5 billion yen to start and would need a budget of about $40 milcroprocessors and other chips lion a year, an industry official said, adding that there would be no government financing.

Currently, chips are made from silicon wafers that are 200 millimeters, or 8 inches, in diameter. The change to 12-inch wafers, which is expected to take place toward the end of the decade, would allow far more chips to be made from a single wafer, cutting costs.

The project is sponsored by Research Institute of Japan, an organization formed last year by Japanese semiconductor companies to work on ways to increase the competitiveness of lapan's industry. The members of the institute include NEC Corp., Toshiba Corp., Hitachi the Sematech consortium, also are planning a project to help develop manufacturing equipment for 12-inch wafers.

Ltd. and Fujitsu Ltd.

Taro Okabe, acting execumaking semiconductors with tive director of the Japanese incircuit patterns less than 0.1 mi-stitute, said there was a chance cron in width, compared with the two nations would coop-

A Global Hotel Empire Is Born CDL Becomes a Top 10 Chain With Latest Deal

By Michael Richardson . International Herald Tribune

International Ltd. renames its properties under one global brand Tuesday, it will be trying to make its image catch up with

Although the Singapore-based company now owns or has substantial equity in 53 hotels with nearly 13.980 rooms in Il countries in Europe. Asia. North America and Australasia, few guests are aware who the owners are, or that they are staying in one of the world's largest and fastest-growing hotel empires.

Since CDL was listed on the Hong Stock Exchange in 1989 — when it had just five hotels with 2,304 rooms, all in Asia — the company and its joint venture partners have snapped up a diverse array of properties. The company owns the luxury Plaza Hotel in New York, for-merly owned by Donald Trump, the somewhat less grand Gloucester Hotel in London, the Hotel Nikko in Hong Kong. the Hyan Kingsgate in Sydney and the 21 mainly no-frills hotels in New Zealand's Quality chain.

Last week, CDL completed a deal to buy Copthorne Hotels Holding Ltd. which owns 11 hotels in Britain, three in Germany and two in France - from Aer Lingus of Ireland for $337 million.

Based on figures used by Hotels, trade magazine, the addition of the 2,565 rooms in the four-star Copthorne group will propel CDL into the ranks of the top 10 international chains.

hotels in its stable. From Tuesday, many reserves of $338 million.

of the 45 will be linked under the new brand - Millenium Hotels and Resorts - to improve marketing and manage-SINGAPORE — When CDL Hotels ment and pave the way for a global reservation system.

Kwek Leng Beng. CDL's chairman and managing director, makes no secret of his ambition.

He aims to have 100 hotels worldwide by 2000, most of them in the same highquality category as the 55-story Millenium Hilton across from the World Trade Center in Manhattan.

CDL paid $75 million for the 561room Millenium in February 1994, bringing Hilton in as manager.

"Prospects are good for continued expansion on a selective basis," Mr. Kwek said, adding that the Copthorne purchase 'can be seen as part of our aim to acquire quality hotels in strategic locations throughout the world."

CDL is controlled by the Hong Leong group of companies in Singapore, a con-glomerate with assets worth $5 billion in construction, banking, property and man-ufacturing. Mr. Kwek is chairman of the

The company plans to seek a listing on the London Stock Exchange for its hotels in Europe and the United States, possibly in the next 12 months.

Some analysts worry that CDL may be expanding too quickly, creating a hodgepodge hotel chain and piling up debt that it will have difficulty servicing.

CDL did not say how much in cash it would pay for Copmome and how much debt it would assume. The company did, The company operates 45 of the 53 however, say last month that it had cash

CDL said that as of June 30, it had loans outstanding of $175 million and equity of $542 million, giving it a modest debt-toequity ratio of just over 32 percent. The company has an impressive record of paying relatively little for profitable hotels in Singapore, Britain, New Zealand, the United States and elsewhere.

Marie Lau, an analyst at Jardine Fleming International Securities Ltd. in Singapore, said CDL Hotels' strategy of acquiring only profitable hotel operations and adding value to them promised sustained growth for the company.

She said she expected the company to record a net profit of nearly $69 million in 1995, up from $49 million in 1994, as earnings from the Plaza in New York, the Harbor View Dai Ichi in Singapore and the Copthorne group are included.

Edmond Ip, who spent 17 years helping build up the Hyatt Hotel chain before joining CDL recently as executive director. said that the company was now looking to expand further in the Asia-Pacific region.
While the firm has four hotels in Singapore and one large hotel each in Sydney, Manila, Taipei, Hong Kong and Kuala Lumpur, it has none in China, Mr. Ip said that CDL was "actively considering" either building or buying hotels in such key Chinese cities as Beijing and Shanghai. Analysts said the company's expansion in Asia was likely to be in partnership with Prince Waleed ibn Talal ibn Abdulaziz of Saudi Arabia. He has reportedly expressed interest in further joint ventures with CDL following their combined purchase of a controlling stake in New York's Plaza Hotel in April.

Hong Kong Hang Seng 10,009.28 9,883.78 +1.2 Singapore Straits Times 2,111.80 2,129.04 -0.8 Sydney All Ordinaries 2,110.00 2,099.00 +0.5 Tokyo Nikkei 225 18,016.40 17,880.83 +0.7 Kuals Lumpur Composite 957.37 963.13 -0.6 Bengkok SET 1,317.04 1,318.84 -0.1 Seoul Composite Index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.8 Taipei Stock Market Index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4 Manils PSE 2,636.26 2,524.45 +0.4 Jakarta Composite Index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Hong Kong Hang Seng	Singapore Straits Time		okyo likkei 225
2000 2100 2100 M J J A S O 14000 M J J A S O 1995 1995 1995 1995 Exchange Index Monday Prev. % Close Close Close Characteristics Close Characteristics Close Characteristics Process Close Characteristics Close Characteristics Process Close Characteristics Close Characteristics Process Close Characteristics Process Close Characteristics Process Process Process Prev. % Close Close Characteristics Process Prev. % Prev. % Close Close Characteristics Process Prev. % Close Close Characteristics Process Prev. % Close Close Characteristics Process Prev. % Close Close Characteristics Prev. 40.8 1,016.40 17,880.83 +0.7 (Manufacture Prev. 12,110.00 2,099.00 +0.5 (Manufacture Prev. 12,110.00 2,099.00 +0.5 (Manufacture Prev. 13,110.00 2,099.00 +0.5 (Ma	12029	. N 2300 ···· —·	2	0000	· ·
9000 in J J A S O 2000 M J J A S O 14000 M J J A S O 1995 Exchange Index Monday Prev. % Close C	./W/\	γ' ²²⁰⁰ γ Λ, Λ _Α) 	8000 ·	MM
1995 1995 1995 1995 1995 Exchange Index Monday Prev. % Close Close Character Close Close Close Character Close Clos	t e	2100 jl - V	Airin 1	6000
Close Close Chese Ches	M 1 1 1 V :	SO M J J	ASD 1	M 7 7	ASO
Singapore Straits Times 2,111.80 2,129.04 -0.8° Sydney All Ordinaries 2,110.00 2,099.00 +0.5 Tokyo Nikkei 225 18,016.40 17,880.83 +0.7° Kuala Lumpur Composite 957.37 963.13 -0.6° Bangkok SET 1,317.04 1,318.84 -0.1° Seoul Composite index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.9° Taipei Stock Market index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4° Manilis PSE 2,636.26 2,624.45 +0.4° Jakarta Composite index 496.01 496.56 -0.1° Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3°	Exchange	Index			% Change
Sydney All Ordinaries 2,110.00 2,099.00 +0.5 Tokyo Nikkei 225 18,016.40 17,880.63 +0.7 Kuals Lumpur Composite 957.37 963.13 -0.6 Bengkok SET 1,317.04 1,318.84 -0.1 Seoul Composite Index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.9 Taipei Stock Market Index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4 Manils PSE 2,636.26 2,524.45 +0.4 Jakarta Composite Index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Hong Kong	Hang Seng	10,009.28	9,883.78	+1.27
Tokyo Nikkei 225 18,016.40 17,880.83 +0.77 Kuala Lumpus Composite 957.37 963.13 -0.6 Bangkok SET 1,317.04 1,318.84 -0.1 Seoul Composite index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.9 Talpei Stock Market index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4 Manils PSE 2,636.26 2,524.45 +0.4 Jakarta Composite index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Singapore	Straits Times	2,111.80	2,129.04	-0,61
Kuals Lumpur Composite 957.37 963.13 -0.60 Bengkok SET 1,317.04 1,318.84 -0.14 Seoul Composite Index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.97 Taipel Stock Market Index 5,038.99 5,015.61 +0.47 Manils PSE 2,638.26 2,524.45 +0.47 Jakarta Composite Index 496.01 496.56 -0.17 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.37	Sydney	All Ordinaries	2,110.00	2,099.00	+0.52
Bengkok SET 1,317.04 1,318.84 -0.1 Seoul Composite Index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.9 Taipei Stock Market Index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4 Manils PSE 2,636.26 2,624.45 +0.4 Jakarta Composite Index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Tokyo	Nikkei 225	18,016,40	17,880,83	+0.76
Seoul Composite index 1,007.48 1,016.77 -0.9 Taipei Stock Market index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4 Manils PSE 2,638.26 2,624.45 +0.4 Jekerta Composite index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Kuala Lumpur	Composite	957.37	963.13	-0.60
Taipei Stock Market index 5,038.98 5,015.61 +0.4 Manile PSE 2,638.26 2,624.45 +0.4 Jekarta Composite index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Bengkok	SET	1,317.04	1,318.84	-D.14
Manils PSE 2,638.26 2,524.45 +0.4 Jakarta Composite index 498.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Seoul	Composite Index	1,007.48	1,016.77	-0.91
Jakarta Composite index 496.01 496.56 -0.1 Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Talpei	Stock Market Index	5,038.98	5,015.61	+0.47
Wellington NZSE-40 2,137.20 2,108.15 +1.3	Manile	PSE	2,636.26	2,624.45	+0.45
		Composite Index	496.01	496.56	-0.11
Rombay Constitute Indox 2 590 26 2 590 90 1 Inch	Wellington	NZSE-40	2,137.20	2,108.15	+1.38
PONTOR'S CHICAL SIDEN 3'300'10 3'300'58 CITC	Вопрау	Sensitive Index	3,580.76	3,580.89	Unch.

Very briefly:

Investor's Asia

Mitsubishi Motors Curp, denied a Japanese newspaper report that it will terminate most of its business alliance with Chrysler Corp. by 1999. The newspaper, Nihon Keizai Shimbun, reported 3 Saturday that Mitsubishi Motors would stop supplying V-6 engines to Chrysler by 1998 and planned to stop manufacturing Chrysler cars at its U.S. factory by 1999.

 Royal Dutch/Shell Group said it was confident of obtaining I Chinese government approval to build a proposed $6 billion refinery in Guangdong Province, despite Beijing's policy of discouraging new refinery construction in favor of investment in existing plants. Royal Dutch/Shell, the British-Dutch oil and transportation company, would hold 50 percent of the project; Chinese partners are China National Offshore Oil Co., China Petrochemical Corp. China Merchants Holding Co. and provincial authorities.

 Standard Chartered Bank agreed to lend Royal Dutch/Shell $30 million for two joint-venture projects to make bitumen and $\frac{1}{2}$ lubricants in Zhejiang Province.

 Japan's wholesale prices in September rose 0.7 percent from § journalists at Mr. Murdoch's papers did not the previous month after an increase by the same margin in August, the Bank of Japan said.

> • PT Bank Danamon Indonesia shareholders approved a plan to raise the bank's authorized share capital to 2.2 trillion rupiah ($972.2 million) to finance expansion and comply with government capital reserve requirements.

> Softbank Corp., Japan's largest computer software distributor, > was reported to be in talks to acquire the publishing division of Ziff-Davis Communications Co. for around 150 billion yen. ($1.5 billion). Softbank confirmed talks with several companies but declined to identify them or their areas of business.

Coles Myer Chief Lashes Out at Critics "AMP stands for 'A Mischievous Lew of threatening to withdraw advertising

SYDNEY - Solomon Lew, the chairman of Coles Myer Ltd., lashed out Monday at those campaigning to dump him from the retailer's board, including the media executive Rupert Murdoch, whom American companies, led by he accused of leading a hysterical campaign against him.

Speaking on the Sydney radio station 2UE, Mr. Lew denied Mr. Murdoch's claim that Mr. Lew had tried to bully News Corp.'s newspapers into providing less critical coverage of Coles Myer. He also took a swipe at Australian Mutual Provident Society, an institutional investor that is leading a push to replace Mr. Lew.

"Mr. Lew said. He said AMP should and printing business from News Corp. if fire its own executives for the poor performance of its fund management business.

Mr. Lew's outburst came amid growing reporting. Mr. Murdoch called it an "imexpectations that rebel shareholders may succeed in their push to have him replaced at the Coles helm with an independent chairman Coles shares closed at 4.50 Australian dollars ($3.41), up 22 cents. The share price tells you Solly Lew is going," said Margaret Saville, an equities manager at Commonwealth Funds Man-since it fired its finance director, Philip Bowman, last month after Mr. Bowman questioned transactions between the retailer and suppliers with ties to directors. In particular, he revealed a 1990 transaction with a supplier called Yannon Pty. that caused an 18 million loss to Coles Myer but On Sunday, Mr. Murdoch accused Mr. benefited associates of Mr. Lew.

take a more favorable view of Coles in proper, thuggish sort of behavior." He also

Coles has come under intense criticism said Mr. Lew should step down.

Tokyo Stocks: A Bargain? Microsoft Japan's Cloud May Have a Silver Lining

By James K. Glassman Washington Post Service

WASHINGTON - Every week brings more rotten news about the Japanese economy, now in its third year of stagnation. The latest is that bankrupt companies have set a record, dumping protect investors from currency risk. $47 billion in bad debts on creditors over the past While U.S. stocks have risen about 25 percent below its all-time mark. Even worse, Japan's market still looks too high. The average price/ earnings ratio for stocks in the Nikkei average is about 76. For stocks in the Dow Jones industrial average, the ratio is about 15.

chief investment officer for international equities at Sanford C. Bernstein & Co. in New York. Another enthusiast is John Hickling, who manages the $2.3 billion Fidelity Overseas Fund. Mr. Hickling, who can put his shareholders' money into foreign stocks anywhere in the world, is focusing on Japan, where he says there are "a lot Japan is flat on its back and that its stock market has been in a depression for six years. But they believe things will get better.

Mr. Adelson sees Japanese companies engaged in dramatic restructuring as they struggle with lower demand for their products at home and an expensive yen that has made it harder for them to compete abroad. 'Vanishing profits,' he said, 'get management's attention like nothing else.'

Despite their high P/E ratios, Mr. Adelson does not believe Japanese stocks are expensive: Japanese firms just are not making money, he said, so valuations based on profits are wildly distorted. Valuations based on assets are another matter, Mr. Adelson said. Price-to-book ratios, which reflect how the market values a company's net worth, are about 40 percent lower in Japan of these funds. than in the United States.

Which companies does Mr. Adelson like? Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., the world's largest consumer-electronics company, Fuji Photo Film Co., and Toyota Motor Corp.

depositary receipts, in New York. But there is a catch. A key ingredient in Japan's prospective economic recovery is the yen. If stock prices rise on the Tokyo exchange, shares could still be worth less in dollars if the yen depreciates sharply.

Mr. Adelson's firm recommends hedging. which is too complicated and risky for amateur investors. That leaves two basic choices: If you this year, Japan's Nikkei Stock Average index is down 9 percent — and is more than 50 percent below its all-time mark. Even worse, Japan's prospect of currency losses because you believe stock appreciation will be much greater.

ADRs, which are geared to the dollar, do not

That is the philosophy of John Hickling of Fidelity. He began buying shares in the Japanese precision-instruments and electronics sectors Despite these horrors, some analysts are bullish. Right now, "Japanese stocks are the best investments in the world," said Andrew Adelson. tachi Ltd., which makes televisions and videocassette recorders; and Fujitsu Ltd., the computer maker. All trade as ADRs.

Many of these stocks began to rally in July when the yen fell, and Mr. Hickling said he thought a new rally may start as consumer spending picks up. Currently, Japan is suffering from lation. Prices are actually falling, so consumers

Both Mr. Adelson and Mr. Hickling admit that put off purchases in anticipation of lower prices. But deflation cannot go on forever. Mr. Hickling's hope is that tax cuts and deregulation will perk up demand, so he is "broadening exposure to Japanese stocks." Fidelity Overseas now has about 25 percent of its assets in Japan, more than in any other country.

Two closed-end funds that trade on the New York Stock Exchange are the Japan Equity Fund, which returned an impressive 6 percent through the end of the third quarter, and the Japan OTC Equity Fund, which lost 10 percent. Both funds and Zhejiang Province's cable stayed away from financial stocks, which have networks are linked next year. stayed away from financial stocks, which have been devastated by the collapse of the real-estate market. Neither hedges currency risk...

If you are convinced that Japan will turn day by day," he said. around, you cannot go too far wrong buying any

About 75 percent of Chinese Certainly, there are major risks. Japan's near-recession could continue for another three years. of those, or about 20 million, But when you consider the lofty prices of great U.S. companies such as Johnson & Johnson and Coca-Cola Co., the bargains presented by many of These companies trade as ADRs, or American Japan's major companies are awfully tempting.

Has Plans For China

Bloomberg Business News SHANGHAL - Microsoft Corp. and a consortium of five Chinese media companies plan to develop China's first interactive television service.

The service will offer viewers an array of options from pay-per-view movies to home shopping and educational programs. International sports, music videos and Chinese operas are already available to cable viewers in Shanghai. The consortium will spend about 10 million yuan ($1.2 million) for the project's first phase, said Li Shaoliang, a project manager at Shanghai Sunoy Information Co., which will lead the consortium. An additional 50 million yuan will finance the first test program by the end of 1996, he said. Microsoft declined to discuss its own financial estimates of the project. A spokesman said its primary contribution to the project would be sharing knowledge with local compa-

The Shanghai project will target the city's 1.5 million cable television subscribers, a number that could double or even triple when Shanghai's Mr. Li said.

The number is increasing households, or 216 million, have a television. Nine percent

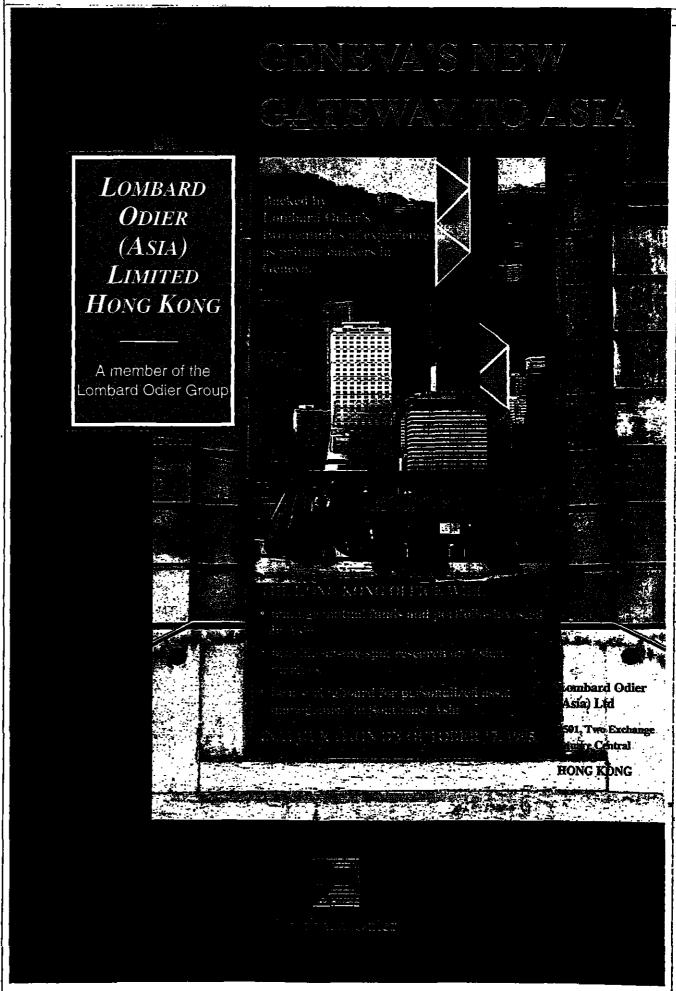

The interactive would be Microsoft's biggest multimedia project so far in have cable television.

ADVERTISEMENT

Schlumberger

sommon such of 1 $50.01 per value, will be payable with 1904, 2,95 net per Certificate repr. 5 shares and with Dila,

Figures Mask Rise in China Prices

Bloomberg Business News BELПNG — China's yearon-year inflation rate fell for the early for Beijing to celebrate.

That is because when measured on a month-to-month basis, inflation is actually rising. The reason why the yearto-year indicators keep falling is basically a base effect." said chief Chen Xingdong, chief economist in China for Crosby

The annual inflation rate in clude utilities and many ser- 1.7 percent in September.

Hith month in a row in Septem- figures this year can therefore on-year 11.4 percent in ber, but analysts said it was too rise for some time before they September, down from 12.3 create a year-on-year rise, when compared with such a high Last month, consumer prices rose at a 13.2 percent annual ly, according to State Statistics Bureau figures.

Retail prices - which ex- rose 1.4 percent in August and China peaked at 27.7 percent in vices from the broader con-October 1994, led by surging sumer price measure — are on the same track falling to a year. percent in August and 14.6 percent in July, the bureau reported last week.

But Mr. Chen said month-tomonth trends showed inflation rate, down from 14.5 percent in Was picking up. Consumer August and 16.7 percent in Juprices rose 1.7 percent in August but jumped 2.7 percent in September, while retail prices

The undersigned announces that as from October 27, 1995 at Nas-Associatio N.Y., Spaintraat 172 Amsterdam the Certificates Schlamberger Launted topr. 5 shares of 50.00 net per Certificate repr. 100 share (dis per recedate 01.09.95; 1 S$0,375 per share). The dividend distribution is not

hijert to tax withholding at entern PARIBAS ADMINISTRATIERANTOOR B.V. NYSE

Monday's 3 p.m. (Continued)

. 96 1.44 1.00 1.00

40 -15

2.10e 1.10d 1.10d 2.50d 2.50d

CHARTY FOR ENT - E. PASIGN RECOVERING FOR A COLUMN TO THE WASHINGTON TO THE SECURING BY A COLUMN TO THE SECURING FOR A COLUMN TO THE Wild State of the State of the

1.00 .15 1.00

TOTAL STATES OF THE PARTY OF TH Klishhes Khi HATTE LEADERS HERE THE PROPERTY OF THE STATE 婚婚婚

THE RESTRICT OF THE PROPERTY O

The state of the s

400 B 1889 B1188 9094 844 Tim is . Mindelle States and the

THE CONTROL OF THE PERSON OF THE PERSON OF THE STANDARD PROPERTY OF THE PERSON OF THE | + · · · | · | · | · · | · | | | TATATATA TO THE STATE OF THE ST

alender der der der der der bester be PARAMENT OF COLUMN THE SECTION OF LANS RESERVE STREET, SALL PARTY AS LIKE SERVEY 一名号の名字を記されての名がのである。 日本の ACT I THE STREET STREET AND STREET AND STREET STREE

THE REPORT OF PERSONS ASSESSED FOR THE PERSON OF THE PERSO 。 《《《新聞記述···清報的報告》》(《新聞》), 清報記述報道,《新聞記憶報報》(《新聞記述》), 《新聞記》(《新聞記》), 《新聞記》(《新聞記》), 《新聞》(《新聞》), 《新聞》(《新聞》), 《新聞》(《新聞》 NAME OF THE PERSON NAME OF THE P

THE RESIDENCE IN SECURIOR SECURITIES ASSESSED IN SECURITIES OF THE PROPERTY OF 题 温 经 MAN CHARGE AND THE RESERVED THE PROPERTY OF STREET, IN PROPERTY OF STREET, ST 新りたいが配 1.89 22 24

All around the world Singapore Gir €, SINGAPORE AIRLINES

3

ď

Ш

эf

30

h-

:S.

;cr

of

as is-iid

ÆΠ

me

юh

3tc

2 nil-

ere ice.

ons

of-1 20

ım-

:SLI-

ials

hen

şnd

the

ried

the $ 10 rid at a any

well

OIII

ry as ;eles nan. the

this

`t go

ism, ister

The

iger, ated

IS 3 iing-

is.

willslam asıderneri-

arch Tec-

: the icas-

hers

port

supülies four

l szes. best / 8215

room, baths, Porlang 107.

n flat. Short

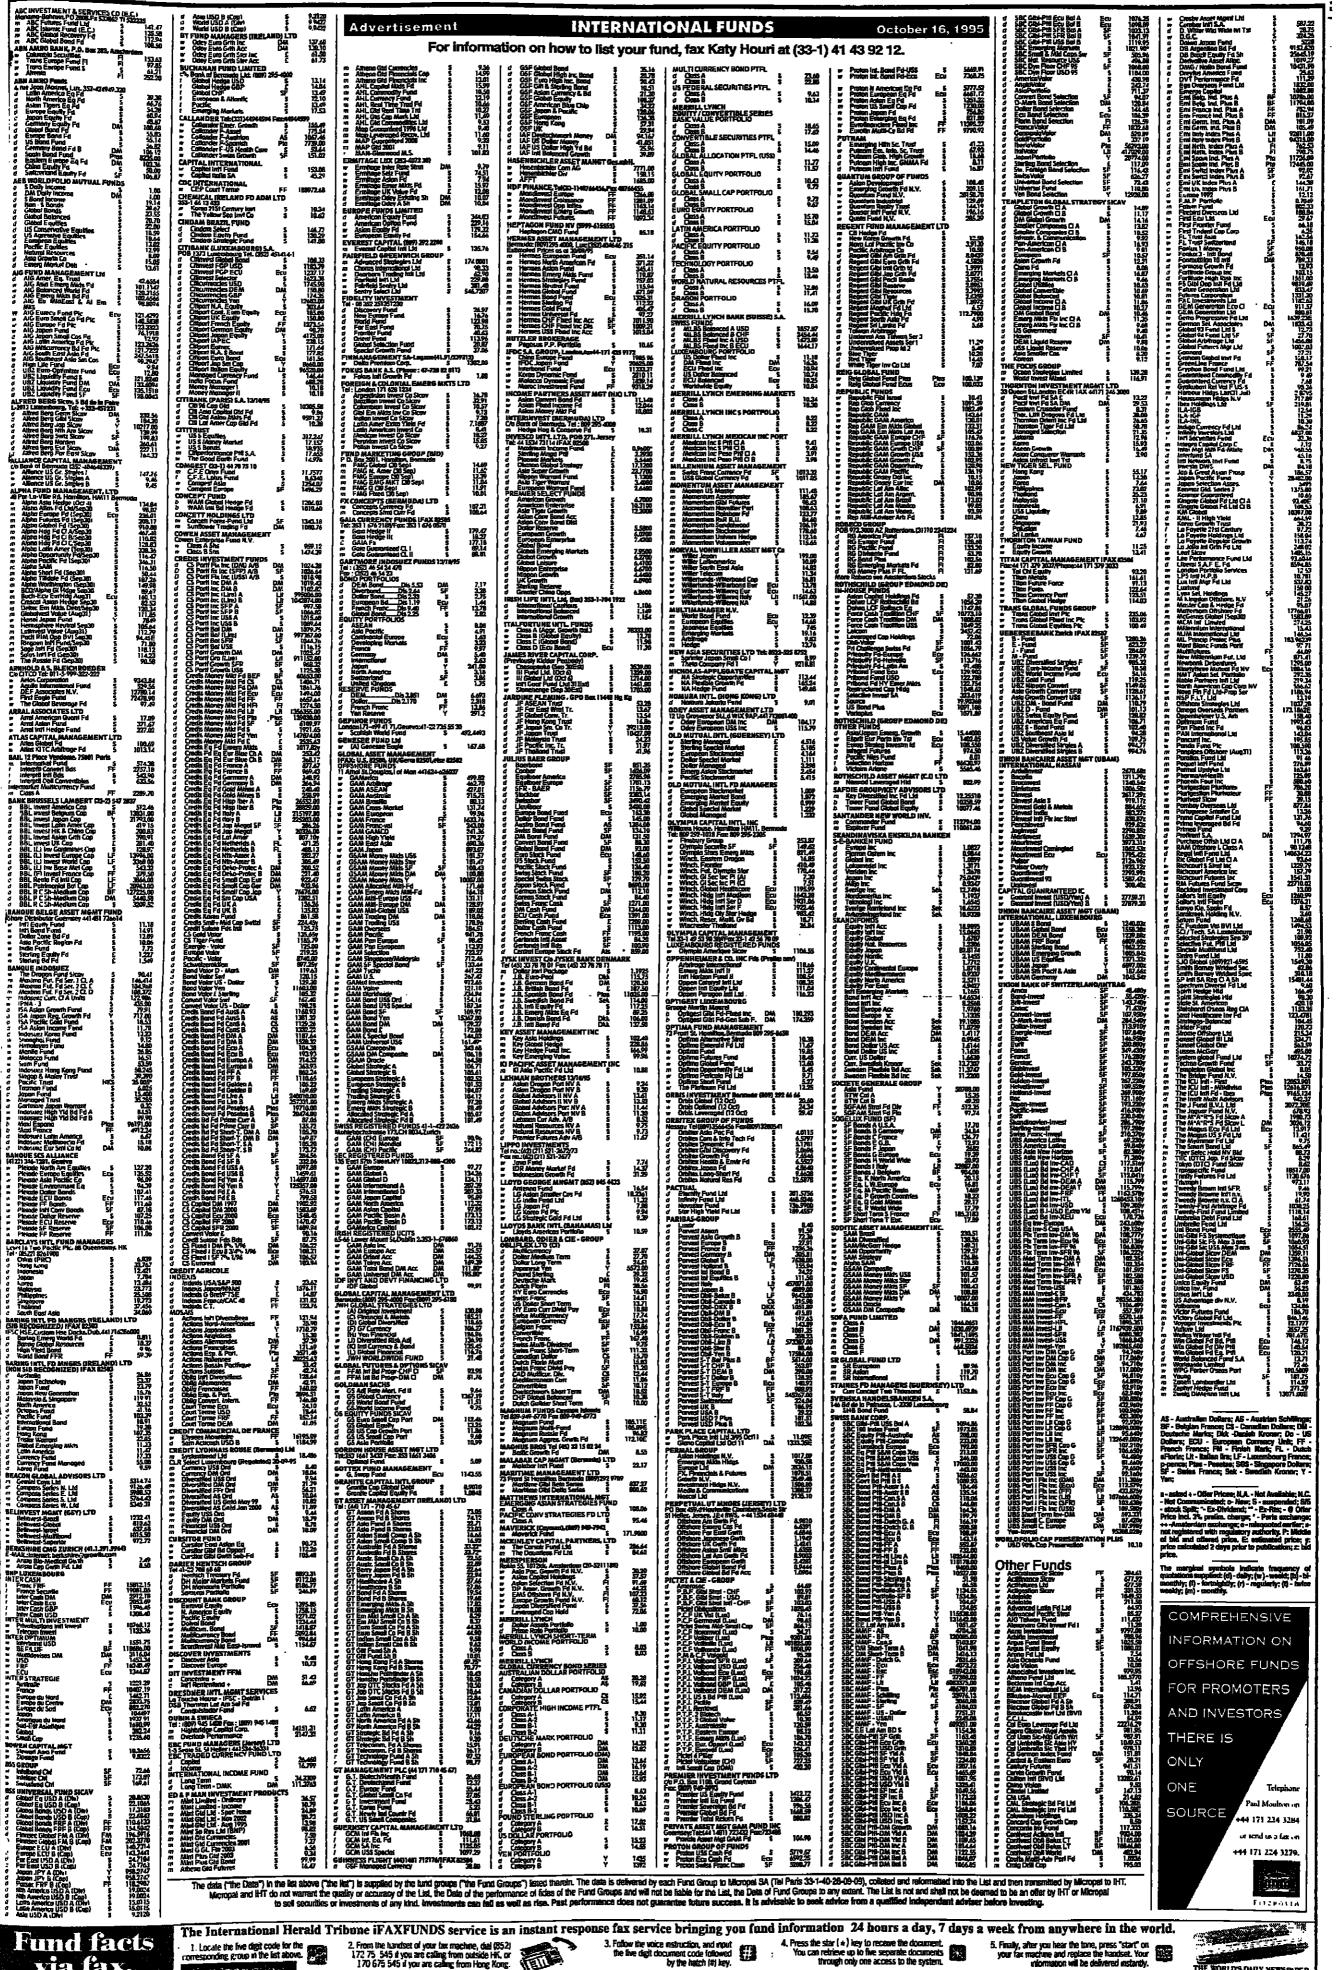

m. flor le living i 9613

SHED

17 sçm dining 501207

Nelvery S29 975 COSSIGNE S20,975 COSSIGNE SWAPE SWAPE SEE,977 SEE,748 SEE,748

: 7

172 75 545 if you are calling from outside HK, or 170 675 545 if you are calling from Hong Kong.

via fax.

Both Panthers And Saints Get First Victories

The Associated Press The Saints found a way to win, and the Panthers discovered how not to lose.

its first victory of the season was based on Jim Everett's big day and Bernie Kosar's mixed results filling in for Miami's Tony Dorsett's mark of 86. injured Dan Marino. Everett threw for four touchdowns, while Kosar passed for three and ran for one - but also had three turnovers in the Saints' 33-30 triumph Sunday.

"For a change we kept the mistakes low and when we had to have it, we got it out there," Everett said. "It's been hard and it's been frustrating. It's really good to get a win. It makes you look forward to the week again."

NFL ROUNDUP

The Panthers also ended their Joey Galloway. slide of five games with victory No. 1 in their history. The expansionists were inept on offense, but found an opponent ner in the New York Jets. Sam Mills intercepted a shovel pass from Bubby Brister and scooted 36 yards for a touchdown in a since knee surgery Sept. 12 and 26-15 victory.

"I told him he looked like he with 11/2 sacks. was 25 again," Coach Dom Capers said of Mills.

In New Orleans, the Saints led all the way behind Everett, the winner from 41 yards with missed. who was 20 of 32 for 242 yards. 2:36 to go. The Colts (4-2) got reer that Everett has passed for four TDs in a game. Cowboys 23, Chargers 9: In San Diego, Emmitt Smith con-New Orleans's formula for tributed two touchdown runs despite a season-low 68 yards rushing. Smith set a club record for career TDs with 88, beating > Troy Aikman recovered from a safety on the Cowboys' first play and hit 21 of 30 passes, including his first 11, for 222 yards. At 6-1, Dallas has the league's best record.

> Bills 27, Seahawks 21: Billy

Brooks caught six passes for 109 yards and two TDs in helping the host Bills (5-1) to their fifth straight victory. Jim Kelly completed 21 of 36 passes for 275 yards and three touchdowns in 30 mph winds. Seattle (2-4) got two TDs from Chris Warren and a 52yard scoring catch from rookie

A 1-yard TD pass from Dave Krieg to Garrison Hearst with 76 seconds remaining won it for comed back star defensive tackle Eric Swann

Swann made his first start was involved in six tackles.

In earlier games, reported "I've never seen anything Monday in some editions:

the was tackled hard on the like that before," Brister Colts 18, 49ers 17: Cary 49ers' last drive. But he relamented.

Blanchard kicked four field turned to set up Doug Brien's goals in Indianapolis, including Cardinals 24, Redskins 20: Buffalo's wide receiver Billy Brooks diving to his first TD as the Bills topped Seattle for their fifth straight victory.

son. They also handed both St. got two TD passes from Steve downs. that was pathetic in every man- the Cardinals (2-5), who wel- Louis and Miami their first Bono, who also scored on a run > quarterback, Steve Young, the year of 1969. league's MVP last season, who hurt his back and shoulder. from the game for one play after didn't help at Green Bay, where he was tackled hard on the 49ers' last drive. But he re-Edgar Bennett gained 148 yards

46-yard field goal attempt that

CFL Standings

the NFL's top teams this sea- their first three home victories, of 34 passes for two touch- as two quarterbacks each for losses of the year.

The last thing San Francisco (4-2) needs to worry about is its against New England (1-5).

Kansas City went 6-1 for the first time since its Super Bowl Packers 30, Lions 21: Detroit (2-4) got 124 yards on 18 51-yard field goal 6:23 into

His back injury forced him carries from Barry Sanders. It OT from scrimmage and Chris Jacke kicked three field goals for the Packers (4-2), who built

Buccaneers 20, Vikings 17: The Bucs, losers of at least 10 games in each of the last 12 years, took a hold on first place in the NFC Central after Michael Husted won it with a

Martin Maybew scored on a (5-2).

Chiefs 31, Patriots 26: The a 20-0 halftime lead. Favre, 7-2 fense and special teams ac-

New York (2-5) were simply awful. Mike Zordich returned a pass at the Philadelphia 40 to he was taken off life support. snuff out a late Giants raily. Omar Douglas scored on a 41-yard fumble return.

reached 600 victories, a record. Eagles 17, Giants 14: De- Curtis Conway caught three TD passes from Erik Kramer, help-It was the sixth time in his ca- their third victory over one of Chiefs, who went into OT for against Detroit, completed 23 counted for most of the offense ing the Bears moved to 4-2.

U.K. Rejects Calls For Ban on Boxing government on Monday reject- London in February. ed calls for a ban on boxing following the death of the Scottish fighter James Murray

Boxing opponents, including of the sport. the British Medical Associa "Surely aft tion, stepped up their campaien for the sport to be outlawed.

Sproat, speaking in the House of "It would be a great shame if this tragic death were to weigh too heavily," he said. "We whelmed by one tragedy. Sproat cited statistics indicating boxing was less danger-. ous than other sports.

"The fact of the matter is that when deaths from sports were last looked at in a comprehen-sive way between 1986 and 1992, there were some 268 deaths from other sports --- including 40 deaths from ball . games — as opposed to only...

Murray, 25, died Sunday, less than two days after he was knocked out by his countryman tle fight in Glasgow.

Doctors removed a blood council's clot from Murray's brain but he James Tye. fumble 58 yards for a TD and never recovered. With doctors intercepted Tommy Maddox's ruling him "clinically dead,"

Murray is the fourth boxer in Britain to die from injuries since 1980 and the second in 18 78-yard fumble return and Bears 30, Jaguars 27: In months Bradley Stone died afferiet Rhett had a 6-yard touch-down run for host Tampa Bay inal member of the NFL, the super-bantamweight (5.2) thage in a super-bantamweight fight in London in April 1994. The American boxer Gerald McClellan suffered massive brain injuries in a World Boxing

The Associated Press Council super-middelleweight LONDON — The British title fight against Nigel Benn in

During the Commons debate, Labor's Peter Hain said there should be a major reform

"Surely after James Murray's death, the second boxer in Britain to die in 18 months on top But Sports Minister Iain of all the other serious injuries, the government should now in-Commons, called boxing a "ter- sist that any public money is rific sport' and ruled out a ban made conditional on a root and branch reform of boxing."

"Perhaps this should include shouldn't let ourselves be over- a ban on punching to the head. stopping dangerous dehydration and other reforms that are absolutely necessary to put safety first," he said. "Otherwise boxing should be banned altogether.

Previous suggestions have inand their length, redesigned gloves and increasing the oneminute break between rounds. The British Safety Council sent a letter to Sproat demanding a total ban. 'As long as the prime aim of boxing is for two fighters to as two quarterbacks each for Drew Dockerty in the 12th round there can be no safety standards. Philadelphia (4-3) and the host of their British bantamweight ti- and no place for boxing in a cause each other brain damage. civilized society," said the council's director-general, Filipino Boxer Dies

The Filipino flyweight Roger Espenili died after sustaining brain injuries in a non-. title bout, Agence France-Presse reported from Manila. Espenili, 19, complained of dizziness after losing the 10round bout Thursday. He was taken to a hospital, where hedied Sunday from a brain hem-

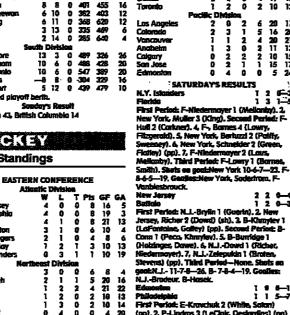

SCOREBOARD

AMERICAH CONFERENCE

1 6 0 .143 103 204 Centrel
3 3 0 500 124 107
1 3 0 500 138 140
2 4 0 333 136 145 Dallas Philodelphia Artzona N.Y. Glants Washington Sueday's Results Buffalo 27, Seattle 21 Kansas City 31, New England 26 Philodelphia 17, New York Glaats 14 Green Boy 30, Detroit 21 Tompo Boy 20, Minnesoto 17, 01 Indianapolis 18, San Francisco 17 Chicogo 30, Jacksonville 27 New Orleans 33, Miami 30 New Orleans 33, Miami 30 Carolina 26, New York Jets 15

Detroit
Wisninger
First Period: W-Turcotte 2 (Scienne, Korolev).
2 D.-McCarly 1 (Feitlann, Kazlov) (pp). 2, W-, Nusmatien 1 (Eastwood) (pp). 5cocad Period
W-Droite 2 (Darryl Shannon) (sh). 5. DCiccarett 4 (Sheppard, Yzerman) (pp). 6, WTurcotte 3 (Seisone, Monsoo) (pp). Takril Period: D-Sheppard 2 (Coffey, Ciccarett), 8, n.-Dvisnaru 2 (McCarly, Kazlov), 9, D-Fedorav 2-26. W- 6-11-9-1-27. G

2. L.A.-Tocchet 4 (Tsygurov). 3. V-Mogliny (Babych). Second Period: V-Okskuta 2 (Mogliny, Bobych). 5. V-Gelinas 2 (Lumme Linden). 6. L.A., Grunote L., Thiel Period.—Norse. Overtime.—None. Shots on york: L.A.-6-6-10-0-22. V-14-10-9-3-36. Capilics 1. 4. Parion. V-Met down ioslies: L.A.-Dafae, V-McLean. BASKETBALL NBA Preseason

Affanta 107, Houston 106, OT San Antonio 112, Golden State 98 L.A. Clippers 120, Socramento 74 SOCCER

GERMAN BUNDESLIGA
Honso Rostock 2, VTB Stuffgort 3
Scholke 1, FC Koiserstoutern 1
FC Cologne 2, Boyern Leverlusen 2 Standings: Boyern Munick, 21 points; Borus sic Dortmund, 18; Moenchenglodback, 14

E: Hamburg SV, 7; SC Freibur TALIAN FIRST DIVISION

and Piocette, Land Company of the Co

WHAT IF THEY DON'T SHOW UP?

Sporting Gijon 1, Cella Viga 6 Tenerife 2, Rayo Vallecano 2 Solumanca 0, Real Madrid 2

Steamings: Atletico Madrisi, 22; Barcelona, 20; Espanal, 19; Composiela, 1d; Valencia, 1d; Real Belts, Sporting Gijon and Real Zaragaza, 13; Athletic Biboo, 12; Tenerife and Real Madrid, 11; Departivo Coruna and Albacce, 10; Val-ladalid, 9; Rucing Sanlander, 8; Marida, Oviedo and Real Sociedad, 7; Sevilla, 6; Cetta Vigo. Schmancu, 5: Rayo Vollecano, 4.
FRENCH FIRST DIVISION
Le Havre 2: St Effenne 2

Le Howre 2, St Effenne 2
Standings: Metz, 31; Lets, 35; Auserra and Paris St Germain, 25; Manacon, Guingamp and Mostpellier, 37; Norther, 20; Bussid, 19; Stres-bourg, Bordenut and Remies, 17; Mice, 16; Lyon and Le Horne, 14; St Effenne, 15; Geougnon, 11; ligues, 10; Lille and Connes, 9.

GOLF

Las Vegas Invitational Leading Stad scores and arize money Souday of the $1.5 million Las Yegus Jurilaliums, played on three courses, the 7,243-yard, par-72-17-C at countries in 7,164-yerd, per-72 Les Veges Country Cub; and the 6,815-yerd, per-71 Les Veges Hilles Country Cub (lest two rounds played on the TPC custosis: Jim Purple, $27(0,00) 67-65-65-67-67-331 CRICKET CHAMPION'S TROPHY TOURNAM CHAMPION 3 (RUPM 1 40VK) with Medicy kes Self Leader Medicy kes Self Leader Medicy in Shorjab, U.A.E. West Indies Insings: 339 (61 out, 49.3 over West Indies won by 4 runs.

INTERNATIONAL TEST

INTERNATIONAL TES South Africa vs. Zimbalrun, 48 Menday, in Hernen, South Al shobwe 1st knaings: 170 (all ort) shobwe 2d innings: 283 (all ort) uth Africa 1st insings: 346 (all ort)

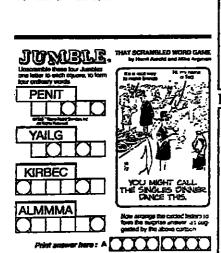

TRANSITIONS BASEBALL

American Lac NEW YORK—Sent Joe Aus zonilio, Bob MacDonoick and Dove Pavios, pilicines, outright to Columbus, IL.

OAKLAND—Sent John Briscoe and Bill Tay-; scoe and Bill Tay-OAKLAND—Sert John Brace lar, pitches, and Andy Tombe outright to Edmonton, PCL.
TORONTO—Assigned Dunter and Milte Huff, outlinder, to Syn Notional Larges

"No Milk for Joey, Aunt Sarah. I dust told Him where it comes from."

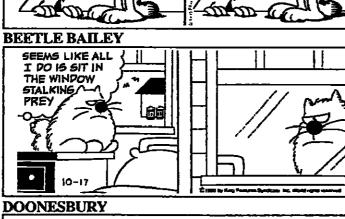

August West the deniet had after a long day with passets -- HS TRIL! OF WORK

TO OUR READERS IN BERUN You can now receive the IHT hand delivered to your home or of every morning on the day of publication. Just call us toll tree at 0130 84 85 85

THE FAR SIDE

CALVIN AND HOBBES

IT'S ALMOST BEDTIME AND THE ALIENS HAVEN'T COME

BLONDIE

of-

als hen grid the

'as кh

this

t go ism ister

iger, ated

ung-

ıder-

arch

ILCC-

: the iear-

hers

they port sup-e re-

ru. flat le living i 9613

leivery 529,775 COSSelfe S20,775 COSSElfe S20,775 COSSE S20,775 San S20,775 Sa

By Jack Curry

New York Times Service CLEVELAND - Jim

Thome's swing was majestic. He had spied a 2-0 fastball from Chris Bosio and sent it sailing into the second deck of the right-field seats for a two-run home run. He flipped the black bat aside, pumped his fist and raised his arms high as he rounded first base. The result of his work was magical to the dians because it enabled them to beat the Mariners, 3-2, in Game 5 of the American League Championship Series. Forty-one years after Cleveland last won a pennant Thome's blast in the sixth inning and the pitching of Orel Hershiser and Paul Assenmacher propelled the Indians to a 3-2 lead in the four-of-seven-game series and put them within one victory of playing the Atlanta Braves in the World Series.

Hershiser continued his brilfingers because of the windy

Indians 3, Mariners 2

posure, he stifled the Mariners on one earned run and eight strikeouts in six unings. The performance raised his postseason record to 7-0 with a 1.47 earned run average. The only pitchers with superior postseason era's are the Hall of Famers Sandy Koufax, Christy Mathewson and Eddie Plank. Was there any pitcher better suited to start Sunday night than Hershiser? Probably not Even on three days' rest.

"This is very gratifying." said Hershiser. "The game was of utmost importance to us. I'm gratified I gave us a chance to Hershiser and the Indians did more than that because they also took away Lou Piniella's ace. The Mariners feel there is no better pitcher to save their season on Tuesday than Randy Johnson, but they did not want to use him until the World Setiance in October. Licking his ries. Now Seattle is forced to dream remained intact because start Johnson on three days' rest

Totals 32 3 10 3 5 7
Seathle 981 916 088-2 5 2
Cleveland 199 982 985-3 16 4
E-Griffey Jr (1), TMarfingz (1), Belle 2 (2), Sorrento 2 (2), LDB-Seathle 9, Cleveland 11, 2B-Griffey Jr (2), ADlax (1), Murray (1), SAlonar (1), HR-Thome (2) off Bosio, RBis-Grifley Jr (2), Murray (3), Thome 2 (5), SB-Corra (2), Coleman (3), Lotion 2 (4), Vizquel 2 (3),
S-Strange, Kirby, GIDP-ARcomirez, Russrers left in scaring position—Seatite 6 (Buthner 3, Salo 3); Cleveland 8 (Lotion, Vizquel, Boerga 2 Mikamiraz 4), Runner moved up-EMaritinez, DP-Seatite 2 (Cora and Solo), (Soio, Cora, Timartinez & Cleveland 1 (Vizzue).

IP I R ERBBSO NP ERA 06 5 2 1 2 8 93 1.29 1/3 0 0 0 0 0 7 3.86 1 0 0 0 0 2 13 0.00 weather and walking around the in Game 6 at the Kingdome mound to help keep his com- when he will attempt to keep their season alive for the fourth time in three weeks. Dennis Martinez will pitch for the In-dians, who have not reached the World Series since 1954 and have not won a title since 1948. "This," said Martinez, "is one of the dreams I have in my baseball career.' Martinez is not alone. Thome looked like an 8-year-old at a surprise birthday party as he stuffed the home-run ball in his

"It's the biggest home run of my career," Thome said. "To do it in a big game like this is the greatest thrill."

"He's one of those special types of hitters," said Cleve-land's manager, Mike Hargrove. 'The type of hitter I wasn't.'

After Hershiser thrived on a night when the 50-degree temperature felt much colder because of winds that gusted to 30 miles an hour, Cleveland's of gritty pitching by Assen-macher, lucky pitching by Eric Plunk and typical pitching by Jose Mesa. Mesa retired three straight in the ninth for his first

Trying to revive a sluggish offense that hit .203 in the first four games, Piniella made several changes in his lineup and watched his new leadoff man, Joey Cora, score twice to give the Mariners a 2-1 lead. But the lead did not last. Thome and Assenmacher made sure of that. 'We're down, but we're not said Piniella. "We've been in this position before." A happier Hargrove, already sensing the noise in the Kingdome, said, "We're going into the mouth of the lion.

Jim Thome blasted a two-run homer in the sixth and Cleveland held on for a 3-2 victory.

Opel Breaks Deal With Graf

$1.2 Million Contract Cut

The Associated Press

BERLIN - One of Steffi Graf's main sponsors, the General Motors subsidiary Opel, canceled a lucrative contract Monday because of the scandal that has put her father in jail on suspicion of tax evasion.

It was the first such setback since mid-summer, German when tax authorities began investigating Graf, 26, who as one of Germany's best-known figures, is avidly sought for endorsements and sponsorships.

Opel said that it still had full confidence in Graf's personal integrity, but that it would cancel at the end of this year a $1.2 million a year contract with the world's No.1 woman's tennis

Meanwhile, Opel has signed as sponsor of the Fed Cup, the women's version of the Davis Cup, the International Tennis Federation announced Monday. The deal begins with the U.S.-Spain final Nov. 25-26 in Valencia, Spain, and continues through 1998. Financial terms were not disclosed.

Graf, who is to begin playing on Wednesday in a tournament in Brighton, has been questioned by prosecutors but does not face immediate arrest, prosecutors said last week.

She is, however, a suspect could eventually be brought to trial. Her father, Peter Graf, has been under arrest since August, accused of failing to report some $35.3 million of her income.

Her tax adviser, Joachim Eckardt, also is in custody. Opel's supervisory board member, Hans Wilhelm Gaeb. had been one of Graf's main defenders as the tax scandal broke, but in recent weeks it was evident that he was unhappy at disclosures of how her financial affairs had been managed by her father and others.

An Opel spokesman, Karl Mauer, said the company had told Graf that its deal with her would be endangered if there were no changes in her "management environment. A statement issued by Opel headquarters in Rüsselsheim. Germany, did not refer directly had decided "in the current situation" not to extend the contract it had with Graf since 1985, when she was an emerging teenage star. Graf has said she left management of her finances to her father, and reportedly had no knowledge of where her fortune -- estimated at $70 million -was invested.

The German weekly magazine Der Spiegel reported this week that the tax investigators questioned Graf for the second time on Friday, focusing on whether she signed her tax returos.

There have been news reports that an autograph machine was used to sign the returns. If true, that could add falsification of a signature to criminal charges that may be filed. Spiegel reported that Graf's tax return for 1993 reported $1.9 million in income but left; out income from three sponsorship deals worth a total of $3.9 million.

After 'Hard Year,' Relaxed Els Reaps Victor's Fruit

By Ian Thomsen

although he was celebrating his 26th birthday Tuesday.

I actually wanted to lose a little weight this week," he said Sunday after winning his second successive World Match Play title. "There's one person with a better record than me here, and that's the lady who was cooking for me this week. She cooked for Corey Pavin and he won; and now for me the last two years. So she has a 100 percent record over three years.

It might be no coincidence for Els that he has achieved his highest ranking -No. 2 in the world — after a long holiday. He used to believe in playing his game into shape, but that was before he moved to America this year. Now, a larger belly might fill him with confidence.

after the Masters and came back to win the Byron Nelson. Now I've been away four of the last five weeks, and it looks ike I'm playing well. Maybe I should do and talk with people I know and drink a beer," Els said recently. "It's not so joyous in America as it is in Europe." like I'm playing well. Maybe I should do this more often same year Els won the World Junior Championship in San Diego.

To say that everything has come naturally for Els is in no way to denigrate his attitude or work ethic. The mystery for anyone with a gift is how to exploit it, by whatever means. At 6 feet 3 inches (1.91 meters) he has enormous strength and touch. Relaxing might have been the easiest part of the game, but this year he has been learning how to make the most of it all over again.

Having made his reputation on the PGA European Tour through 1994, when he won the U.S. Open and three 'world' events - including this match-play title and the Johnnie Walker World Championship - he decided to move to the tour in America. What he "This year I've proven myself found, and apparently what set him wrong," he said. "I took three weeks off back, was a much less sociable environment. The Americans are all practice, practice, practice. "I like to sit down at a tournament hamnesbuirg when he decided to concentrate on golf at the expense of tennis where he also might have been a star

where he also might have been a star as well as rugby and cricket. His Nick Faldo might seem to crave that and Lee Janzen, among others. He is hoping to improve, but from No. 2 in the would there is only one place to go. He would like to win the other three major

Nick Faldo might seem to crave that and Lee Janzen, among others. He is HOVE, England (AP) — The former WBO super-middleweight champion Chris Eubank, who frequently spoke of his distike for boxing, said Monday he was quitting the sport after a Emie Els was looking a bit soft, like an father, who owns a trucking firm in missed the cut at the Masters, his favorite championships at least, and along the athlete retired from a more active sport. South Africa, financed him, and in the event, and the U.S. Open, as defending champion; at the British Open and the PGA he was in contention only to waver uncharacteristically in the final rounds. "It was a hard year for me," Els said. 'To be No. 1, I think you've got to feel like you're the best player in

"I really tried a little too hard at the start of the year. I really pushed myself for too long. When I'm playing well, I find I'm not having to push and I'm really the world.

It has to be pointed out that his standards are ludicrously high. This "hard year" has resulted in one U.S. Tour victory, two at home, including the South African PGA Championship, and now the World Match Play, where he remains undefeated against Seve Ballesteros, Bernhard Langer, José-María Olazábal way overtake Greg Norman at the top.

"I'd like to be No. 1 one day," Els said. "At the moment I don't think my I'm getting closer, and my game technically is a lot better than it was a couple "My almost continuous fight schedule and the difficulties I "My almost continuous fight schedule and the difficulties I player in the world, and at the moment 've still got a ways to go."

The biggest obstacle will be his own state of mind. He seems as relaxed and likeable as any star in any sport, now he just has to direct himself. He could immerse himself in the U.S. system, falling into step with the American golfing automatons. But he refuses.

"I like to see myself as a world play-er," Els said. "I'm 26, I'd still like to travel around a little bir, see the world. When you go to Japan for a tournament these days, there's a lot of money and it's a good field. In Europe, they've just won the Ryder Cup, they've got a great tour. And I've got a house in America."

SIDELINES

Bomb Kills 6 at Ukrainian Stadium

president of the home club and five others. The explosive device was well targeted."

Reuters large company under investigation for fraud.

KIEV — A bomb exploded before the start of a soccer match in Donetsk, the Ukraine, killing the Donetsk police chief, Arkadi Boldovsky. "The

The victims included Alexander Bragin, pres-ident of Shakhtyor Donetsk, and four of his uated. The police said three attempts had been bodyguards. Bragin was chairman of Luxe, a made on Bragin's life in the past 18 months.

Ex-Boxing Champ Eubank Retires

10-year professional career.

Eubank, 29, announced his retirement five weeks after losing a title rematch against Steve Collins of Ireland. Eubank, who held the WBO middleweight title before moving up a division, finished with game is quite there yet. Consistency is a career record of 43-3-2. Collins broke Eubank's 43-fight unbeaten probably my problem. I think mentally streak in March and won the rematch with a split decision in Ireland of years ago. But to be No. 1 I think have had making the weight have all taken their toll, and I really you've got to feel like you're the best need a long rest," Eubank said. "My opinions of boxing have been made known on numerous occasions, and frankly, a move to light-heavyweight does not appeal to me. I have, therefore, decided to retire now at almost the pinnacle of my career. Eubank said he intends to become a businessman and pursue opportunities in television and radio.

Japan-South Korea All-Star Series

TOKYO (AP) — Slugger Ichiro Suzuki of the Orix Bluewave will lead a Japanese professional all-star team in a six-game series against South Korean stars, the Japan Professional Baseball Organization said Monday.

The series, starting Nov. 3 in Japan, is being played in commemoration of the 30th anniversary of the normalization of diplomatic relations between Tokyo and Seoul, officials said. It will be the second all-star series between the two countries. In 1991, Japan beat South Korea, 4-2. Games are scheduled in Tokyo

Maybe one day, as he felt here last on Nov. 3, Yokohama on Nov. 4, Koshien on Nov. 5, Fukuoka on week, he will feel at home everywhere. Nov. 9, Gifu on Nov. 11 and Nagoya on Nov. 12.

Golf Sets Slow Play Penalty The Associated Press

LONDON - Golf's governing bodies are introducing a one-stroke penalty rule in an attempt to combat slow play.
The sport's two rulemaking authorities, the Royal and Ancient Club and the United States Golf Association, decided Monday to include the words "slow play" in the rule-book for the first time starting Jan. I.

Currently, anyone caus-ing undue delay is subject to a two-stroke penalty in stroke-play competitions. However, this is rarely enforced.

The Royal and Ancient and USGA issue amendments to the Rules of Golf every fourth year. Suggestions for change are sub-mitted by individuals, clubs and golf associa-

Among the changes coming into effect next year are ones that permit committees to make local rules to prohibit play from an environmentally sensitive area.

Another amendment will deny a player recourse when his stance, not the ball, is affected by casual water, ground under repair or certain damage to the

CROSSWORD

10 Mahout's master

11 Lagoon's boundary 12 Name on a encl. 23 High-speed 18 Freelancer's

22 "The Wind in the Willows" critter

26 — Major 31 Neighbor of Colo.

32 Ride in a rock 33 Hand lotion ingredient

9 Doesn't stick up

ACROSS 1 Le ---- (Mile) & Wall Street 16 Enervates

14 Comedienne Cleghorne 15 Lateral leader 16 Rat-----17 Early 80's fad

A world leading information management company dedicated to transforming business people's lives.

á

29 Modern car feature: Abbr. 21 Sol-do bridge 22 Le Carré protagonist 24 Bedtime stories 26 Porky Pig's 30 Skin holes as Biblical haven 36 Site for a sale

37 Gatsby description 39 Comic King 40 1949 Tracy-Hepbun 42 "Leave me

43 "Bali ----44 William and Mary, e.g. 46 The Clerms 51 Mayflower competitor

52 Fix a faux pas 53 Skip to My 56 Fly in the

57 Keystone State. so Not racy 61 Noel vision sz Borden boy 64 Evening, in es Dissuade DOWN s Hospital fluids

2 Bridge group. or bid 3 Priestly vestme 4 Niihau neckwea & Low socks & Pie graph pi

45 An 88 45 Ramadan rituals 47 Radil neighbors 48 Comel relative 49 "The Lady or the ——?" so Chlorophyllss The --- Boys of "Peter Pan"

13 Corset feature 24 Mr. T and pals 25 Greek portico 25 Protection grp

34 Reverberated as Kind of jerk 37 Family 38 Social reforme 41 Jeff MacNelly comic strip 42 Conceded 44 Stars and Stripes skippe

Solution to Puzzle of Oct. 16

55 internet AMORAL LEMNISCI FIRSTIMPRESSION sa Rock producer

ESCORTS & GUIDES BELGRAVIA ORCHIDS

police said it was a contract murder.

0171 589 5237

EIROPEAN MODEL ESCORT SERVICE WORLDWIDE, reservation
Paris + Monaco + Monaco + Rome
Zurich + Brussels + Lineambourg
Frontfurt + Berlin + Manach INTERNATIONAL ESCORTS

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

The match Sunday against Tavria Simferopol

(Continued From Page 22)

ARISTOCATS Escort Service 3 Shouldings: 5t. London W1 017) 258 0090 CHELSEA ESCORT SERVICE. Beolechump Moce, Landon SW3. Tel: 0171-584 6513

MILAN DELLOG ESCORT SERVICE Call 58 10 51 88 or 0330 234392 GENEVAPRETTY WOMAN Call Genevo 34600 B? Escort Agency + BASE, LAUSANNE, MONTREUX

TO OUR READERS IN VIENNA AND IN SALZBURG

You can receive the IHT hand delivered to your home or office on the day of publication. Just call our Vienna office: 853 641 3830 or fax: 853 641 3840

LONDON * MALE EXCLUSIVE ESCORT SERVICE PLEASE CALL 0171 486 3477 AMSTERDAM DREAMS ESCORTS dirner date service for Him and Her. +31 (020-64 02 111 / 64 02 666 TED ROSES Extent Service Freekfurt. Tel: 0172-921 6666 All conds welcome VIENNA PAINS, ZUNICH, COTE AZUR HIGH SOCIETY In 11 Scort Service Vienna + +43-1-535 41 04 all cards TAO ESCORT SERVICE MORRISON CLUB - VIENNA ESCORT Service. 5. Rechte Wiencolle 20. 12/2/586 86 84. YENNA, ALL AUSTRIA, PRAGUE Yenno's Best Escort Servest, oil cards New Number: (+ +43)] 333 E2 21. DRAMA OF NEW YORK 272-SC-9079

 FAR EASTEIN LONDON ***
Escot' Agency, Credit Cords.
Tel: 0171 559 5297

MILAM*RONE*Peris*e*Cota. Asse*LugonoLondonVienne*MadriniPolermo
Escott Service. Tel: 397-335287204

Mademelicalle E. L. L. E.
Escott Service. F. R. A. N. K. F. U. R. T.
Mobilio Phone 0177 - 24. 40 611

AMSSERDAMSIRECT TO SETS

 LONDON  CARBIEAN ***
HEATHROW/GATWOX Exont Service
London 0956 460211 Gredit conds
FRANKFURT & AREA

Marc's Escent Agency. Please Call 069 - 507 66 66.

AMSTERDAM" PRIST CLASS" ESCORT SERVICE & DINNER DATES PLEASE CALL: 020-6405049

No.

fror

NFL

Europe

ART BUCHWALD

Questions for O.J.

ASHINGTON — I had 8. If you had your life to live codles of questions for over again, would you still play Tom Brokaw to ask O.J., but golf? unfortunately Tom was stood up. But Brokaw thought they were very relevant and urged me to them even if he never got a chance to ask them. 1. Do you believe football is getting too rough and most of the inittries caused by faulty equipment? What is the greatest game you ever played for the Buffalo Bills, and who blocked for

3. You're known for running through airports. What was your best time ever at Chicago's O'Hare Airport? 4. Who was the most interesting person you ever met in

6. If a Bronco is your favorite you be? car, what is your favorite that ever happened to you?

Women say you are a risktaker — true or false?

10. How many defense lawyers does it take to screw in a light bulb?

11. Have you ever done anything to embarrass the University of Southern California? 12. Do you think the L.A.P.D., is doing an adequate

13. If you found a glove on your lawn, would you keep it. try to return it to its owner or throw it to a barking dog? 14. Have you ever disappointed Tom Brokaw? 15. Do you think by posing for commercials that you are selling out?

16. Is Mark Fuhrman as nice in person as he is on televi-

17. If you were a rosebush, what kind of rosebush would

18. You've been such a neat guest. Would you come back 7. What was the scariest thing again next summer when you finish another book?

Edison's 1st Recording

WEST ORANGE, New Jersey — Curators cataloguing the millions of doc-Thomas Alva Edison left be-known recording of his voice. Researchers believe the 154second recording was among words: "Goodbye, Edison." many used to demonstrate the new technology to prominent about an around-the-world trip beginning and ending in New York, ticking off cities, ships and died in 1931.

trains and joking about being "a little off on my geography."
In a high-pitched voice, Edison addresses someone named uments and devices that Blaine, apparently James Gillespie Blaine, a congressman. hind have turned up the earliest two-time secretary of state and perennial presidential candi-date. He signs off with the

The wax cylinder recording was apparently made in 1888, people. On it, the inventor talks when Edison was 41. Edison, who accumulated more than 1.300 U.S. and foreign patents,

Humor and Mysticism: Pinter Improvises Pinter

By Mel Gussow New York Times Service

NEW YORK — With a newly grown mustache, and wearing a black shirt and black jacket, Harold Pinter looked as if he had stepped out of a film noir. His appearance was in keeping with his role as the head of a mental hospital in his dark comedy "The Hothouse." A revival of that play recently opened in London after a summer's engagement at the Chichester Festival.

Just before "The Hothouse" transferred, the playwright and his wife, Antonia Fraser, took a quick trip to New York to look at previews of "Moonlight," which opens Tuesday at the Roundabout Theater's new Laura Pels Theater. Pinter's first full-length play since 1978, 'Moonlight' stars Jason Robards and Blythe

'Where poetry is concerned, I don't make a value judgment about ideology.'

Danner. At 65, the playwright continues working without pause.

In recent years he has focused on directing, acting, adapting novels to the screen and writing short political plays. Whenever he started a fulllength play, he "bumped into a brick wall," he said. His breakthrough was "Moonlight," which was first presented in London in 1993. The idea for the new work came to him when he was appearing in a revival of his "No Man's Land." As he began to write it, he had a feeling of déjà vu. Searching through his papers, he discovered incomplete pages of dialogue going back to 1977 and dealing with a related subject. This time the words flowed.

As the play evolved, an older man reflected with remorse and cynicism on his life and the life of his "dislocated family." Although imminent death shadows the events of the play, this is also a work with what Pinter calls "salt, vinegar and mustard." In other words, it is enlivened by Pinteresque humor.

At one point the protagonist's daughter apcears. Pinter said she represented "the eternal life of the dead in our lives." He added, "If I can say a thing like that, it means I'm talking about some kind of mystical awareness, a recognition of a life in the spirit.'

In acknowledging a mystical side to his nature, Pinter pointed to what he considered a recent psychic experience. One day before going onstage in "The Hothouse," he suddenly remembered a poem by W.S. Graham, Although he hadn't thought about it for 40 years, he recited the poem aloud: "O, gentle queen of the afternoon . . .

After the performance there was a note from a theatergoer awaiting him in his dressing room. On the back of the envelope were the first lines of the Graham poem. To his assonishment, "I was saying those obscure lines to myself as someone was almost certainly writing them." He said that coincidence "moved me in a way I can't explain.

He feels that people who have died are still present in his own life; relatives as well as those who were victims of political crimes and acts of terrorism. In the last year he has lost many of his friends ("I never seem to be out of memorial services"), including John Osborne. He said he missed Osborne as a friend and also because they were both part of the "extraordinary world" of the late 1950s, when new playwrights and actors galvanized the English

In March, when Pinter accepted the pres-tigious David Cohen British Literature Prize for lifetime achievement, he paid tribute to a schoolteacher who had cast him in the role of Macbeth and introduced him to the work of the playwright John Webster. That teacher, he said. 'fired my imagination" and was partly responsible for his decision to go into the theater.

At the outset of Pinter's career, he was an actor with provincial repertory companies. He still faces the actor's nightmare: stage fright. He said that every actor he knew had confronted it: "Standing in the wings before the play begins, you feel a slight tension in the stomach, a little quiver, a tremor.'

With him, of course, there is a special circumstance. When he acts onstage, it is in a play that he has written.

You may have written the damn lines." he said, "but you didn't expect to say them, and you suddenly find you have to say them every night." If he forgets them, couldn't he make up new ones? He seemed horrified at the thought of improvising Pinter. That would be an abrogation of the author's art.

Written in 1958, it was put aside by the play-wright and not unearthed until the early 1980s, when it was done in London and New York. Since then it has become part of the standard Pinter repertory, but this is the first time the author has portrayed Roote, a man he describes as moments of "violent farce." He wrote "The Hothouse" immediately after "The Birthday Party" had been scorned by the London critics (except for Harold Hobson).

"The Hothouse" was Pinter's buried play. More "salt, vinegar and mustard."

If "The Hothouse" had been done in its time, a "crazy, brutal, violent tyrant." As he sees it, the he said, "I would have been run out of town, as play has increased in relevance: The audience I was with 'The Birthday Party.' 'Despite that approaches it as realism even though it has early failure, he continued writing. He credits himself with "profound obstinacy." To the repeated charge of being "enigmatic, prickly and forbidding," he responded: "I have my moods like anyone else. I believe I'm the possessor of a critical intelligence. As always, Pinter's work remains at a remove from his own life, and he is notably reticent about revealing personal matters. He said he never felt the urge to write his memoirs; Michael Billington, the drama critic of The Guardian, is writing the playwright's biography.

"I don't know how people write about their lives," Pinter said. "There are so many things one might omit, forget or distort." That statement led to a discussion of biographies. If a biography is critical of an artist's character, wouldn't a reader think less of the art? Pinter disagreed with that premise.

He said Yeats "was obviously a deeply ego-centric person who flirted with fascism," but that did not negate the fact that he was a great poet. He feels similarly about T.S. Eliot: "I'm not denying that Eliot was anti-Semitic. I still think his poetry is one of the most valuable things we have. Where poetry is concerned, I don't make a value judgment about ideology. Finally it comes down to the quality of the artistic endeavor." Related questions arise in Ronald Harwood's new play, "Taking Sides," which Pinter directed in London. In the play, Daniel Massey gives an acclaimed performance as Wilhelm Furtwangler, the celebrated conductor who kept his job as head of the Berlin Philharmonic during World War II. Later the conductor was accused of serving Nazism.

As intended, Harwood's portrait is ambiguous, as is Pinter's response to the complex character. "Furtwangler is not a man who's committed palpable and evident crimes," he said. "He thought that art, that music, could help people. He's not entirely wrong about that, but finally, his position was a false one."

In this busy season, Pinter is surrounded by aspects of his prodigious career. "Old Times" recently completed a successful run in London and then played for a week in Moscow. Were he not acting, he might also catch up with "Betrayal," which is being done in both Shanghai (in Chinese) and Seanle.

He plans to direct a revival of "Twelve Angry Men" in London, finding a renewed timeliness in the Reginald Rose play. It is, he said, a play about prejudice and assumptions."

Despite his public image. Pinter can be selfmocking as well as self-critical. He recalled that a woman once introduced him to her 6-year-old son as "a very good writer." The boy asked, "Can he do a W?"

POSTCARD

When Martha's Vineyard 'Shuts Down' to Fish

By Sara Rimer

EDGARTOWN, Massachusetts — When the Simpson verdict was announced. Janet Messineo was fishing.
...When others on the island of Martha's Vineyard turned out to gawk at the famous Vineyard turned out to gawk at the famous island, as opposed to the celebrity haunt people, including the Clintons, who attended the wedding of Ted Danson and to think of as Martha's Vineyard. Mary Steenburgen, Janet Messineo kept

And when it rained, hard, for two days straight, she was still fishing.

For one month, Messineo, a 47-year-old wife, mother and businesswoman, fished. She shut down her business, Island Taxidermy, with this message on the answering machine: "Sorry, the derby's on. I'm fishing all day, I'm fishing all night. If you derby.

have a fish, keep it cold, keep it wet, try to

It was the same for hundreds of men, women and children all over the island, as it is every autumn during the Martha's Vineyard Striped Bass and Bluefish Derby, a ritual that people say signifies the authentic

The monthlong derby was started 50 years ago by a group of islanders who 5,000 pounds of fish fillets. thought a fishing tournament might attract visitors in what was then a slow post-Labor

Now this island off Cape Cod is so popular that on this ordinary fall weekend the hotels in Edgartown were booked. And most of the people were not here for the

WEATHER

Forecast for Wednesday through Friday, as provided by Accu-Weather.

North America

Summer people look to the island as a place to escape. For the islanders, summer is when they work the hardest, and fight the crowds (the summer population is 100,000, up from 16,000 in winter). At derby time, Martha's Vineyard belongs to the islanders

This year the all-volunteer derby committee, headed by Mike Cassidy, a house painter, awarded more than $8,000 in scholarships - and, to the island's elderly,

The 2,260 participants, half of them islanders, competed for $150,000 in prizes donated by local merchants, with the grand prize a 20-foot Ocean Scout outboard with a 115-horsepower Yamaha motor.

The real prize, the fishermen say, is the way the derby connects them to the island,

2876 2475 $1 2286 2475 $1 1884 4643 $1 2177 $243 $2475 $2 2178 $2475 $2 2178 $

Busnos Axes 17/62 8/46 pc 17/82 8/46 5 Caspcas 32/89 26/73 sh 32/89 26/79 pc Lima 18/64 17/82 pc 19/85 18/64 6 Mexico City 22/71 10/50 pc 22/71 11/52 pc

North America

PEOPLE

A CTOR John Travolta has only one regret: turning down the hood-to-hero lead in "An Officer and a Gentleman." "I was studying to be a pilot at the time," he told TV Guide. "And I didn't want to play one when I was on the verge of being one. The character helped make Richard Gere a star while Travolta's career languished until his performance in "Pulp Fiction" won him an Academy Award nomination this year and a slew of movie offers.

Dizzy Gillespie will get a posthumous star this week on the Hollywood Walk of Johnny Depp has bought a house once owned by Bela Lugosi. The Los Angeles house was sold for $9.9 million. Princess Diana, who suffered from an eating disorder herself, will be the main guest at a film premiere to aid victims of anorexia. "Haunted," starring Anthony Andrews, Aidan Quinn and Sir John Gielgud, is a story of the supernatural based on a novel by James Herbert. The Oct. 26 oremiere in London will aid the European Anorexia Fund and the British Red Cross.

Eighteen women have been inducted into the U.S. National Women's Hall of Fame: Virginia Apgar, a physician who invented a life-saving health assessment test for new-boms called the Apgar Scale; Ann Bancroft, first woman to reach the North and South Poles across the ice; Amelia Bloomer, who founded and edited "The Lily," the first newspaper devoted to reform and equality for women; Mary Breckinridge, nurse-midwife and founder of the Frontier Nursing Service; Elleen Collins, first U.S. woman to pilot a spacecraft; Elizabeth Dole, the first woman secretary of transportation; Anne Dallas Dudley, a suffrage leader, Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Church of Christ, Scientist; Ella Fitzgerald, singer, Margaret Fuller, author, feminist, transcendentalist leader and teacher; Matilda Joslyn Gage, suffrage leader, Lillian Moller Gilbreth, industrial engineer, Nannerl Keohane, first woman president of Duke University; Maggie Kuhn, founder of the Gray Panthers; San-

WELCOME - Hillary Rodham Clinton received a rose from a street child at Projeto Axe, a group helping such children in Salvador, Brazil. Her visk was part of a goodwill tour of a number of Latin American countries.

of Jewish Women,

Turning 70 doesn't mean Margaret Thatcher's ready to take a rest. "What billies" fetched $21,000 at a Los Angels would you do if you didn't work when you have been used to working all your life?" sale of Scott Boses's 135 vehicles, seek said on her birthday last week. During over the last 20 years in TV shows and her 12 years as prime minister, she was often too preoccupied to celebrate birthdays, but this year is different. Prime Minister John Major has entertained her at his 10 Downing Street residence. Queen Elizabeth II was to attend a party Thatcher is hosting at Claridges Hotel in Loudon, and the Margaret Thatcher Foundation was throwing her a party in Washington.

Pierre Ruffin, organizer of black women's organizations; Patricia Schroeder, U.S. Monica, California, hospital with her husbongresswoman; Hannah Greenebaum band, the Motley Crue drummer Tommy Solomon, founder of the National Council

Lee, two days after she was admitted for exhaustion and flu-like symptoms.

> auction. Nearly 300 bidders turned out at sale of Scott Boses's 135 vehicles, seek movies. The 1959 convertible featured a "Pink Cadillac" and "Weird Science" sold for $15,500. A 1933 Chevrolet road ster used by W.C. Fields in "The Bank Dick," went for $14,000.

Peggy Noonan, speechwriter for Pres idents Ronald Reagan and George Bush will write a column for Good Housekeeping magazine starting in January. "It will generally be about the world in which we live dra Day O'Connor, first woman justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, Josephine St. It wasn't a bug that landed "Baywatch" erally be about the world in which we talk the U.S. Supreme Court, Josephine St. star Pamela Anderson, 27, in the hospital:

AT&T USADirect® and World Connect® Service lets you quickly place calls to the U.S. and over 205 countries on your own. Just dial the AT&T Access Number for the country you're calling from listed below, then follow the voice prompts. Your call will get

EURO! Armegla*f	PE
Armeglaff.,	8014111
Austria"†††	022-903-011
Belgium"	.0-800-160-10
Bulgaria	.00-1800-0010
Creatia†♦	99-385-4288
Czech Republic*	90-428-00191
Denmark	8001-0019
Finland	9800-100-10
France	19-8911
Germany	9130-0010
Gibraits; =	5800

iceland"	806-9091
treland	1-800-550-000
italy"	172-1011
Lithuania	80198
Lихетьюигд
Macedonia, F.Y.R.*	99-800-4288
Malta
Monaco Hetherlands'
Horway	11-001-00R
Poland†*100	010_4R0_0111
Portugal [†]
Romania*
Russia ^{-†} (Moscow) Slovak Rep.*
Spain
Swaden
Switzerland"	155-00-11

Greece 00-800-1311

	M21
Babrain 🕳	880-901
Cypres*	880-90010
Egypt" (Cairo):	51D-8280
istaei	177-190-2727
Jordan	18-Ran-ago
Kowait	201.20e
Lebanon (Beiret) +++	426.801
Ostar	0900_041_77
Saudi Arabia	1-110-0040
Syria	V-eu-
U. Arab Emirates*	900 404
AFDICA	····
Gaben*AFRICA	00 A 00 a Gambia" Ghane
hvory Coast	P(1)
Kenya†	40-(1)-[7]
Liberia	787 777
Maraeca	R82 44 65
Morocco	802-11-0013
Morgeco Sierra Leone	002-11-0011
Morocco =	002-11-001 † 1100
Morocco
Morocco =
Morocco

	AMERICAS	•
Argentina •	001-80	0-200-
Bolivia"	G	904-1
razi 		800-8
Canada	1-80	L225
Chile		2.0.4
Colombia
Ecuador •	··· ··· ··· · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	-100g-
Ei Salvador	····· ···· · · ···· · ·	333-
Gualemala
Honduras +
Mexico000	.95-800-
ikarenes	······································	402-4
Panama.
Parut.	• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •
Kenemala.
CHIEXTICIS #	8	9-011-
	_
•		-
	-

AT&T Access Numbers for countries in the Asia/Pacific region are listed daily in the Asian edition of the International Herald Tribuot AT&T Access Numbers for countries in the Asias racture region as a same among the country calling between their international Herald Tribunes for a particle long all contines or pives. One would cannot be really in his locality between the property of the country of the count